NATO DEAD?

Europeans fear alliance in danger over lack of firm U.S. leadership

LONDON (AP) — Some infuential Europeans are beginning to worry that the post-World War II alliance with the United States is in danger of crumbling. Many of them feel their trans-Atlantic ally can no longer be counted on to give firm leadership in a changing world.

A survey by The Associated Press disclosed that the main factor behind these concerns is the continuing conflict between the White House and Congress and other domestic developments that seem to some Europeans to have paralyzed the ability of President Ford's administration to counter Soviet threats around the world.

They see this condition continuing into future administrations.

Julian Amery, son-in-law of former British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan and a former junior minister in the Foreign Office, said in a recent interview that America's internal problems have robbed Washington of its capacity to lead.

"In Vietnam they have experienced the first military defeat in their history," he said, "They have seen the dollar drastically devalued, they have endured the shame of Watergate and now are in the toils of a masochistic investigation into the CIA. The administration's hands are tied by their legislature. They cannot give the lead."

Winston S. Churchill, grandson of Britain's World War II leader, also lamented in a recent speech what he called "the grotesque orgy of self-denigration, of party political mud-slinging" going on in Washington.

Late last month, Belgian Defense Minister Paul Vanden Boeyna said the continent could no longer put all its trust in the United States.

"What would become of us if the U.S. nuclear umbrella were to disappear tomorrow?" he asked. "The farmer in Nevada does not care about faraway Europe."

Some Europeans are also concerned by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's warnings of serious consequences to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) if the Communists gain admission to the government coalition in Italy.

This is a real possibility, and the Communists are increasing their influence in other NATO nations to such an extent that some Socialist governments are considering closer cooperation with them.

There seems little doubt, according to the AP survey, that some key governments within the 15-nation NATO alliance share some of these concerns. But thus far, the worries have been expressed by out-of-office politicians, diplomats and newspaper and magazine commentators rather than by heads of governments.

West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt told a reporter recently:

"In a presidential campaign year, that great country, our most important partner, is not always in a position to act and react. This is a normal fact of democratic life. But it has not irritated me or the German government. The same sort of thing happens in other countries, like my own or in Britain, when elections are held."

All this is occurring at a time of growing Soviet military buildup around the world and increasing Soviet political influence, as in Angola.

Margaret Thatcher, who heads Britain's opposition Conservative party, asserted in January that the Western allies face a graver strategic threat from expansionist Soviet power than at any time since World War II. Gen. Alexander M. Haig, NATO'S European commander, agreed with her.

Mandatory prison sentences

Panel urges end to parole system

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of generally liberal scholars and politicians today urged mandatory prison sentences for violent offenders and called for an end to the parole system.

The Committee for the Study of Incarceration concluded that a convicted offender should be punished with jail or some lesser penalty primarily "because he deserves it," not because of any hope of rehabilitation. But the panel also recommended that only the most vicious criminals should be jailed longer than five years.

The committee's conclusions from a four-year study were published today in a book called "Doing Justice."

Former New York Sen. Charles Goodell, now a Washington lawyer, was chairman of the panel which was formed shortly after the 1971 Attica prison riot and was financed with grants from the Field Foundation and the New World Foundation.

"It may seem surprising that a group of liberal professors and activists, when faced with a choice between trying to rehabilitate offenders and punishing them as they deserve, chose deserved punishment," Goodell remarked.

But he said the committee concluded "that is the only fair basis for sentencing people." The committee made no claims that its proposal would reduce crime. Instead, Goodell said, the reforms were offered "as a means of making the system fairer."

The committee also included Alan Dershowitz, a professor at Harvard law school; Herman Schwartz, chairman of the New York State Correction Commission; Eleanor Holmes Norton, chairman of the New York City Commission on Human Rights; Joseph Goldstein, a professor at Yale law school; and David Rothman, a professor of history at Columbia University.

In some respects, the committee report paralleled Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi's recent proposal for mandatory prison sentences without parole. The committee, like Levi, complained about the disparity in present sentencing practices. Levi proposed a sentencing comission to set the range of jail terms to be imposed for specific crimes. The committee preferred that the courts set the sentencing range but said an administrative panel would be an acceptable alternative.

The committee joined Levi, other government officials and a growing number of criminal justice experts in the opinion that efforts at rehabilitating criminals — through vocational training or psychological counseling — have failed to curb crime.

Rehabilitation has been the primary goal of sentencing during the recent past, the committee noted.

"A few successes have been reported, but the over-all results are disappointing," the report said.

Training and counseling should be made available to offenders who volunteer for them, but rehabilitation should be abandoned as a sentencing goal, the committee recommended.

Instead, the group proposed that the principal guide for the sentencing process should be a theory of "commensurate deserts" — punishing the offender because he deserves it, based on the seriousness of the crime and how much of a part he played in it.

"The offender may justly be subjected to certain deprivations because he deserves it. And he deserves it because he has engaged in wrongful conduct — conduct that does or threatens injury and that is prohibited by law," the report said.

The committee recommended three types of punishment:

—For minor crimes and first-time offenders, the offender is scolded by the court for his conduct, given a warning and released unconditionally without further supervision.

—Intermittent confinement, such as serving weekends in jail for several weeks or months would be applied, for example, to "most common thefts of personal belongings which do not involve the threat or risk of violence."

—Jail sentences of up to five years for "intentional and unprovoked crimes of violence that cause (or are extremely likely to cause) grave bodily injury to the victim" and to the most serious white-collar crimes, "with sparing use made of sentences of imprisonment for more than three years."

The committee also said fines and probation could be used in some cases with some improvements in the way those penalties are imposed.

The committee conceded that jail terms longer than five years might be desirable for "unprovoked murders of strangers, political torture or multiple victims."

The committee said the present system is unfair because of the varied sentences that judges give for the same crime.

"We therefore suggest that each crime category be assigned ... a specific penalty based on the crime's characteristic seriousness. This would be the disposition for most offenders convicted of that crime," with rare variations, the committee said.

The committee noted that some judges now impose long prison sentences because they expect the offender to be paroled after serving about one-third of it.

"Under our approach," the committee said, "the initially imposed sentence would be the one actually served."

Ford claims Nixon trip no problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says Richard Nixon is going to China as a private citizen and not to be involved in any foreign policy matters.

Ford told a news conference Tuesday night he saw no reason to ask the former president to postpone or cancel the trip, which begins on Saturday.

"Mr. Nixon is going to the People's Republic of China as a private citizen at the invitation of that government," Ford said.

"I don't believe for any alleged political purposes that I should intervene with the invitation of a foreign government to have a private American citizen visit that country."

Asked whether the trip would produce any complications for U.S. foreign policy, Ford said, "None whatsoever."

As President, Nixon reversed U.S. policy toward the Communist mainland to one of seeking accommodation rather than maintaining an icy distance. The invitation is viewed generally as reaffirmation by Peking of its interest in detente and possibly as a subtle suggestion that relations with the United States are not proceeding fast enough.

In this country, meanwhile, there have been suggestions that Nixon's trip will draw attention from the New Hampshire presidential primary which will be held next Tuesday while Nixon is in China.

Ford said that while Nixon has received "periodic briefings or information concerning world affairs," he was given no special briefing in relation to his visit.

Nixon will leave Los Angeles at about 9 a.m. Feb. 20 for the trip to Peking.

Nixon is scheduled to return to California on Feb. 29, sources said.

Gunmen break into home, slay 2 men, kidnap 2 women

LOS GATOS (AP) — Sheriff's officers say three "heavily armed blacks" broke into a house on Bear Creek Road in the Santa Cruz Mountains early today, killed two men and kidnaped two women.

The Santa Clara County Sheriff's Department received a telephone call at about 1:30 a.m. from a woman in the house who said someone was breaking in.

Investigators said the gunmen shot one man at the doorway, went in and shot another man dead, then grabbed two women and shoved them into the trunk of a car and took off.

Several hours later, authorities in Santa Cruz said an abandoned car was found in or near Ben Lomond with a woman in the trunk. Her condition was not given.

The identities of the victims were not immediately learned. Investigators were not immediately able to give a motive for the incident, or any other details.

Infant girl killed in car crash; mom, sister hurt

An infant girl was killed and her mother and sister were injured early today when their car ran off the Corona Expressway in Chino and landed on its top at the bottom of a concrete flood control channel.

LaVonne Wilson, 26, of Pomona, was driving north on the expresway when the car ran off the roadway, hit a metal guardrail, went down a dirt embankment, crashed through a chain link fence and then into the flood control channel, said highway patrolman Robert Metallo.

Killed in the accident was Tamarraw Wilson, 10 weeks old. She was pronounced dead at the Chino General Hospital.

Also taken to the hospital were the mother and a sister, Michelle Lowden, 2. Both were expected to be admitted for treatment of their unjuries, said Metallo.

The three were removed from the car by Chino firemen and paramedics, he added.

High winds fatal to 2, dozens hurt

By The Associated Press

High winds killed two persons and injured dozens in Arkansas and Mississippi this morning, while thunderstorms hit throughout the lower Mississippi valley.

The thunderstorms occurred from the Ohio valley to the central Gulf coast, with heavy thunderstorms from central Tennessee into Louisiana.

Authorities reported a tornado in extreme southeast Arkansas caused one fatality in Wilmot and one at Parkdale. They said as many as 49 persons were injured.

In Mississippi, authorities said winds believed to be a tornado struck a trailer park in Clinton, near Jackson, and 21 persons were taken to hospitals. Sixty-eight trailers were damaged or destroyed.

They said several others were treated at a first aid station and other injuries occurred when the storm hit Leake County after blowing across the Clinton-Jackson area.

Suspect arson

Hundreds flee as blaze guts 4 S.F. apartments

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A five-alarm fire that appeared to be deliberately set sent flames racing through four apartment houses today, causing an estimated $500,000 damage.

Fire Chief Keith Calden said all residents were evacuated safely from the buildings in a densely populated area at the foot of Nob Hill. One fireman was injured, but not seriously, before the blaze was controlled at 7:15 a.m.

He said a small fire in a storage area of one of the same buildings had been reported at 3 a.m. and was doused by overhead sprinklers. Then three hours later firemen received the second call.

"I think this was a set fire. Two fires in the same building is highly questionable," Calden told reporters. "We came back here at 6:05 a.m. and the whole place was in flames. We're investigating the possibility of arson."

The fire appeared to have started at 1215 Hyde St. and spread to adjacent buildings.

Thick clouds of smoke wafted over the area and witnesses said the buildings looked like blazing ovens. Flames licked out of windows on all floors as area residents stood huddled watching the fire.

Carl Shultz, wearing his bedclothes and wrapped in a blanket, said he was asleep with his wife and two kids when "our cat woke us up. The place was full of smoke. We had to get out there fast. I don't think anyone was hurt here."

Traffic was closed off for several blocks near the blaze at the corner of Hyde and Sacramento streets.

Just two months ago 12 persons died when a condemned building in the city's Mission District went up in flames.

More recognition for Angola group backed by Soviets

LONDON (AP) — Britain, Italy, Holland and Denmark, following the lead of France, today recognized the Soviet-backed Popular Movement — MPLA — as the legal government of Angola.

The British recognition statement called for withdrawal of Cuban and South African troops from that former Portuguese colony. The other countries called for an end to bloodshed in Angola, and Denmark warned it would grant no aid to the African nation as long as the MPLA is backed by Soviet and Cuban military power.

Montclair modifies lock law

By MATE TATE
PB Staff Writer

The Montclair City Council modified its security ordinance Tuesday night to require dead-bolt locks on existing single family residences only if structural changes alter entry and exit to the home.

The council action followed lengthy discussion and a plea by the police chief not to repeal the ordinance entirely. The action dealt only with the section of the ordinance for nonrental units and does not affect apartment units.

With the modification, existing residences must be equipped with dead-bolt locks for all remodeling that affects the structural integrity of the home. It exempts patio covers and all items which do not add to the usable living area or affect the integrity of the existing security of the structures. New homes must be equipped with the special security locks.

Debate began on the security ordinance more than a month ago when a citizen complained to councilman Tom Mc Clure about having to install a dead bolt lock when he merely added a patio cover to his home.

"My feeling was that when the initial ordinance was adopted that we aren't going to nickel and dime anyone to death," McClure said. "There are certain structural modifications that you make to a building and you do not inherently change the building itself. I understand why the ordinance was in the first place, but I go back to the question of how far does government go to protect people from themselves?"

"I don't think if a person changes something within the dwelling or does something to a dwelling that does not change the ease of getting in or out that we should require locks," McClure continued. "We cannot protect people who don't want protection . . . Frankly it is no business of the City Council if I have locks on my door or not. Locks will not keep out the thief who wants to get in."

In response to a query from Mayor Harold Hayes, Community Development Director Mike Loehr said the Uniform Building Code does not require locks on any structure. However, he added, the City of Montclair ordinance does and the state Attorney General's office is now working on an addendum to the Uniform Building Code which will require locks in one to two years.

Police Chief Ray McLean pointed out that Montclair has moved ahead of other communities in curtailing burglaries and reducing the annual percentage of increase in burglaries largely as a result of the security ordinance.

"There has been a lot of heat generated on this issue that is not as catastrophic as a few complainers have implied," McLean declared. "There are two means of reducing crime. One, take the profit out of crime which is nearly impossible. Or minimize the oportunity for people to commit crimes and limit the ease to carry out crime."

"Essentially what this ordinance does is to tell the public that the common everyday hardware brought at the local store is not worth the money you pay for it. The deadbolt lock costs more, but it's worth it. A burglar will pass homes with a deadbolt until he gets to one that doesn't have a deadbolt," McLean said.

A seven-year-old child can be taught to pick the average lock within a few minutes, he said.

"I hope that my fear of you doing away with the security ordinance entirely is unfounded," McLean concluded.

Drug center near Upland under fire

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

Nearly 100 persons appeared at the Upland City Council meeting Monday to protest the continued operation of a drug and alcohol treatment center in San Antonio Heights north of the city.

Because the center, being conducted in Mont Vista Lodge, is outside of the city but within the realm of its interest, the council can only make recommendations to the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors.

After the lengthy charges and counter-charges were heard, the council's only action was to rescind a recommendation the members didn't even know the city had made.

Bruce Claflin, spokesman for a group of residents living outside Upland, called the "Concerned Citizens League," charged the city with "creating the problem by telling the county Planning Commission that the treatment center would not create an adverse environmental effect on Upland."

Mayor Abner Haldeman questioned Ron Anderson, director of Upland's Planning Department, who conceded that the department had made such a statement.

"After a cursory inspection of the area, we did tell the San Bernardino County Planning Department that there appeared to be no environmental problem affecting Upland," Anderson said.

Councilwoman Ina Petokas recommended that the council withdraw this statement and notify the county of its action prior to a hearing slated next Monday by the San Bernardino supervisors. The county hearing is to decide if the treatment center can continue to operate in its present location.

In spite of the mayor's request that each speaker limit his remarks to seven minutes, Claflin spent nearly a half hour outlining neighbors' complaints against the alcohol and drug treatment center.

His charges included inadequate fire protection at the Mont Vista Lodge, unkempt grounds, an empty swimming pool which neighborhood children use for skateboard play, and the fact that residents of the center shop at a neighborhood store.

Claflin described the operators of the center as "Optimistic but not realistic" and he questioned their professional qualifications.

He stated that no county agency appears to be responsible for supervision of the center nor are any county or state funds being channeled into its operation.

Defending the center's operation were Jim Wilson, program director, Carl Swinton, project manager, and Julie Scott, executive director. All are volunteers who work without pay.

Wilson conceded that maintenance of the lodge has been a problem due to lack of money. But he pointed out some improvements.

"We operate entirely on donations and a small charge to the residents."

At present 18 men, 10 women and six children are residing at Mont Vista Lodge, Wilson said.

He told the council members that while the residents are former drug addicts or alcoholics, all are carefully screened before being accepted.

"We realize the community setting we operate in. We stress resocialization in a family setting. Being a part of a community where our residents can work or attend school is the basic concept."

While the three treatment center leaders conceded that they are all "paraprofessionals" they said the center operates in close cooperation with local psychologists, physicians and county social service agencies.

Arthur Wells of Upland said "I'm ashamed of the reaction of the residents of the heights. I feel strongly that these people at the center need help."

Wells challenged Claflin and his group to get involved in the operation of the treatment center instead of being "critical and uninformed."

Many conflicting statements were made by supporters and opponents of the center which led a number of spectators to ask the council to obtain more accurate information concerning the entire operation of the center.

Chinoans try, fail for third time to halt apartment units

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Chino residents trying to halt a proposed apartment complex brought their own attorney to the City Council meeting Tuesday night, but it didn't do them any good.

For the third time, councilmen declined to approve any action to slow down the development at Mountain Avenue and Riverside Drive.

They did refer an opinion submitted by attorney Eugene Demchuk, representing Chinoans Acting for Responsible Environment (CARE), to City Attorney Jimmy Gutierrez. Mayor Bob McLeod ordered Gutierrez to report back to the council by March 2, if possible.

Demchuk, who once served as Chino's interim city attorney, asked the council to adopt a moratorium for four months to allow "proper dialogue" on the apartment issue between city officials and homeowners.

"I feel that the council has the authority to approve a moratorium resolution," said Demchuk. "If the developer challenged the action, the issue in court would be whether the city's decision was based on "concern for planning of the general area," or "to frustrate the particular development."

Demchuk said that based on a state Supreme Court ruling in a Cerritos case, the city could not be sued by the developer after issuing a moratorium. "At the worst, the developer could secure a court order to compel issuance of a building permit."

If the council acts in an "arbitrary or capricious manner," there might be problems, however, he indicated.

Demchuk noted that council approval on Feb. 3 of a general plan study of the area east of Benson Avenue indicates "you felt there was a problem there.

"Once the first shovelful (of dirt) is turned, there's no stopping the development."

Councilman Leonard Frketich, who had been quiet at two other meetings on the same issue, challenged Demchuk.

"You say there has been no communication back and forth on this," he said. "You should have been at my house to receive phone calls with such bad language that I had to hang up."

Frketich cited two other court cases in Pittsburgh and Lake Tahoe that were decided against the government agencies involved.

"What else can this council do?" he asked. "The residents came in one night when they weren't on the agenda and they were heard. We did what they asked — we listened to them. We're talking about an old zone here that was approved a long time ago."

Frketich suggested that homeowners may have been misled by real estate agents, but they should raise that issue with the builder.

Demchuk said he does not condone the actions of the "phone callers" referred to by Frketich.

Frketich asserted the developer has had his property for eight years, and "then this comes up at the last minute, after being approved by the Planning Commission. Now, do you think we should be hassling the developer?"

Councilwoman Eileen Carter said she felt residents "did wish to frustrate the developer. They said that several times."

Demchuk, who applied for the Chino attorney's post at the same time as Gutierrez, said he did not feel Gutierrez' opinion in the case had been fully expressed. (Gutierrez has stated the council has no authority to stop the apartment complex.)

Martin Prisco, spokesman for CARE, said, "We are not adversaries in this. We don't want to be looked at that way."

Feared SLA was going to kill her in bank—Patty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst says her mind was swamped with revolutionary rhetoric and her body ravaged by rape and other physical abuse when she robbed a bank under fear of execution.

Miss Hearst wept frequently as she testified before the jury for the second time Tuesday — a day on which the trial judge issued a memorandum saying the newspaper heiress had failed to convince him she was "a prisoner whose every move was made under the watchful eye" of her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers.

Miss Hearst, sipping water and using tissues to wipe away her tears, told her jurors that she entered a Hibernia Bank branch on April 15, 1974, certain that SLA chieftain Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze intended to gun her down in front of surveillance cameras.

She watched a replay of the bank robbery and, when asked by defense counsel F. Lee Bailey why she frequently glanced over her shoulder at DeFreeze, replied, "I had thought that even though I would go in and do this, that he was going to kill me anyway inside the bank."

She said she reacted with disbelief when the SLA told her they were going to rob a bank and she would participate. They said they needed money, she testified, and that DeFreeze "wanted me to be wanted by the FBI."

The basis of Miss Hearst's defense is that she participated in the holdup under threat of death.

The jurors listened intently Tuesday as the defendant testified between replays of the tapes she said she recorded in blind terror.

She testifies she was raped twice while kept in closet

She told them of being forced to have sexual intercourse with DeFreeze and SLA member Willie Wolfe in the cell-like closet where she was kept blindfolded.

Bailey said Miss Hearst would continue her saga today, her third day on the stand, as she moves into what he concedes is the "stickiest point" in her defense — a shooting spree that led indirectly to the deaths of DeFreeze, Willie Wolfe and four other SLA members in a shootout.

The defendant has admitted spraying a Los Angeles sporting goods store with rifle fire in what she claimed was an SLA induced reflex to free two SLA members in a shootout.

A pistol left on the sidewalk and a teen-ager taken hostage overnight plus other clues led Los Angeles police to the shootout in which the six SLA members died on May 17, 1974. The jury will see a videotaped newscast of the fiery afternoon, Bailey said.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. won a crucial victory last Wednesday when U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver J. Carter allowed the Los Angeles activities and Miss Hearst's tape-recorded words as "Tania" to be admitted into evidence.

Browning has contended the 21-year-old newspaper heiress acted of her own free will when she robbed the bank and then a month later, acting alone, used a submachine gun to rescue SLA members William and Emily Harris.

The jurors will not see the judge's explanation of his decision last week to allow underground statements and actions of Miss Hearst in Los Angeles to be used as evidence.

At a two-day special hearing outside the presence of the jury, Miss Hearst testified that she was under the SLA's influence throughout her 19-month journey through the underground. But government witnesses testified that she boasted about her role.

Carter said in his eight-page memorandum that it appeared the tape in which she said she willingly robbed the bank and her bragging to others "were voluntary."

But he said he would instruct the jury to make its own decision "beyond a reasonable doubt."

She declared her support for SLA only to stay alive

Miss Hearst, who began telling the jury last Friday about her Feb. 4, 1974, kidnaping by the SLA and subsequent incarceration in a closet, testified Tuesday that she had been ordered to join the SLA or be killed.

She branded her taped oath of allegiance to the tiny terrorist group as her only remaining avenue to survival and her blistering vilification of her parents as an SLA-written attack she felt compelled to read with conviction.

The bank robbery that transformed her from a kidnap victim to a fugitive was a well-drilled and meticulously planned movement, she said. She recalled that a rehearsal was held, using the SLA hideout on Golden Gate Avenue as a theater, and that SLA member Patricia Soltysik was upset about Miss Hearst's demeanor.

"I got kicked around by Patricia Soltysik because I wasn't enthusiastic enough and Cinque said that — that he was going to keep his eye on me and that if I messed up in any way, that I'd be killed," she said.

"Those were the words he used, messed up?" asked Bailey.

A. Yes.

Q. What did you understand he meant by messed up?

A. That if I did anything that looked funny to him, that I'd be dead.

Miss Hearst said the bank robbery was the culmination of weeks of indoctrination on Maoist philosophy and daily recitations of the revolutionary goals of the SLA.

She was repeatedly ridiculed, she said, because of her lack of knowledge about revolutionary movements in foreign countries and radical underground movements in this country. "They thought that was incredible, that I had never heard of them," she said.

The SLA endorsed and practiced violence, she continued, in hopes the authorities would respond likewise, furthering their cause of overthrowing the government.

She has testified that she was kept blindfolded in a closet at a suburban Daly City home for 4½ weeks and then spirited in the night inside a garbage can to a San Francisco apartment where she was imprisoned similarly for another 4½ weeks.

It was in the closets, she told the jury in a breaking voice, that Angela Atwood ordered her to submit sexually to Wolfe, the man she eulogized as her lover after he was killed in the shootout but whose memory she now scorns.

This exchange between Bailey and Miss Hearst followed:

Q. When Mr. Wolfe came in the closet, what did he say and do?

A. I don't really remember what, if anything, he said.

Q. Did he take you out of the closet?

A. No.

Q. What did he do?

A. He came into the closet and he closed the door and....

Q. Did he make you lie down on the floor?

A. Yes.

Q. And then what did he do?

A. Had sexual intercourse.

Bailey paused while Miss Hearst regained her composure.

Q. At some time after that, did someone else come to the closet for the same purpose?

A. Yes.

Q. How long after?

A. Maybe a week.

Q. Who was it?

A. It was Cinque.

Q. Did he do the same thing?

A. Yes.

Shortly after the attacks, Miss Hearst said, she was placed in a garbage can and hauled to the Golden Gate Avenue apartment where the robbery was planned and her blindfold removed permanently around April 1.

The frail defendant recalled the date, she said, as the occasion for a meaningless announcement of freedom.

"The SLA sent a communique to my parents that said I was going to be released and it was like their idea of an April Fool's joke," she said, choking back tears.

Prior to recording her April 3, 1974, tape in which she declared in a spiel of left-wing rhetoric that she had found a new life in the SLA as a dedicated revoutionary, she testified, DeFreeze had given her the choice of joining them or dying.

"He said, fight or die, that I would either have to stay with them and join up with them or I'd be killed and that I better start thinking about it," said Miss Hearst.

Alluding to the tape, Bailey led Miss Hearst through this exchange:

Q. At the time you made the statement, what did you want the members of the SLA to believe?

A. That I joined.

Q. Why did you want them to think that you joined?

A. So I could stay alive.

Q. Were you convinced in your own mind at the time that if you did not join, that they would dispose of you?

A. Oh, yes.

She wept as the tape was played, just as she had done earlier in the day when a March 9 taped communique featuring an angry Miss Hearst castigating her parents for failure to work hard enough for her release was played.

Her father, San Francisco Examiner president Randolph Hearst, looked pale as he sat in a front-row bench and heard again his daughter denounce his food distribution program for the poor, demanded by the SLA, as a farce. He winced when she said on the tape, "You don't care if I ever get out of here."

Her mother, Catherine, kept her head bowed, and her right hand frequently covered a portion of her face as her daughter's tape recorded voice taunted her with sarcasm to "do something concrete" to help secure her freedom.

Miss Hearst said Nancy Ling Perry cut her hair to within an inch of her scalp shortly before the bank heist, but said she never knew the reason. She was required to wear a long, curly wig in the bank, she said, "so that I would look more like myself."

Harris and DeFreeze held classes in the use of the sawed-off carbine she wielded in the bank and, she said, she was instructed that if anybody in her area of the bank moved, she was to open fire.

In the bank, she said, she successfully uttered, "This is Tania, Patricia Hearst" as ordered but froze when she was supposed to give a pro-SLA speech written by Mrs. Perry.

She watched again a film of her movements in the bank as pieced together from surveillance camera photographs, and Bailey asked her what had happened when she looked down at her weapon.

"I saw that the bolt was turned," Miss Hearst replied, nodding affirmatively when Bailey asked if this indicated the weapon would not fire.

Bailey placed in her hands the carbine she held in the bank robbery and, at his direction, she slammed the bolt home and said she knew it had to be in that condition before it would fire.

Court was then recessed for the day, and Bailey indicated Miss Hearst had at least another full day of direct examination. Browning has said his cross-examination would last at least a day.

Architect hired for Cucamonga schools

By DAVE READER
PB Correspondent

The Central school board in Cucamonga Tuesday evening approved the retention of the architectural firm of Frick, Frick and Jette as staff architects for any future building to be done by the district.

The firm had previously designed all three of the district schools, Cucamonga Junior High, Central and Valle Vista schools.

Another organization, Harnish, Morgan and Causey, had been considered, but the board cited Frick, Frick and Jette's past services without pay, such as minor building improvements and house counts, as the reason for that firm being retained.

The settlement upon an architect now allows the district to go ahead on plans for their upcoming school bond election, to be held probably in June of this year.

The board approved a district policy whereby classified employes may be granted up to three years' experience credit on the current salary schedule, effective July 1, 1975.

Approval was also given to an expansion of the bilingual-bicultural program to include the elementary level as well as the current junior high students. The cost for the expanded program is to be $630 for the 1976-77 school year.

The board also approved:

— An agreement with General Appraisal Services which will inventory and appraise the school district's buildings and equipment at the cost of $350.

— An amendment to the lease agreement for the district offices to the effect that the facilities will not be used as classroom space.

— The use of the Cucamonga Junior High's athletic area by the Miss Softball America program with the organization to upgrade the facilities at no cost to the district.

Ford puts the cuffs on CIA, NSA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA and the National Security Agency will be barred from eavesdropping on conversations to, from or inside the United States under President Ford's intelligence reorganization, according to administration officials.

The Associated Press has learned that guidelines to be issued today also would:

—Ban the infiltration of domestic organizations except those "composed of non-U.S. persons reasonably believed to be acting on behalf of foreign powers;"

—Bar physical surveillance inside the United States of all persons except employes or contractors of intelligence agencies who have access to classified data, and then only with the approval of the agency head;

—Outlaw domestic break-ins entirely; and —Place new restrictions on the disclosure of tax returns by the Internal Revenue Service to other government agencies.

The guidelines do not apply to the FBI, which will be governed by a separate set of directives being drawn up by the Justice Department.

The guidelines come after Ford announced at a nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night his plans to revamp the foreign intelligence organizations. Those plans will enhance the role of new CIA Director George Bush.

Ford also is expected to propose legislation that for the first time would require judicial warrants for national security wiretaps and the opening of mail, the officials said.

At the news conference that dwelled on Ford's plans for changes in the control apparatus of U.S. intelligence agencies, the President also:

—Described Ronald Reagan as "to the right of me philosophically," though he later said there were no philosophical differences between Reagan and him.

—Said "anybody to the right of me, Democrat or Republican, can't win a national election." Later, Lyn Nofziger, campaign manager for Reagan, responded that Ford's implied references to Reagan as an "extremist" were inconsistent with Ford's earlier praise of Reagan and "at least in the eyes of Californians, he is no extremist."

—Declined to predict flatly that he would win the New Hampshire and Florida Republican primaries, saying instead, "I think we will do well in both."

—Said he sees no foreign policy complications caused by former President Richard M. Nixon's upcoming visit to mainland China.

—Said a Republican substitute for the $6.1-billion public works jobs bill he vetoed last week is "a far better piece of legislation."

—Said he believes the nation has made "substantial progress" toward ending inflation. "When I became President the rate was 12 per cent a year, it's now down around 6," Ford said.

—Asked why he lent "the prestige of your high office to discrimination by golfing at Burning Tree Country Club which excludes women," Ford responded, "There are no federal funds going to Burning Tree."

Ford's plan to reorganize intelligence operations includes:

—A Committee on Foreign Intelligence to manage U.S. intelligence agencies under the chairmanship of Bush;

—A three-member Oversight Board headed by former ambassador Robert D. Murphy to review reports from the inspectors general of the various intelligence agencies; and —An Operations Advisory Group to be the successor of the so-called Forty Committee in directing covert operations.

Ford also said he would send legislation to Congress that "would make it a crime for a government employe who has access to certain highly classified information to reveal that information improperly."

'Brainwashed,' says witness in trial; denies confession

Claiming that he was "brainwashed" by defense attorneys, a witness in the West Valley Superior Court murder trial of Gene Autry Jefferson Tuesday denied confessing to the killing of an Ontario man Aug. 23.

The witness, Benny Green, in denying an alleged tape recorded confession to the killing of Elton Lee, 33, of Ontario, shouted at defense attorney Raymond Youngquist: "Gene did it. Gene did it."

In attempting to question Green, Youngquist began shouting. His shouting brought a stern warning from Judge James Cunningham for the witness and defense attorney to speak one at a time or they would be held in contempt.

Youngquist had brought Green to the stand as his key defense witness and accused him of being the actual slayer of Lee, who was shot to death at the Friendly Corners Bar at 902 E. California St. in Ontario on Aug. 23. Ontario police arrested the defendant, Jefferson, the same day after a revolver was found hidden under a brick in his backyard.

Youngquist asked the witness if he had come into his office and in a taped conversation confessed to the killing of Lee. Green said he made a confession but it was "forced" by the attorney and Jefferson.

"You told me to say I killed Lee and you would get both off the hook. You brainwashed me," shouted Green.

Angered by Green's statements Youngquist pointed his finger at the witness saying, "Mr. Green, I suggest you are a liar."

Green, earlier told the jury that he and Jefferson were attacked by Lee and another man in the bar after they had been accused of being "snitches" to the police.

Youngquist suggested that the witness fired the gun at Lee from Jefferson's car because he was afraid that Lee, who was struggling with Jefferson in the front door area of the bar, might break away and get to him.

"No. That's not the truth," shouted Green. "I'm not afraid of anybody."

As shouting between Youngquist and Green became louder, Judge Cunningham slammed his hand down on the bench and exclaimed, "You better start being scared of me. If you don't speak one at a time so the court reporter can understand, you might go to jail for contempt."

Judge Cunningham, after the noon recess told the jurors that the tape recording with Green's alleged confession would be played on Thursday. He said that the tape would be transcribed and copies given to each juror so he could follow it.

Russ admit radiation in U.S. embassy in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, acknowledged today that there is "electromagnetic radiation" in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow but said it is no more than a normal level of emissions for any large city.

The newspaper dismissed Western news reports that the radiation was dangerous as "trumped up from beginning to end."

In the first Soviet comment on reports of radiation hazards at the Embassy, Izvestia rejected any suggestion that the health of Embassy personnel were endangered. It blamed the reports on "circles that oppose the line of maintaining and developing good, normal relations between the U.S.S.R. and the United States."

Izvestia said it was well known and normal that "a certain electromagnetic field" may develop in big cities because of radio and television stations, other means of communication and some industrial enterprises.

It said a joint Soviet-American check was made at the U.S. Embassy and it was found that the radiation "is below the minimum sanitary standards existing in the Soviet Union."

The Embassy said it had no comment on any aspect of the Izvestia article.

Reports on radiation at the Embassy began circulating earlier this month with word that Embassy staff members were being secretly briefed on the subject.

Offbeat year for Oscar nominees

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Shirley McLaine, Warren Beatty, Keith Carradine and Michael Douglas were nominated for Oscars — but not for acting.

James Whitmore is one of five best-actor nominees for his role in "Give 'em Hell, Harry," in which he is the total cast.

"Jaws" was nominated as best picture of 1975 but won no mention for direction, acting or writing.

These were among the oddities in the 48th nominations for Motion Picture Academy awards, announced Tuesday at the brand-new home for Oscar. To no one's surprise, the big winner was "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" with nine nominations. "Barry Lyndon" was second with seven, but none for acting.

It was just one of those offbeat years, strange more than surprising. Observers wondered how Whitmore, who portrayed Harry Truman on stage hundreds of times before putting his monologue on tape, could logically compete with these film performances:

Walter Matthau, "The Sunshine Boys"; Jack Nicholson, "Cuckoo's Nest"; Al Pacino, "Dog Day Afternoon"; Maximilian Schell, "The Man in the Glass Booth."

Did Louise Fletcher ("Cuckoo's Nest") and Ann-Margret ("Tommy") play supporting or starring roles? They were nominated as best actress, along with Isabelle Adjani of "The Story of Adele H," Glenda Jackson, "Hedda," and Carol Kane, "Hester Street."

And if "Jaws" was one of the five best pictures, why didn't it score in the creative categories? The other nominees: "Cuckoo's Nest," "Dog Day Afternoon," "Barry Lyndon," "Nashville."

George Burns, who costarred with Matthau in "The Sunshine Boys," somehow appears in the supporting actor category, along with Brad Dourif, "Cuckoo's Nest"; Burgess Meredith, "The Day of the Locust"; Chris Sarandon, "Dog Day Afternoon"; Jack Warden, "Shampoo."

What about the nonacting actors who were nominated? Shirley MacLaine was named as producer of the documentary, "The Other Half of the Sky: A China Memoir"; her brother Warren Beatty, as coauthor of "Shampoo"; Keith Carradine as writer of the song, "I'm Easy" from "Nashville"; Michael Douglas as coproducer of "Cuckoo's Nest."

Why was Federico Fellini nominated for his direction of "Amarcord" when the film won the foreign-language Oscar last year? Because "Amarcord" wasn't released in Los Angeles theaters until 1975, thus qualifying in all categories. Foreign language nominees don't have to be shown locally.

Ontario council

Turn lanes given okay

Construction of left turn lanes and installation of new traffic signals on Euclid Avenue at G and Fourth streets in Ontario is expected to begin next summer.

City officials have sought the projects to relieve traffic congestion caused by Chaffey High School traffic at Fourth Street and shopping center traffic at G Street.

Approval of the project was given by the Ontario City Council Tuesday night. Cost is estimated at $120,000, with a federal grant expected to pay $99,600 and the city and state to share the remaining $20,400. Euclid Avenue is a state highway.

Engineering officials propose to construct left turn lanes through the Euclid Avenue median at both intersections, channelize left turns and through traffic and install new signals an controllers.

Since Euclid Avenue is a state highway, city officials said the state will be asked to draw plans and specifications for the project.

In another matter, the council continued to April 6 a hearing on an appeal by Dwight W. Mize from the Planning Commission's denial of an application to rezone the west side of Cypress Avenue between Phillips Street and Mission Boulevard from agriculture to multiple dwelling use.

Woman found dead; may be drug overdose

A young woman was found dead in a backyard playhouse in Pomona Tuesday — one of two women who may have died as the result of drug overdoses, police reported.

The body of Debra Lynn Andrews, of 1988 Claremont Place, Pomona, was found by Paul K. Howell, 44, when he went to a playhouse in his backyard at 718 E. La Verne Ave. Tuesday evening to get pieces of driftwood he had placed there.

A coroner's deputy reported that the victim had been dead between 24 and 48 hours. The body was taken to the coroner's office for autopsy. Police reported that they found a half-empty bottle of pop and two blue tablets beside the body.

Police reported that Mark Bessler of the Claremont Place address, a friend of the victim, said she had a drug problem and had suffered an overdose previously in Whittier.

Tuesday afternoon the body of Joan Carolyn Crisostomo, 36, was found in bed at 591 E. Sixth St., Pomona, by her daughter. Police said that Willie Witherspoon, 36, of the same address, told them he asked the victim's daughter to go there when he was unable to reach Mrs. Crisostomo by telephone. Police said they found an empty drug container in the house.

An autopsy also was ordered in Mrs. Crisostomo's death.

Motorcyclist jailed in crash with patrolman

A Pomona man was arrested Tuesday night after his motorcycle collided with the motorcycle ridden by an off-duty policeman in an accident which injured both men.

The collision; occurred 9 o'clock in the 1500 block of E. Mission Boulevard in Pomona. Investigating officers reported that Dallas Clair Cullison Jr., 49, Pomona, told them he was entering Mission from a tavern parking lot when the accident occurred. Pomona Officer Joseph R. Reynolds, 39, said he was eastbound in Mission when the other motorcyclist pulled out in front of him. Both riders were thrown to the pavement.

Reynolds suffered a broken thumb, facial, knee and elbow injuries. He was released after treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. Cullison also was released from the hospital after treatment of his injuries and was booked on suspicion of felonious drunk driving.

In another traffic accident in Pomona Tuesday, Dale P. James, 16, Pomona, escaped injury when the car he was driving struck a raised portion of the road at a Pomona railroad crossing, went out of control, crossed the opening traffic lane, jumped the curb, flattened a speed limit sign and spun into a vacant field. The accident was at the Southern Pacific crossing at East End Avenue, shortly before 3 p.m.

Hearing slated on Indian aid for Pomona schools

A public hearing on Pomona Unified School District's 1976-77 application for Indian Education Act funds will be held tonight at 7:30 in the second-floor education services conference room of the Education Center.

C. Joseph Barfield, director of special projects, said the committee had submitted seven application items with approximate budget costs.

He listed those items as tutorial services, one part-time employe, materials and supplies, inservice for parents, one retreat trip, field trips and equipment.

Other items to be included, Barfield said, are conference attendance, mileage, printing and secretarial time.

Indian Education Act funds come through the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare and are used to enrich the education of American Indian children enrolled in public schools.

Parents of these children are enlisted to serve on advisory committees and to become involved in the enrichment programs.

This year the district received $12,500 through the act.

Mission youths aid Guatemalans

The 400 students who attend Mission School in Ontario collected 326 cans of food for the victims of the recent earthquake in Guatemala.

The youngsters in the elementary school enthusiastically agreed with the suggestion of resource teacher Sylvia Whitlock that gifts be sent to the Latin Americans instead of exchanging Valentine cards among the students' classmates.

The collected food was delivered to the Claremont Police Department for transportation to a depot.

PARADE PARTICIPANT — Wearing an MPLA sash, this axe-carrying Angolan woman participates in parade in Luanda, marking 15th anniversary of first armed uprising against the Portuguese in Angola.

Bentsen: moderate in land of extremists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shortly after the Democrats' 1972 presidential debacle, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield was musing about some possible new faces to lead the party in 1976.

One of those faces was the tanned, smiling visage of freshman Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr. of Texas.

According to his friends, Bentsen liked the idea back in 1973 of being touted as presidential material. Rather than discourage it, he began two years of traveling around the country on weekends and during congressional recesses to determine whether he should enter the race.

On Feb. 17, 1975, armed with a healthy campaign bank account swelled by contributions from fellow Texans, he announced in Washington that he was, officially, a candidate for President of the United States.

Fifty-one weeks and two party caucuses later, he said goodbye to his Secret Service guards and told a news conference in Austin, Tex., that he was bowing out.

Unlike most candidates who leave the pack early in the campaign season, Bentsen was not forced out by financial problems. He spent almost $2 million during his campaign and he dropped out with a cash balance of more than $200,000, an aide said.

With a private fortune estimated at several million dollars built during a career in the insurance industry in Houston, Bentsen was one of the wealthiest candidates. The Supreme Court ruling on the new campaign finance law was expected to favor a candidate in Bentsen's position, since it allowed him to spend unlimited amounts of his own money on the campaign.

The problem Bentsen could not overcome, however, was a lack of public recognition and support. He was a moderate candidate in a system apparently favoring extremists, he said.

His campaign strategy called for developing a base of support in party caucuses in his native region, but aides felt his best asset was direct contact with voters in a primary election.

One Democratic source said that by campaigning on his home turf, Bentsen increased his risks. Thus, when he finished fourth among five candidates in the Mississippi caucuses and came in a poor third in Oklahoma, he demonstrated a lack of support at home.

In Mississippi, he finished behind Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, and former Ambassador Sargent Shriver. In Oklahoma, it was Carter and former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma who defeated him.

From the start, according to sources close to his campaign, Bentsen was encouraged to run to make sure that someone spoke for Texas in the national political arena.

Recently, after losing in the Oklahoma caucuses, Bentsen was advised by Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe, a Democrat, and Agriculture Commissioner John White, the chairman of Bentsen's Texas campaign committee, to remain in the race as a favorite-son candidate running in the May 1 state primary.

If successful, this would earn him a block of delegates that might leave Bentsen and his fellow Texans some bargaining power at the Democratic National Convention in New York next July.

At his Austin news conference, the senator blamed political "polarization" for his defeats and said that a moderate found it "pretty tough" to win in the current climate of ideological extremism.

During his five years in the Senate, Bentsen has been careful to shun political labels, and has won nearly similar ratings from the liberal Americans for Democratic Action and the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action.

His Senate term expires next January. Under Texas law, he has been able to run both for the presidency and the Senate.

So, he has walked a tighrope on key Texas issues, where one position might appeal to a national constituency and an opposite view might win votes in Texas.

Described by Texas enemies as an opportunist, but by others as simply flexible, guided by neither a liberal nor conservative philosophy.

Federal funds used in South to discriminate

ATLANTA (AP) — Southern cities have used federal revenue sharing money to reinforce what four congressmen call "a shocking pattern of discrimination against minorities and women," according to a report compiled by the Southern Regional Council.

The report, which advocates stronger federal control over the program, was released today by Reps. Robert Drinan, D-Mass.; Don Edwards, D-Calif.; Barbara Jordan, D-Texas; and Andrew Young, D-Ga.

The report was prepared from investigations the past two summers by interns for the Southern Regional Council, an Atlanta-based group which calls itself "a multiissue public interest organization which works for equal opportunity and justice throughout the South."

Of 136 cases of possible discrimination before the federal Office of Revenue Sharing last November, more than half of them, 71, involved 11 Southern and border states, the report said.

The report says local governments commonly discriminate in employment with little fear of retribution from the ORS.

Although the ORS has authority to terminate money for governments that discriminate, the report says, the agency has chosen to work through mediation "that is time-consuming and often ineffective" rather than cut off funds.

The report charges that many cities receiving revenue sharing money have ineffective plans to hire minorities and women or no such plans at all.

"Because many local governments in the South continue to be dominated by socially conservative, business-oriented individuals and organizations, revenue sharing has acted to reinforce the socio-economic status quo," the report concludes.

The report, backed by the four representatives, recommends that enforcement of antidiscrimination provisions be beefed up by extending civil rights coverage to all programs and activities of recipient governments.

In this way, the report says, governments could be prevented from channeling revenue sharing funds into programs with good civil rights records and transferring other money to discriminatory programs.

The report also recommends legislation to clarify standards of compliance with civil rights regulations, to make enforcement more strict, to authorize payment of attorneys' fees to successful civil rights litigants in revenue sharing cases and to provide revenue sharing money to finance programs to hire women and minorities.

Although the report covers 11 Southern states, Young said, "this report of the Southern Regional Council is likely to portend similar findings of revenue sharing-financed employment discrimination and public services discrimination outside the South as well."

The Revenue Sharing Act is up for renewal by Congress, and Rep. Jordan said, "It would be against all reason and justice for the Congress to simply rubber stamp this program and allow it to go through unaltered."

The 11 states covered by the report are Texas, Arkansas, Virginia, Florida, Mississippi, North Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee.

Parachute fails to open, man survives 1,000-foot fall

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Paul Springer says his last parachute jump is really his last. He plunged 1,000 feet and hit the ground at 72 miles an hour, his chute only partially open.

The accident took place in the Panama jungle as Springer, a 38-year-old Army special forces reservist, made a training jump from a C130 at 3 a.m. on Jan. 30.

Less than one-third of his main parachute opened, and the reserve chute failed completely.

It happened so fast that Springer was unable to drop his heavy load of demolition equipment, normally done 30 feet above ground.

"You learn to land right," he said in an interview Monday in Naval Hospital where he is recovering from a cracked jaw and a broken back and leg.

"You never land on your rear end, that's the worst of all. You try to land in a rolling motion so that the impact is lessened."

A medic in the special forces group training over Panama's Denada Zone treated Springer, and he was flown home to San Diego by way of Andrews Air Force Base in Washington, D.C., and Travis AFB.

A former Green Beret, Springer is a real estate agent in civilian life.

House panel okays ban on Angola aid without congressional approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new ban on any U.S. aid to Angola was approved Tuesday by the House International Relations Committee even though a State Department official said U.S.-backed factions already have lost the civil war there.

The prohibition against any direct or indirect aid without specific approval from Congress was proposed by Rep. Dante B. Fascell, D-Fla., and approved by voice vote.

In January, the House completed congressional action rejecting a specific request from President Ford for further U.S. aid to Angola. Fascell's amendment would prohibit any aid in the future unless it was specifically approved by Congress.

Michael Gallagher, the State Department's Zaire desk officer, was asked by members of the committee before the vote if the civil war in Angola already is over.

"Yes, sir," Gallagher replied.

He said Soviet and Cuban supported factions have taken over key towns in Southern Angola and that it is not believed Western-backed factions can stop a further onslaught.

Elsewhere, France became the first major Western power to recognize the Soviet-backed Popular Movement as the legitimate government of Angola. The Netherlands said it would do so "very shortly."

In addition to France, the seven other members of the European Economic Community — Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, Ireland and Denmark, will recognize the Popular Movement within a week, Belgium's foreign minister indicated.

A Stockholm newspaper said Sweden would recognize the Popular Movement government on Wednesday. Finland also is certain to extend recognition.

In Washington, the new aid prohibition was written into a $3.6 million military aid authorization bill.

The committee rejected an amendment by DuPont to prohibit U.S. funds for the export of nuclear missiles.

NEEDS MORE PRACTICE — Patricia Leonard, a member of Pershing Rifles Women's ROTC Cadets at Northwestern University, sort of developed her own ballistics missile when her rifle flew out of her hands as she practiced for a drill meet.

Jury in the Hearst case— most pampered in history

SAN FRANCISCO — Each weekday morning, they commute to work in a blue and white bus, reading newspapers with one of the front page stories clipped out. Each night, they dine out and sing "Happy Birthday" to a different member of their group, hoping to disguise themselves as an office party.

They are 16 citizens employed at $20 a day to hear the evidence and reach a verdict in the bank robbery trial of newspaper heiress Patricia Campbell Hearst.

As for their usual working conditions, one marshal says with a laugh, "They're the most pampered jury in history."

But U.S. Marshal Frank Klein says, "They're being sequestered according to long-established policy. We want them to be as happy as we can make them."

The panel is the first in this federal judicial district to be sequestered for an entire trial — an expensive proposition for the government and an inconvenient one for jurors.

Room, board and protection for the 12 jurors and four alternates costs the government about $1,460 a day, based on information provided by the U.S. marshals here.

After the group was sworn in Feb. 4, its members were bedded down in $20-a-day rooms at a new Holiday Inn with a swimming pool and panoramic view of downtown San Francisco.

"Each has a private room," says their rector, Charles Burrows, a U.S. Marshals Service court security expert from Denver.

"It worked out so there are eight men and eight women so we have women and men on opposite sides of the hall. The phones and televisions have been removed, and an alarm system has been installed in each room."

The jurors are under court order not to discuss the case with anyone, nor to expose themselves to reports about what the trial judge described as one of the most extensively covered cases in the country.

Four deputy marshals are protecting or supervising the group 24 hours a day, turning off the news programs on the television in their recreation room, censoring incoming and outgoing mail, clipping Hearst stories from newspapers and magazines, monitoring all telephone calls that jurors might receive or want to make, taking them to and from court in a bus previously used to transport federal prisoners.

"We warn them not to discuss the case," Burrows said in an interview. "You can see sometimes from their expressions that they want to discuss it but they don't, except to sometimes ask about court procedures.

"They seem excited. I think they realize this is a very unusual trial," he said. "One said to me at the table the other day, 'Look at the odds of my being here.'"

The 16 were once part of a panel of 250 called for jury duty.

The main topic of conversation has been families, since all except Marian Abe, a 30-year-old airline stewardess, are married. Linda Magnani, 24, a San Francisco receptionist, is teased about being the newlywed of the group. And Burrows said, "They figured at breakfast that there's an average of 3.5 children per juror."

That bit of mathematics was in reaction to a weekend visiting session in which 88 guests, all immediate family, jammed the jury's recreation room, bringing clothing, shaving gear, needlepoint kits, cake, cookies and candies to their sequestered relatives.

The battle of the midrift bulge is a big joke among the jurors. Robert Anderson, a 44-year-old housing representative for the City of Oakland, drew a cartoon of a marshal pushing a lady juror's ballooning posterior through the bus doors. "This is what we'll all be like after 15 more days," said the caption.

After their day in court, the jurors select one of seven or eight restaurants which have been checked out for security, bus space and culinary quality. Already they have dined at a famed Chinese restaurant in Chinatown and a seafood restaurant across the Golden Gate Bridge.

They can order whatever they wish, but Burrows says more and more are becoming weight conscious enough to skip dessert. They are allowed a maximum of two drinks with dinner, but must pick up the cocktail tab themselves.

"They single out a different juror every night at dinner and sing 'Happy Birthday' to him," the marshal said. "They started doing this on their own so that other people will think they are an office group."

On weekdays, the lights in their recreation room — where the jurors assemble to play cards and Monopoly or watch television — go out at 10 p.m. Wakeup is at 6:30 a.m.

On weekends, the group goes out on the town. Last Saturday, they trooped into a movie house for "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." One day, the entire group strolled along Ocean Beach for a mile or so, collecting rocks and dodging the waves.

Later, the group had a surprise legitimate birthday party for Burrows. One juror, Marilyn Wentz, a 36-year-old Hayward dental assistant, presented him with a sand-smoothed rock on which she had painted a smiling face, labeled "Charley." It was signed, "Carter's Class of '76," referring to Hearst trial Judge Oliver J. Carter.

Another day, several women jurors went to a beauty parlor, while the rest of the group strolled along sunny Telegraph Hill near the hotel.

"They are anxious to do outside activities whenever they are not in court," Burrows said.

Academics, discipline stressed

Board affirms new school policy

By PHYLLIS CANNON
PB Staff Writer

A strong policy to guarantee academic achievement to students and to make public school campuses safer unanimously were adopted by the Pomona school board Tuesday night.

The action followed a 40-minute discussion during which acting schools Supt. Sidney G. Moses warned the board "if you guarantee grade-level achievement you could open yourselves to malpractice suits.

Moses also stressed the possibility of "making false promises to the kids and the community."

"If we're more worried about the wording than the policy, we're part of the problem," said board member Ken Pine.

"We've settled for mediocrity too long," said board President Don Donnelly.

The policy on academic achievement does not say students will be held back if they do not perform at grade level. However, it does call for "effective ways of monitoring student progress toward accomplishment of these objectives" and assessment at regular intervals — at grades six, nine and 12.

With the guarantee of student achievement was the strong implication that not only students would be tested. "You can't evaluate learning without evaluating teaching," said Pine. "We can't put the entire onus on the students."

Pine also urged the board to reinstate "old math" in the schools so parents could assist youngsters in mastering math, but he was alone. "One reason we're not as successful as we should be is that we have too many options," he said. "Look at the private schools. Basics are mandatory there."

"I'm concerned about the difference between malpractice and mal-expectations," said board member C. Allen Braswell. "I have a fear here we might be developing mal-expectations."

"I like the concept," said board member Mary Montes. "We can test ourselves as educators to see that students leave school with special guarantees."

Mrs. Montes made the motion to approve the policy on achievement and her motion was seconded by board member Gene Whitlock.

That policy reads:

"It shall be the policy of the Pomona Unified School District to establish the highest levels of academic achievement possible for each student commensurate with abilities and individual needs. The district will guarantee that students will attain at least grade level proficiency (as determined by the board, staff and community) in language development and math and that intense supplementary instruction will be provided in order to enable students to reach these levels."

Whitlock made the motion to approve the new policy on discipline. His motion was seconded by Braswell.

That policy reads:

"It shall be the policy of the Pomona Unified School District to ensure establishment of the highest standards of student behavior with firm and fair enforcement to the extent necessary to guarantee an atmosphere conducive to optimum learning."

The board instructed the staff to return in 30 days with a structured plan for implementing the policies in the schools.

"This policy is good, sound and necessary," said Pine. "Now we must have implementation. That old philosophy of don't make waves and keep the lid on has got to go. I don't know how we're going to reach the achievement levels we're talking about without the firmest discipline."

In approving the achievement guarantee, the board agreed that when a district sets high expectations for students, demands that they achieve accordingly and provides assistance for them in this process, then the achievement levels of all students will significantly improve.

"This goal requires that all students who need bilingual instruction be given this opportunity," said Mrs. Montes. "The district believes that mastery of dominant language skills will ensure mastery of second language skills. An opportunity for students to maintain, use and build on their dominant language must be provided, in addition to second language skills."

Board members agreed that keeping students in the district over a period of years would be necessary to reach the desired goals. They expect students in district schools three or more consecutive years will be working at grade level and students learning two languages simultaneously will, by six consecutive years in the district, be on grade level in English.

Claremont school foes rap 'irresponsible' letter

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

A questions and answers section in the "Family-Gram," a Claremont Unified School District newsletter mailed to parents last week, was attacked Tuesday night as being "misleading, inaccurate, and irresponsible."

Five residents expressed to the school board their concern about what they considered a one-sided stand taken in the newsletter.

Richard Fass, representing the Citizens for Quality Education, said his group registered "strong and unqualified objection" to a list of 22 questions and answers.

"This biased and incomplete list of questions and answers," Fass said, "sounds more like a campaign statement for board members Taylor, Shacklett and Anderson than an honest attempt to inform parents about the positions of all officials of this district."

Board members Ernest Taylor, Beverly Shacklett and William Anderson are targets of a recall movement by the Claremont Committee for Recall.

Dennis G. Martin of Zetterberg & Zetterberg, counsel for the recall committee, contended that the newsletter is "nothing more than a campaign broadside directed against the recall of board members Anderson, Shacklett and Taylor."

Martin said that the Family-Gram presents "a disorted, one-sided view of highly controversial issues," and added:

"The content and timing of the newsletter lead inescapably to the conclusion that it is an attempt to affect the outcome of the recall election."

Martin asked for "equal space" in the next newsletter.

Martin said that by following an equal time rule, the Family-Gram will again serve a legitimate purpose by giving the public the benefit of hearing both sides on some important questions.

When Anderson said that the board would take the matter under advisement, hecklers in the audience demanded that board answer questions posed by Fass, such as identifying the newsletter author, and stating the cost.

Board member Arthur Steffen, not a recall target, said that "it is difficult to dignify some things coming out of the audience."

Steffen said that a person could interpret the questions in the Family-Gram "any way you wanted. No board member was involved in the Family-Gram."

The Family-Gram, produced by the district information office, contains questions dealing with declining enrollment, closing of schools including Sycamore Elementary School, the moving of San Antonio High to Sycamore, the district budget and reserves, and the recall election.

Information specialist Jean Hazelton obtained answers to the questions from Supt. Richard Kirkendall and business manager Charles Abbott.

Kirkendall explained at Tuesday's meeting that the Family-Gram is published four or five times a year in response to questions put to the information office.

"The board had nothing to do with the publication of the Family-Gram," Kirkendall said. "At any other time it would not be of the concern it is today."

Taylor said he saw the issue as an attack on the administration, and said the local administration has "greater integrity" than any administration he has been around.

The board agreed to put the matter on the agenda for the next board meeting March 1.

Meanwhile, the school board decided to wait until its March 1 meeting before calling a recall election aimed at three board members.

Board member Mary Ellen Kilsby said that "in the best interests" of the district, the election should be held "as soon as possible." She suggested May 4, the earliest date possible under the Election Code.

But Taylor commented, that "on the other side of the coin," it is difficult to inform the public of the issues, and questioned whether it would be better to hold the election earlier or later.

Mrs. Kilsby said that possibly one, two or three weeks makes a difference in getting the information to the public. "The administration is in a difficult bind," she said.

Board member Arthur Steffen said that the Citizens for Quality Education have been working on the matter for some time. He said that the extra time is important, and that in taking a "no sides position" he would lean towards a March 1 date of calling for the election.

West End cities vote for Omnitrans

Four West End city councils unanimously approved the joint powers agreement Tuesday creating Omnitrans, the single agency to coordinate and operate transit service within San Bernardino County.

The councils of Chino, Montclair, Ontario and Upland quickly approved the agreement that had been drafted by a city-county task force on centralizing transit operations in the county.

Mayor Harold Hayes of Montclair, chairman of that task force, voiced optimism that all participating cities and the county Board of Supervisors would approve the agreement within the month of February and the agreement would go into effect on March 3.

The Omnitrans umbrella-operation agency will begin on July 1, 1976, if all parties to the agreement sign.

Chino City Council's approval emphasized the point that it should be recorded somewhere within the agreement or the files of the San Bernardino Associated Governments that agencies outside the county are in fact included within the agreement.

This makes allowance for the cities of Claremont and Pomona actually being voting members of the West Valley Transit Service Authority, although neither receives service from the Omnitrans agency as yet.

In Upland, City Manager Lee Travers commented "We're not tickled pink, but it's the best agreement we can get."

Upland City Atty. Don Maroney, who also serves as legal advisor to the WVTSA, said "The only thing that makes it palatable is that we can withdraw without too much trouble if we wish."

Hayes said there has been considerable discussion on the agreement drawn up by Alan Marks, counsel to SANBAG, according to provisions recommended by the task force and "it speaks to most of our concerns."

Creation of Omnitrans will not only provide for central coordination of transit service within the county, but meet a federal government requirement for a single operation. The Urban Mass Transit Authority has been delaying $1.7 million in federal transit dollars until the county established a coordinated approach to public transportation.

Although Omnitrans will administer federal fund allocations and supply the buses for operations throughout the county, the WVTSA and other transit service authorities in the county will determine the local level of service.

CHECKING THE WORK

City Manager Bob Fast checks on the progress of Chino's new City Hall, under construction on D Street, west of Central Avenue. New courts and police buildings also are being completed at the Civic Center site. Work should be finished in time for the July 4 Bicentennial.

Prado pipeline job awarded

San Bernardino County supervisors Tuesday awarded a $288,494 contract for the installation of three miles of pipeline to carry tertiary treated water to the Prado Regional Park and the El Prado Golf Course.

The contract was given to Gosh Construction Corp., of Marina Del Rey which submitted the lowest of 18 bids received.

The pipeline will be used to carry water treated at the Chino Basin Municipal Water District's tertiary treatment plant in Ontario to fill lakes and ponds and provide irrigation and fire protection at both facilities, said county Supervisor Robert Townsend.

The contractor will tap onto an existing line on Pine Avenue east of Grove Avenue and extend a 30 inch pipe westerly along Pine to near the Chino-Corona Road where it will branch off to the south to serve the regional park.

An 18-inch line will then continue along Pine across Euclid Avenue to provide water to the golf course.

The treated water will fill two lakes at the regional park on a "flow through" basis, said Townsend. That water passing through the two lakes will continue downstream to serve Orange County.

The imported water will also fill several ponds at the golf course.

The contractor is expected to begin work soon as he has a completion date of April 1. His bid was below the county's estimate of $350,000.

Townsend was pleased with the low bid received. "This has been a tremendous struggle to supply irrigation water by a date that will allow landscaping to be established when the park and golf course open next July 4," he added.

Water for drinking and other domestic uses will be supplied by wells from either the Chino Airport or the park and golf course.

Townsend said the previous estimate for supplying the two facilities with water was set at $1 million. The total cost now invested is about $700,000. This includes a previous contract of $265,000 awarded for the purchase of pipe and valves.

He also noted a reduction in the cost of water. With tertiary treated water, this will cost the county about $37 an acre foot. The previous estimate was $70 an acre foot for Colorado River water to be delivered through the Ramona Avenue line, said Townsend.

Moral support

Council shows its in boxing club's corner

Pomona City Council Tuesday night endorsed the Pomona Athletic League's March 1 fundraising event at Cal Poly and the organization's search for a new home.

By unanimous vote the council lent its support to the boxing club, which has until March 5 to vacate its present home in the old gym behind the Pomona School District Education Center.

The club, with assistance from the city, is attempting to find a new location in the downtown Pomona area.

The March 1 program at Cal Poly will be held in the girls' gym, beginning at 7:30 p.m., and will feature 15 three-round matches. Admission will be free, although donations are being sought.

In other business, the council withheld action for one week on the proposed salary increases for City Administrator Jerrold Gonce, City Attorney Patrick Sampson, City Clerk Larry Thomas and City Treasurer Ruth Redepenning.

The council also delayed action on a proposed ordinance change that would allow the Police Department to dispose of unclaimed property after 90 days rather than the current 180 days.

At the request of Mrs. Harriet Harrison, president of the Pomona Avenue of Flags Committee, the council agreed to have the committee's 164 American flags displayed on Garey and Holt Avenues on Feb. 22.

L.V. turns down youths' park idea

If Mexican-American youths in La Verne want a park in their neighborhood, they'll have to suggest a site larger than the block which dead ends at the Southern Pacific railroad tracks.

The City Council voted Tuesday night to close down B Street between First Street and the tracks despite a plea from the youths that the move would deprive them of their meeting place.

They said that if the street is closed they'll have no place to go.

But the council denied their request after Police Chief Jack Baker reported his office received a total of 47 complaints about the youths in the dead-end block during the past nine months.

He said the complaints ranged from eight cases of assaults with deadly weapons to 17 thefts. The chief said officers also found shotguns, pipes and clubs as well as a stick of dynamite in the area.

"I was the one who instigated this action," Councilman Dan Lopez declared. "I know what the problems are. The neighbors are afraid to complain. This is not a good situation."

The council agreed that the block-long parcel was too small for a park site and urged the youths to come up with alternative locations.

Mayor Mike M. Morales suggested that if they really wanted a park of their own, they should attend the next meeting of the Parks and Recreation Commission, scheduled for Monday night, and discuss their request.

He said there were several sites in the area which were better suited for parks.

New law to plug loophole

Legislation that would close a loophole in the judicial system that allows convicted burglars to escape incarceration has gotten the support of two top law enforcement officials in the state.

Atty. Gen Evelle Younger and Dist. Atty. John Van de Kamp both support a bill requiring mandatory prison sentences for persons convicted of certain burglaries who have two prior burglary convictions.

At the present time, a judge has the discretion to sentence a convicted burglar to state prison, county jail (for no more than one year) or a combination of jail and probation.

Therefore, the burglar can go on plying his illegal trade secure in the knowledge that there is no certainty of punishment regardless of the number of times he is convicted.

Younger says that the legislation proposed by State Sen. Dennis Carpenter of Newport Beach is aimed at putting away the professional burglar who may have committed hundreds of burglaries before he is convicted a third time.

If enacted, Carpenter's bill will put new teeth into the law but it will be up to the judges to make the system work.

The Progress Bulletin supports the proposed legislation and urges all its readers to write to their assemblymen and recommend that they, too, support it.

Monopoly challenged

Environmentalists, welfare rightists, consumer advocates and the like are learning that nobody holds an exclusive patent on "the public interest." More and more of these groups are finding themselves on the defensive end of legal actions.

The list also includes at least one government agency. Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., for example, has filed suit against the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission to prevent the commission from continuing to release "misleading, incomplete, inaccurate and unfair" information relating to the safety of household aluminum wiring.

The company charges that this information has caused numerous local government agencies to ban or propose to ban aluminum wiring and has led contractors to stop buying the product.

Whether this suit is in the public interest as well as that of Kaiser stockholders is for qualified, impartial experts to decide. But it does suggest that companies are no longer as willing as they once were to roll over and play dead to please consumer activists.

A better illustration of this turnabout is a "public interest" law firm in California, the Pacific Legal Foundation, which has scored notable successes against environmentalists and others, according to Barron's magazine.

The PFL has balked environmentalists trying to halt construction of a Trident missile base and a flood control and irrigation dam on the American River, and has knocked down the Environmental Protection Agency's "master plan" to force cars off California's streets and freeways.

Since its founding in 1973, the PFL has won 25 out of 40 cases it has argued and 15 are still pending. It has yet to lose a case in final appeal.

The firm's most notable work, however, has been in the field of welfare reform. It helped institute a computerized program to ferret out welfare cheats by matching the Social Security numbers of recipients with quarterly wage reports filed by employers. The PLF successfully beat back attempts by welfare rights groups who attempted to have the program enjoined as an "invasion of privacy."

One year after the system's introduction under former Gov. Ronald Reagan (it has been continued under Gov. Edmund Brown), there were 785,000 fewer people on welfare in California and the state had saved $1 billion, yet deserving recipients received benefit hikes of more than 30 per cent.

This, in anybody's book, is serving "the public interest."

Jackals who skulk

Dear Editor:

Months ago I predicted that 1976 would be "The Year of the Assassin" — the year in which assassination of individuals in carefully targeted areas would become the prime weapon in the world strategy of Communism.

Another kind of assassination conspiracy is hatching. It is the assassination of character, but of a particularly vile and ghoulish type, because it is inflicted upon the dead.

The two immediate victims are J. Edgar Hoover and General Douglas MacArthur. The assaults were predictable. The scenario seems to be that any implacable enemy of Communism must be hounded to the grave and even beyond. Dead heroes of the stature of Hoover and MacArthur must continue to be smirched and denigrated. This is the strategy of the left.

The Church Committee and the Time article, "The Truth About Hoover," neither of which sought to balance the truth or fully told it, played Brutus and Cassius to Hoover's Caesar. The massive and incredible denigration of MacArthur in the NBC fiction "Collision Course" (which might better have been titled "Collusion Course") was designated to trigger the disintegration of the MacArthur legend.

Here are an old lion and an old soldier who gave their lives and their unique and incomparable abilities without stint to the country they loved and served. Here are two patriots, valiant warriors of the highest order — two of the most honored of our many honored dead. And now, mute and defenseless, they must suffer the imputation of dishonor by this ignoble plot of the liberal-left and the Media. Even Brutus and Cassius — even Judas — conspired to murder the living. It is the jackals who skulk about corpses. — W. S. McBirnie, Ph.D., Glendale

The Hearst jury

Dear Editor:

Regarding the story published Feb. 6 on the selection of jurors in the Patti Hearst trial.

Why is it that you listed the occupation of each woman on the Hearst jury plus the husband's occupation of those who were married. Yet not one single married man had the occupation of his wife listed. — Mrs. J. P. Sagamong, Claremont

Red tape helps smugglers

WASHINGTON — The State Department is so entangled in red tape that it has hampered the effort to stop drug smuggling.

For years, prodigious amounts of heroin, cocaine and marijuana have poured into the United States from Asia, Latin America and the Middle East. Each year, more than a billion dollars worth of "brown" heroin is smuggled across the border from Mexico alone.

To stem the tide, the U.S. has spent millions of dollars and assigned thousands of people. Yet project after project has been caught in the bureaucratic tangle at Foggy Bottom. Here are just a few examples:

— At one time, a United Nations team persuaded reluctant Thailand officials to allow an aerial survey of their poppy fields. The State Department, incredibly, turned the idea down. Rep. Lester Wolff, D-N.Y., one of the leading narcotics experts in Congress, pressured the bureaucrats to change their minds. But by this time, the Thais had changed theirs. The matter is still being negotiated.

— Under the code name "Operation Cocina," Colombia last June began cracking down on cocaine traffickers. The colombians asked the U.S. for some special communications equipment. Two U.S. narcotics officials, whose sole responsibility was to audit such requests, decided they wanted a "feasibility study." Special personnel from Washington were flown down to conduct the study, which dragged on for more than a month. Two months later, the bureaucrats solemnly reached a decision: the Colombians needed equipment but not the kind they had requested. Operation Cocina will end shortly, but the right equipment only recently arrived.

— After much haggling, the government of Mexico agreed to eradicate 20,000 poppy fields. At the time, the Mexicans used sticks to beat the heads off poppy plants. But they agreed that herbicides would be more effective. Thereupon, the State Department delivered a primitive system employing buckets to pour herbicides out of helicopters. Of course, the Mexicans really needed more sophisticated spray equipment, which was finally provided after Congressman Wolff intervened.

— The Mexican government has also agreed to conduct an aerial survey of their country to locate poppy fields. Using prop-driven aircraft provided by the U.S., the Mexicans can survey only 60 square miles a day. With a small jet, they could survey 600 square miles daily. Yet the State Department refused to provide a jet, and suggested instead the Mexicans lease one.

Nevertheless, there are signs that officials on both sides of the Rio Grande are finally getting together to stop the illicit drug traffic.

Last month, Congressman Wolff and a colleague, Rep. Benjamin Gilman, R-N.Y., met privately with the leaders of four countries and hammered out some "breakthrough" agreements.

In Mexico City, for example, they called upon President Luis Echeverria. They worked out an accord which has been summarized in a private letter from Echeverria to President Ford, transmitted by classified State Department wire.

"I put forward to the U.S. legislators the idea of creating twin national commissions," wrote Echeverria, "one in each of our countries, which would undertake a study of all aspects of this (Narcotics) question and propose solutions . . . For my part, I am proceeding to establish the Mexican commission."

The Mexicans also promised Wolff and Gilman there would soon be a crackdown on corruption. Within days after returning home, the two Congressmen were informed that three federal judges in Hermosillo, Sonora State, had been charged with taking $600,000 in bribes from a heroin smuggling gang. Other high-level officials, according to our sources, are under investigation.

It remains to be seen how enthusiastically Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will cooperate with Mexican authorities. A suppressed staff study of the blue-ribbon Murphy Commission declared that Kissinger "typically concentrates on a small number of policy issues. Narcotics control was not on his agenda."

The new endeavor, however, has received at least lip service from Kissinger. He was "pleased," he cabled Wolff, "to learn of our positive appraisal of the discussion held . . . with President Echeverria . . . I have instructed (an aide) to continue planning discussions for the development of the parallel commissions."

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

Once a super salesman was referred to as a fellow who could sell refrigerators to Eskimos. But would you believe that today snow machines are being shipped to Alaska and sold there at a nice profit? Sounds incredible but it's a fact. They are being used to keep the Alaskan tundra frozen solid at all times so that there will be a solid foundation for our new Alaskan oil pipeline.

And here's another hard-to-believe fact. — Fifty years ago American housewives were better off than they are today. In the 1920's, according to the research and statistical experts, the average housewife worked 52 hours a week. Today, despite all her labor saving devices, she works a 55 hour week.

On the other hand, when someone tells you that conversation is becoming a lost art in this country because of our obsession with television, DON'T YOU BELIEVE IT! The truth is, conversation in America is now bigger and better than ever. It's a matter of statistical record that today we the people are making 188 billion phone calls a year.

Campaign laws divide Court

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Congress, in voting the Election Campaign Law of 1974, and the Supreme Court majority in validating much of that legislation, tainted free elections, approved rules favoring incumbents, and corrupted the right to hold our political views private if we choose.

My first witness is Chief Justice Warren Burger, objecting to the Court's decision that federal assistance to presidential candidates is constitutional:

"I think there is something politically incestuous about the government financing and, I believe, inevitably then regulating, the day to day procedures by which the government is selected . . .

"Recent history," Burger said, "shows dangerous examples of systems with a close, 'incestuous' relationship between government and politics! . . . "Up to now," he noted, "the Court has always been extraordinarily sensitive when dealing with First Amendment rights to the risk that the 'flag-tends-to-follow-the-dollars' . . .

". . . Once the government finances . . . national (political) conventions by the expenditure of millions of dollars from the public treasury, we may be providing a springboard for later attempts to impose a whole range of requirements on delegate selection and convention activities. Does this foreshadow judicial decisions allowing the federal courts to 'monitor' these conventions to assure compliance with court orders or regulations? . . ."

Both Burger and Associate Justice William Renquist see the process of interference with free speech and free expression already begun.

Says Burger, referring to the requirement that even contributions as small as $10 must be reported and those of $100 and over be published: "Rank-and-file union members or rising junior executives may now think twice before making even modest contributions to a candidate who is disfavored by the union or management hierarchy. Similarly, potential contributors may well decline to take the obvious risks entailed in making a reportable contribution to the opponent of a well-entrenched incumbent . . ."

Noting that this publicizing of small donations thus makes more difficult the challenging of incumbents, Burger says "secrecy and privacy as to political preferences and convictions are fundamental to a free society." Witness, he says, the secret ballot. And the secrecy of choice of a bargaining representative for workers. At other times, says Burger, "this Court has seen to it that governmental power cannot be used to force a citizen to disclose his private affiliations." There is, he adds, "no realistic possibility that such modest donations will have a corrupting influence . . ." Congress has "used a shotgun to kill wrens as well as hawks."

Justice Renquist is equally vehement on government financing as approved by the Court. ". . . this legislation . . . has enshrined the Republican and Democratic parties in a permanently preferred position . . . establishing requirements for funding minor party and independent candidates to which the two major parties are not subject . . ."

Continuing, Renquist says "I find it impossible to subscribe to the Court's reasoning that because no third party has posed a credible threat to the two major parties in Presidential elections since 1860, Congress may by law attempt to assure that this pattern will endure forever . . ."

In this Burger concurred with Renquist, noting that his associates had, up to now, "been particularly cautious when dealing with enactments that tend to perpetuate those who control legislative power . . ."

It is not clear why the Court majority saw otherwise.

A starting place

Would you put a gun at your neighbor's head and demand his money? Certainly not. Would you hire one of our professional Chicago hoodlums to put a gun at your neighbor's head and demand that he share his money with you? Certainly not.

Would you hire an IRS agent to do the same thing? To demand that your neighbor share his money with you? Careful! Government appears helpless to lose weight.

Even as you and I, government sets out with the best of intentions to reduce its size yet can't seem to. In 1973 Congress established a super committee within the Office of Management and Budget to try to reduce the number of federal advisory committees.

There are 99 more such committees now than then. Campaigners of both parties — from Humphrey to Wallace and certainly Ford and Reagan — are calling for shrinking our top-heavy bureaucracy. "What happened to New York City can happen to us all!" they agree.

Yet, as Mark Twain is said to have said of the weather, "They talk about it but they don't do anything about it!" What we need is a starting place. We can't do everything at once, but there is something we can do at once.

We can abolish once and for all the costly, cumbersome, wasteful, punitive, inequitable income tax system which has become so complicated that even the tax experts can't agree on what you should pay.

Every IRS commissioner since T. Coleman Andrews has advocated "simplifying" the income tax — after he was out of office. Now we have a gutsy, vigorous incumbent Treasury secretary, Bill Simon, insisting on it.

Simon says: Cut out all the tedious bookkeeping and individual recordkeeping and professional accounting and periodic auditing. And decree simply that everybody must pay a percentage of his income, from whatever source, to the government — from 10% on the low end to 35% on the high end.

No allowances, no deductions, no loopholes for anybody. Later, says Simon, corporate taxes may be similarly simplified but first we need a starting place. Think about it: You know that your income this month is X-dollars. You know that X-per cent belongs to you, the rest to the government, and you budget yourself accordingly.

No annual hassle with accountants and lawyers and professional tax-preparers. And Simon says his computers compute that this clear-slate reform of our tax system would bring in more — $50 billion a year more — to our federal Treasury.

Henry Block of H&R Block, whose company prepares more than 10% of the 80 million returns filed each April, objects. But we, the people, don't. Secretary Simon's mail is running 15-to-1 in favor of his proposal.

Wife seeks advice for jobless husband

My problem is concerning the job situation. My husband has been out of work for over a year and still is unable to find work.

He has been looking for any type of work at all. He has listed his name with three agencies whom we would have to pay but has had no results.

The last four months our total income was $1,640. Of that, $700 was spent on rent alone.

We have tried to get welfare but we make too much money on unemployment to qualify.

I have one child. My husband is his stepfather.

Do you know of anywhere he might find work? What about the training program the government offers through the employment office? — Mrs. R. R., Ontario.

The California State Employment Development office in Ontario is referring people who have been out of work for some time to the Ontario Airport Skills Center. The number to call is 984-4602.

The center is connected with the Comprehensive Employment Training Act program, which has an office at 200 S. Euclid Ave., Ontario. The phone number there is 983-0775.

Another source of help is the San Bernardino County Community Services office. Call 627-2717.

The Firehouse in Montclair offers vocational counseling among other services. The counselor, Cheryl Burwell, may be reached by calling 624-8056.

We hope this information will help your husband and many other job seekers among our readers.

I am doing research on the noted American artist, Alice Blair Ring. She was a resident of Pomona from 1912 to 1947. She lived on Pasadena Street and was a member of Pilgrim Congregational Church.

She is listed in E. Benezit's "Dictionnaire des Pientres, Sculpteurs, Dissinateurs et Graveurs" (1954) and "Who's Who in American Art", Volume II (1938-1939) and III (1940-1941).

Are any of her paintings publicly displayed in Pomona or elsewhere?

I would appreciate receiving information from you or your readers concerning biographical data, names of museums owning her works, titles and subjects of her paintings and any other reference to her work. — R. Constant, Los Angeles.

Alice Blair Ring was a miniature painter. She was a member of the California Society of Miniature Painters and the California Miniature Society.

A list of her works may be obtained from "Artist's Clubs and Exhibitions in Los Angeles Before 1930" by Nancy D. W. Moure and Phyllis Moure, co-authors.

If you can't find the book elsewhere, drive out our way and ask for it in the special collections department of the Pomona Library. While you are there, you can make copies of Progress Bulletin accounts of an Ebell Club showing Miss Ring had in 1925 and of her death in 1947. The dates of the articles are April 29 and March 17, respectively.

As far as we know, none of her work is on display locally now. Readers may be able to furnish further details.

Ann Landers

Help is where you find it

Dear Ann Landers: I really identified with that girl who wrote to say she was afraid to open her mouth in school, even when she was sure of the answer.

She said the sound of her own voice terrified her. You suggested that she read aloud to herself in front of a mirror every evening for two weeks and then force herself to speak out in the classroom.

I am not knocking your advice, Ann, because you are supposed to be an authority (or you check with someone who is), but I had the same problem and solved it a different way.

I decided to speak to Jesus — out loud — and ask for his help. He answered me and gave me the strength I needed to overcome my problem.

My mother says you will never print my letter because you are a non-believer and any talk of Jesus would offend you. I hope she is mistaken. We shall see. — Rose Petal

Dear Rose: Your mother is wrong on all counts. I am a "believer," even though you and I do not share the same beliefs. Talk of Jesus does not offend me, or any other enlightened person of the Jewish faith. We believe Jesus was a great teacher, that he was a kind and gentle man, but we do not accept him as our Saviour. If Jesus helped you, I think it is wonderful. Go to Him whenever you feel the need. Help is where you find it.

Dear Ann Landers: I want to congratulate you for your strong stand on not visiting sick people in the hospital. A few readers got mad, but more of us are with you than against you.

I gave birth to four babies within six years. (One set of twins.) My relatives were very considerate, but my husband's family drove me crazy. I was a nervous wreck from all the company. My milk dried up and I couldn't nurse my babies. Finally my doctor put a big sign on the door: NO VISITORS. Do you think that stopped them? It didn't. My mother-in-law and her sisters came anyway. Finally I arranged with the floor nurse to come in when she saw my light on and ask everyone to leave, except my husband.

Please keep on saying what you believe, Ann. Bless you. — First Hand Knowledge

Dear F.H.K.: Most hospitals these days sharply limit the number of visitors on the maternity floor, which is a splendid idea.

Any patient who does not want company should ask that a No Visitors sign be posted and the door kept closed. If visitors come in anyway, the patient should say, "Sorry, I'm not allowed to have company. Please come see me when I'm home."

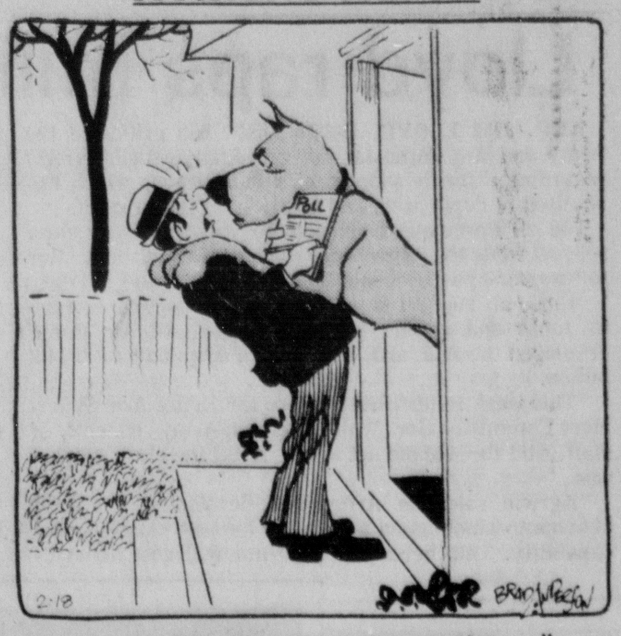
Dear Ann Landers: Recently I spent a weekend with my cousin Julia. We are both 25, and I always admired her.

I was shocked to see Julia had towels, bath mats and pillow slips with the names of various hotels stamped on them. When I asked her about this she said, "Hotels expect people to take these items and they add the cost to your room rate. It's called shrinkage." True or false? — Greenhorn

Dear Horn: False. It's called "stealing." Don't let Julia fool ya.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers's guide to "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Marmaduke



"Maybe I'd better rephrase that question . . ."

Joe Firman

Do you take this person . . .?

Not long ago my wife announced we were going to the wedding of the son of friends of ours. (That's how I get the word — it comes down like a pronouncement from Mt. Sinai.)

"Boy or girl?" I asked

"Jim? He's a boy, as you very well — "

"I mean, which is he marrying?"

Brushing the shards of a heavy ceramic ashtray from my hair, I headed upstairs to prepare myself for the nuptial ceremony. She didn't have to get sore; I was just kidding. More or less. I mean, our society is so scr — disheveled, that nothing surprises me any more.

Having been to numerous weddings of the counterculture, I knew the acceptable vestments. I hesitated between my floral-pattern sports shirt, open to the navel (with medallion, of course), my black turtleneck jersey, and my T-shirt with Coors printed across the front. I settled for the sport shirt, even tough I might seem a bit overdressed for the Now Generation. I donned my white leisure suit with wide lapels and leatherette buttons — my jeans were in the wash — and slipped into my sandals. I debated a headband and beads, but decided against them.

"What are you got up as, Pagliacci?" my wife asked when she saw me. (Women notice these things.)

"Just protective coloring for this hippie wedding," I said.

"Didn't you see the invitation?" she grated. "It said 'Formal'. Now get back upstairs and put on your dark suit, white shirt — and never mind the tie with Superman on it."

"I know it's formal," I protested, starting back upstairs. "That's why I put on my sandals. The last wedding you took me to everyone was barefooted except the minister."

During the '60s formal church weddings went out of style. In fact, churches went out of style. The weddings were performed on the beach, in pine-studded mountain glades, on river banks, in railroad sheds, in tents, on parking lots of X-rated movie houses. Long haired girls and long-haired boys marched around with candles, sang Joni Mitchell songs, got swacked on grass and Gallo, composed poems, did Greek folk dances. So they weren't exactly hippies — no one on Haight-Ashbury would have given them another glance.

The ceremony (they called it "a celebration") consisted of the bride playing on a recorder a wedding song composed by the groom. Ministers were optional. If taking part, they were bearded, bespectacled young men more familiar with Tolkien than St. Thomas. The ceremony culminated with the young couple exchanging strings of love beads and the best man playing Dravidian laments on an autoharp.

Apparently the old-fashioned, formal, something borrowed, something blue wedding ceremonies are returning to style, possibly from the current wave of nostalgia, possibly having something to do with the Bicentennial — as what doesn't? The wedding that evening was in a church. There was candlelight, ushers, bridesmaids, bouquets, organ music — even a minister. He didn't say, 'Do you Lucy, take Jim to relate to and hold a meaningful relationship with until Splitsville?"

He had a small book in his hand, and he started to read:

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered here . . . ."

Talk about nostalgia!

Bojangles also ran backwards

Any Seasoned Citizen will tell you that the late Bill "Bojangles" Robinson was some sort of a recordbreaker in that theatrical art called tap dancing. But not many realize he was indeed a recordbreaker, too, in the athletic activity of running backwards. Nobody else in the world equaled him in the 50-yard dash backwards at 6 seconds, the 75-yard dash backwards at 8.2 seconds and the 100-yard dash backwards at 13.2 seconds.

Believe William Archibald Spooner's premiere slip of the tongue was his remark to a bridegroom: "It is kisstomary to cuss the bride." I like that one better than his line to a student: "You hissed my mystery lecture."

BIFOCALS

Q. "What's that tropical fish with bifocal lenses on its eyes?"

A. The anableps? Isn't that the little beast that swims along the surface, looking out of the water and under the water at the same time? Believe so.

When researchers asked numerous Catholic scholars at Columbia University if they expected to marry outside their faith, approximately 66 per cent said yes. About 46 per cent of the Protestants said yes, too. But only 15 per cent of the Jewish students said yes.

Now and again in the flea markets you find a small porcelain cup, which may have been called by many names a century or more ago, but was in fact a lady's cuspidor.

VAUDEVILLE

Thereabouts of 500 years ago lived a poet named Oliver Bassel — or maybe his name was Basselin, that's unclear — who composed lively little songs in France. Specifically, he lived in the town of Vaude on the river Vire, so his home was identified as Vaudevire. Long after Oliver's type of entertainment caught on, that town name gave us our word "vaudeville."

Do you realize that 75 years ago a newborn infant had less chance of surviving a week than did a man of 90?

Adolf Hitler gave that mark called the swastika a mighty bad reputation. Originally in Sanskrit, however, the word itself for that symbol meant "he is well," a most honorable sign.

Nobody liked that song called "You're the Flower of My Heart, Sweet Rosalie." Nobody, nobody. Then the title was changed to "Sweet Adeline." And everybody liked it. Everybody, everybody.

Joyce Hifler

Think on these things

When the day is rainy and dark, it is to my notion very serene. Ever so often it is good to have a day that suggests quiet and rest — even when there is much to do. It is the sort of day when the bluejay's shriek is especially clear, and the rumbling of rainwater in the gutters and downspouts sounds almost musical. It is a good time for introspection, to lay aside ordinary thought to observe and analyze one's own mind and feelings.

There is a good deal more to resting than just lying down. Thoughts must be at peace and muscles and nerves relaxed if there is to be true rest. Whether your help comes through a rainy day or just getting away for some time of your own, whatever suggests serenity to you is worth working for and enjoying.

Dr. Lamb

Exercise aids varicose veins

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please let me know if playing tennis, dancing or strenuous exercise can be harmful if one has varicose veins. I will be anxiously awaiting your answer, along with two of my friends who also have varicose veins.

DEAR READER — No, it will not. If you just have dilated or varicose veins over the outside of the leg and the veins deep inside your leg muscles that you can't see are all right, the exercise will actually help. As you exercise, the venuous blood in the legs is milked out of the leg by a massaging action of the contracting leg muscles.

The superficial veins drain into the deeper veins and emptying the deep veins helps drain the superficial ones.

If the superficial veins are all that are involved you will not have any trouble with significant ankle swelling. When the deep veins are also involved you will have persistent swelling of the involved leg.

The best thing you can do short of surgery for removal of varicose veins is to prevent further dilation of the veins. To do this you need to avoid prolonged standing without moving, and to wear some external support hose. The external pressure helps prevent distention of the veins. Varicose veins develop because of overdistention. The veins have valves inside them to help move the blood uphill back to the heart. When the veins are overstretched the valves no longer meet and the blood leaks downhill distending the vein and you see the varicose vein. I think it is a good idea for women to wear support hose of some type during pregnancy as the pressure on the deep veins in the pelvis contribute to overstretching and later varicose veins. This is particularly important to women who have a family history of varicose veins.

If you have swelling of your ankles with your varicose veins then go ahead and exercise but you might want to wear some support hose while doing it.

For more information on varicose veins send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 5-8. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 326, San Antonio, Texas 78292.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have had my thyroid partially removed and am on two grains of thyroid a day, also Hydropress and have been on it for years, one or two a day depending on my pressure. Now I have been put on a medicine that I hate, in juice or not. Not only do I dislike the taste but the cramps and gas that I get from Kaon elixer is mean.

Now I see you tell another person to drink three glasses of orange juice a day. Perhaps I may solve my problems by doing just that but what size glasses please. I have always taken six ounces for breakfast but that has been it. I'd appreciate any information that could help me get off the awful medicine.

DEAR READER — You should follow your doctor's instructions as he knows what your potassium level is. You can discuss other sources of potassium with him and he may agree to let you take three 8-ounce glasses of orange juice a day.

You can also get a lot of potassium in milk. There is almost as much potassium in a quart of milk fortified with two per cent nonfat milk solids as there is in a quart of orange juice.

Jacoby's bridge

Wrong contract possible

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North and South were so busy arguing about whose fault it was that they failed to bid and make a club or diamond slam, that neither one noticed that South should have made his four-spade contract. It seems that after winning the heart lead, South had played three rounds of trumps after which unfortunate start there was no way for him to score more than nine tricks.

South could have insured a 10th trick by playing only two rounds of trumps and then leading a diamond. If West ducked South would have his 10th trick; if West took his ace and led a second heart South should refuse to ruff. Then he would be able to ruff the next heart in dummy and score the rest of the tricks.

This type of play in one form or another occurs quite often and is well worth learning. As for the bidding we agree with both partners. Each one had bid badly.

Ask the Jacobys

An Alambama reader wants to know what you should bid after opening one club with:

♠ 6 ♥ A 8 7 ♦ K J 5 ♣ A 10 9 7 5 3

There is a one-spade overcall; your partner bids two hearts and the next player passes.

Our answer is that we raise to three hearts. There is a temptation to bid three clubs but we resist it.

Lloyd raps military excess... Campbell urges tax break

REP. JIM LLOYD, D-35th Dist., has criticized the Army and Air Force for not coordinating their efforts regarding aircraft support of ground troops which has resulted in duplicative and costly aircraft for each.

The Air Force has developed the A10 airplane for close support while the Army is developing an attack helicopter for the same purpose, said Lloyd, a former Navy aviator.

Close air support is vital to ground troops threatened by tanks and artillery. For this role, the Air Force developed the A10, and the program costs now total $4.2 billion.

"This week in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee Gen. Walter Kerwin, Army vice chief of staff, said the A10 did not totally fulfill the close support role.

"Kerwin said the Army was developing the AAH helicopter which has a unique low altitude close support capability. This helicopter program will cost about $4 billion."

Lloyd said the two programs represent a $4 billion duplication effort. And since the A10 is far enough into production to prevent cancellation, he recommends this helicopter be used for close support and thus eliminate the AAH helicopter.

"The burden to make the A10 successful is on the Air Force," he declared.

ASSEMBLYMAN WILLIAM CAMPBELL, R-64th Dist., has introduced legislation that would provide a tax incentive for persons installing smoke detectors in their homes.

He reported that 70 per cent of all home fires occur between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. when the residents are asleep. "By the time the fire department receives the alarm, most fire fatalities have already occurred."

Since 1974, California has required smoke detectors in all new residential construction. "The problem, however, is that lives are being lost in homes built prior to 1974. For that reason, I am introducing legislation to provide a tax incentive for persons who install early warning smoke detectors in their homes.

"My bill will allow a credit on a person's state income tax of 25 per cent of the cost of a smoke detector — up to $15 — for individuals who install these devices," he said.

ASSEMBLYMAN BILL McVITTIE, D-65th Dist., has added three persons to his district office staff.

They are Roger Gama, chief administrative assistant, Don Stockett, a legislative aide, and Sandy Vale, district office manager.

Gama was previously employed as director of the Mexican-American admissions at Claremont Colleges. Stockett had served as director of the UCLA Sacramento Government Internship Program. Mrs. Vale, a certified professional secretary, previously worked in a public accountant's office.

REP. JOHN ROUSSELOT, R-26th Dist., reports that recent public opinion polls indicate that he has a more substantial name identification in California than other contenders for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. John Tunney.

The legislator said he wasn't actively seeking the seat but speculation that he might be intensified when Rep. Barry Goldwater Jr. announced he wouldn't run against Tunney.

Serving his fifth term in the House of Representatives, Rousselot has received national recognition on returning to a balanced budget.

Claremont

Fatality spoils safety record

A Nov. 2 fatality which spoiled Claremont's 16-month safety record was one of 59 traffic accidents reported to police during October, November, and December last year.

Police investigated 21 injury accidents during that three-month period, when 38 persons were hurt and one killed.

While the accident rate dropped 19 per cent from the previous three months, traffic citations jumped 17 per cent over the same period.

Claremont police handed out 2,671 tickets, including 723 for moving violations and 340 for speeding.

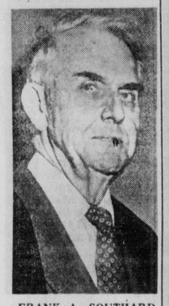
Officers ticketed 1,711 vehicles for parking violations.

Only 13 accidents were reported on Indian Hill Boulevard, Claremont's second busiest street, but police gave out 313 tickets there during the three-month period.

On Foothill Boulevard, Claremont's busiest street, officers ticketed 198 motorists, and investigated just nine traffic mishaps, a new low.

The city's newly-hired parking enforcement officer in the Village shopping area began working Dec. 13 and through Dec. 31 had written 96 citations.

He added 109 in January.



FRANK A. SOUTHARD

STEPHEN K. TAMURA

Two P.C. graduates honored

Two distinguished Pomona College alumni were awarded honorary degrees during the recent opening convocation of the second semester.

Degrees were presented by David Alexander, college president, to Frank A. Southard Jr., Chevy Chase, Md., retired deputy managing director of the International Monetary Fund, and Judge Stephen K. Tamura, Santa Ana, associate justice, Fourth District Court of Appeal.

Southard, a 1927 graduate of Pomona College, was presented for his degree, a doctor of laws, by Gordon K. Douglass, professor of economics.

Southard received his Ph.D. at UC Berkeley and then taught economics there and at Cornell University before entering government service in a variety of position over the past 30 years.

Judge Tamura, a 1933 graduate, was presented for his doctor of civil laws degree by R. Stanton Hales Jr., associate dean of the college.

A Japanese-American who earned funds for college by working on his father's farm in Fountain Valley, he received a bachelor of laws degree at UC Berkeley. He practiced law in Orange County until the outbreak of World War II when he was interned in Arizona for 18 months.

He was released from the internment camp to work as an attorney for the Bureau of Land Management and earned his master's degree in law at Harvard University at this time.

In 1945, Judge Tamura enlisted in the U.S. Army and served as a member of the well-known 442nd Nisei Regiment in Italy.

After spending 12 years on the staff of the Orange County Counsel's Office, he was appointed a Superior Court judge in 1961 and four years later was named to his present position.

New Chino plant to deliver its first motor home

The Brougham Industries of California, Inc., which recently opened its plant in Chino, will deliver its first mini-motor home during an official welcoming ceremony Thursday at 10 a.m.

The firms' 43,000-square-foot plant is located at 14320 Ramona Ave. Attending will be San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert Townsend, Chino Mayor Bob McLeod, and Chino City Manager Robert Fast.

The motor homes produced range from 20 to 25 feet long, have 10 different floor plans and four interior colors, said Greg Moreno, company vice president and general manager.

The homes provide sleeping area for four to eight persons and are available on chassis from Dodge, Ford or Chevrolet. The plant will seek to produce 1,000 units the first year.

Townsend said the plant will provide 100 jobs as the business develops, with local residents being hired. "This new manufacturing firm is purchasing raw materials locally which further stimulates our area economy."

The program starts at 7:30 p.m. Cost is $4 per person, with persons wanting reservations asked to phone Eleni Mitchel at 333-6055 or Delores Lucero at 962-3772.

"Our two clubs are combining annual installation dinners this year in a show of Democratic unity," said Lloyd E. Stea, president of the Puente Hills club.

SANDY BALDONADO, Democratic candidate for the state Assembly in the 62nd District, will be hosted at a "signature-birthday" party Sunday from 4 to 7 p.m. at 508 W. 11th St., Claremont.

The meeting will help Mrs. Baldonado to celebrate her birthday and also allow friends to sign her petition in sponsorship of her candidacy to state office.

No admission will be charged but those who plan to attend are asked to phone 599-7760.

Here's the key to getting on someone's 'good side'

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — "Getting on someone's good side" is more than a figure of speech, says a psychologist who sees clear patterns in the way men and women prefer to be approached.

If you want to get on a stranger's "good side," said Dr. Jeffrey D. Fisher, it will mean approaching a woman from the front and a man from the side.

Fisher, an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Connecticut, said in studies on nonverbal communication he found a pattern of negative response from people when they are approached from their "bad sides."

Where a person likes to have his "personal space invaded" from is rooted in sex-linked attitudes on competition and sociability, says Fisher, an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Connecticut.

"This kind of research would indicate that some degree of misinterpretation takes place because of differences in sex," Fisher said.

In a recent article in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, Fisher and Prof. Donn Byrne wrote: "A female who wants to befriend an unknown male may be surprised to find that a nonthreatening (to her) eyeball-to-eyeball approach causes consternation and alarm.

"In the same way, a male who attempts to ingratiate himself with an unknown female by sitting down beside her in a nonthreatening (to him) position may be surprised that he elicits a 'Miss Muffet' reaction."

Even among groups of largely the same sex, individual sensitivities can be rubbed the wrong way by ignoring preferences for how people like to preserve their personal space, said Fisher.

"Think of the Paris peace talks on Vietnam," he said, recalling the serious debate over the shape of the negotiation table — rectangular, oblong or doughnut. The participants finally agreed a doughnut-shaped table would create the least tension.

Whether they knew it or not, the doughnut decision by the diplomats tends to support the research Fisher and Byrne did when they were at Purdue University. The results were contained in the recent article.

In two different studies among 125 students in the campus library, the researchers found females felt more comfortable if they were approached face-to-face by strangers. Males preferred strangers to approach them from the side, the researchers said.

But when interacting with friends, women liked them to come from the side and men preferred a frontal approach.

The study was done by interviewers who approached subjects from different directions and recorded their answers to subjective questions.

The researchers also said when students in the library were observed without their knowledge, men tended to arrange books and possessions to form a barrier to face-to-face contact with someone who might sit across from them. Women tended to construct such barriers to prevent contact with someone sitting on their side.

Fisher and Byrne found that when they questioned students whose "personal space" had been deliberately invaded the "wrong way" — face on for men and sideways for women — those people tended to form unpleasant or hostile opinions of the invader, even without social contact.

Fisher said men tended to feel the library was crowded if there were strangers in front of them, while women felt crowded if there were people alongside them.

Fisher speculates the answers to the various preferences are rooted in the reputed competitive nature of men and the sociable nature of women. The psychologist said that if the women's liberation movement "is really changing people, preferences might be eliminated over time."

The researchers say the reactions may be due to competitive situations generally being face-to-face situations while people in cooperative situations generally sit side-by-side.

Fisher said there are important design implications to be drawn from his research. Airport waiting rooms could be friendlier places and libraries could be more effective learning environments if both face-to-face and side-to-side seating arrangements are used, he said.

PIPELINE FRIENDS — Bob DeTray, left, and Harry Lang are trans-Alaska pipeline construction workers who met along the line. DeTray, 55, has been a pipeline worker for more than 20 years. Lang, 57, used to own two Hollywood beauty shops.

Pipeline workers

Two worlds meet for last adventure

CHANDALAR CAMP, Alaska (AP) — The two men resting quietly in a corner of the neonlit lunchroom look the same: heavy woolen shirts, gray stubbled chins, wrinkles fanning out like spokes from weary eyes.

But their hands, cradling steaming coffee cups, are different. Harry Lang's fingers taper to immaculately buffed nails. He used to own two Hollywood beauty shops. His fingers used to do the hair of movie stars.

Bob DeTray has been a pipeline worker for more than 20 years. His hands are stubby and rough, old grime ground into the corners, cuticles like scuffed sandpaper.

Money and a middle-aged craving for a last adventure have brought them together. Both are workmen on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Lang is 57; DeTray, 55. Each says working on the pipeline is "the greatest thing I have ever done."

They met April Fool's Day. A welding of philosophies cemented a friendship which traveled south from Prudhoe Bay to this construction camp with the lyrical name of "Chandalar" It's nestled in a crook of the Brooks mountain range of Alaska.

Lang's courtly demeanor hints at cravats and martinis in crystal. DeTray's stocky body hugs the ground. His smile conjures up images of Route 66 and truck-stop diners. He wears plaid shirts and pointy-toed boots.

During the 10-hour working shift the two men stand only a few feet apart in the bone-chilling cold. Lang is a laborer helping to hoist the 48-inch steel pipe into place so DeTray and his welding crew can join the 80-foot sections.

Woolen layers swath them against the 40-below-zero air.

"Harry and I are sharing an adventure few people ever get to be a part of," said DeTray. "This pipeline is the only thing of its kind in the history of man."

"Up here," says Lang, picking up his friend's train of thought, "everywhere we look our eyes are open. We've watched the migration of geese from south to north to south again.

"We've seen the Arctic fox turn from white to brown to white. We've found caribou tracks in the river and Dahl sheep horns on the hills.

"The younger boys, the 30-year-olds who still think it is a weakness to talk about nature, they say things like: 'Oh well, hell, I've got a girlfriend at home that's greater than that.'

"But then they'll mosey over to you that night and say: 'Listen, if you want to get rid of those sheep horns you found, I'll take them off your hands for you.'"

But Lang and DeTray agree that going home every nine weeks is a primary incentive for surviving the life of isolation and physical hardship on the North Slope.

Still, Lang says the last time he hopped a plane to head North: "I couldn't wait to come back here."

Adds DeTray: "This pipeline is really a way of life. It is a challenge. It is a place to use your skills with pride. The whole country is telling you it is important to get this job done.

"Americans have reached a point where many do not feel like they are creating anything any more."

Says Lang: "You take people who have run a computer for 20 years and at the end of those decades they are going to say: 'To hell with it, I'm going home and have a drink because it doesn't mean anything anyway.'"

A sense of place, a desire for purpose, the lure of adventure, promise of enough money to buy dreams and a safe old age. Almost everyone in the Arctic desert or the snaking mountain valleys disrupted by pipeline camps will say they came for the same things.

DeTray found his way to the Arctic by following pipelines through Arizona and on to Texas, into Utah, back to Oklahoma, and anywhere else in the Midwest their builders wanted them created.

He left Ohio when "the big war" came along. He never got back.

Colorado's mountains gave him breathing room, and his family waits for him these days in Rifle. He says the small town on the western side of the Continental Divide still offers plenty of room for his twin grandsons to grow up next door to grandpa.

Lang came north from Elkhart, Ind., where a young son and daughter, "my second family," live in middle class comfort with Lang's second ex-wife.

Lang likes to say his real home is Hollywood. While DeTray was laying pipe, Lang was softening his hands in the creme rinses he says he massaged into the scalps of some of America's favorite stars.

He owned two beauty shops near movie studios.

"Rock Hudson, David Janssen, George Gobel — I did them all and some are my friends," says Lang, absently tapping his perfectly trimmed gray sideburns.

"He was the best," says DeTray, grinning proudly at his friend. "He knew all the big ones out there."

"I've made a lot of money in my lifetime, a hundred dollars a day in my beauty shop," continued Lang. "But being here is much more valuable to me. These people up here building this pipeline are the most interesting and intelligent folks I have ever met."

Seattle monorail becomes money-making workhorse

SEATTLE (AP) — Built as a novelty and sales tool for Seattle's 1962 world's fair, the monorail system here has become a money-making transit workhorse.

Shoppers leave their cars in expansive parking lots at the Seattle Center and take the monorail to downtown stores.

Office workers can ride the monorail to the center, part of the fairgrounds now serving as the city's cultural and sports complex, and lunch at an international bazaar there.

"It's convenient as the devil," says one rider.

The Seattle system is the nation's first commercial monorail. Monorails were once billed as transportation for the Space Age. But with the exception of Seattle, they have generally flopped.

The system has two electric trains which travel 50 to 60 miles an hour along 1.2 miles of track 30 feet above city streets. Each train can carry 450 persons.

The 96-second trip costs a dime. Nearly 2.3 million persons rode the train last year, making $20,000 profit to break an unwritten rule that says urban transit must lose money.

Officials expect the monorail system to remain largely unchanged. One proposal, now put aside for cost and technical reasons, called for extending it slightly.

"It started as a gimmick, but it's far more than that now — it's an essential part of our transport downtown," says Mayor Wes Uhlman.

Alweg, a West German firm, built the monorail for $4.5 million for the fair, hoping it would attract attention to what it called "the most modern transportation system in the world."

"Traffic congestion, a thwart to the normal growth of all our cities, is today's most critical urban development problem," a company brochure added. "Metropolitan areas around the world are losing the struggle to unravel the traffic tangle. The Alweg monorail offers a modern solution to a modern problem."

Alweg gave the monorail to the fair's corporate successor, which in turn sold it to the city in 1965 for $600,000. Officials estimate it would cost up to 10 times that to replace today.

Like the Space Needle, another inheritance of the World's Fair, the monorail is considered a symbol of the city. Chamber of Commerce men merchandising Seattle as a convention site play heavily on it, says Hartly Kruger, of the Seattle-King County Visitors and Convention Bureau.

"We call it the horizontal elevator from the hotel to the meeting room," says Kruger. "The monorail is a part of the downtown complex. It makes the center and the city one."

Elsewhere, though, monorails have met with almost no success.

Plans for systems in Las Vegas, San Diego, Dallas, New York and other cities have been abandoned or postponed indefinitely. Money, space for pylons and other factors have stopped their development.

"I can safely say that any type of transit system built in the last 15 or 20 years, except for a few in Disneyland and airports, just have not fared well," says John Pruyn, a public relations man for Rohr Industries of Chula Vista, Calif. The firm builds monorails and other transit systems.

"Money is the big problem. Technology is running ahead of our ability to put systems into practice. There's a lack of commitment from the public in general for transit.

"Until that commitment is made, we're hanging by our threads."

Seattle's system had its problems, too. In the early days, ridership was tiny, perhaps a few hundred persons a week. It slowly built, but in July 1971 brakes failed on one train. Moving at 20 miles an hour, it slammed into a steel girder at the Seattle Center terminal.

Twenty-five persons were injured, two seriously. The electric car was twisted rubble. Alweg, the manufacturer, had gone out of business by then, and transit workers rebuilt the train by hand, forging each part as though it was being made for the first time.

It took two years to get the train back into service.

The city found itself on the losing end of a lawsuit filed by businessmen along the monorail route. They argued their businesses were harmed by the midstreet structure and the city paid off, $775,000 in damages.

"It remains a transport system and a joyride for families," says Seattle Center Asst. Manager David Hughbanks.

Mark spring's arrival with corned beef dinner

You don't need a calendar to know when spring has arrived. The signs are everywhere. Vacant lots fill up with kids playing baseball, gardening is a common topic of conversation, lines grow longer at the ice cream shop, and bike riding once again becomes a favorite pastime for young and old alike.

There are also signs at home that the season is changing for the better. The pace picks up as new projects are started and the shift to outdoor living begins. To help the family keep up with all the increased activity, plan a special "spring-is-finally-here" dinner centered around a corned beef brisket.

While topping the already full-flavored corned beef might sound like gilding the lily, adding a sunny touch with a pineapple topping pays off in dining satisfaction. For green onion, pimiento, vinegar and soy sauce combine to give crushed pineapple an interesting twist. Some of the tasty mixture is baked atop the corned beef, while the rest can be passed at the table as an accompaniment.

If trivia is a favorite dinner table topic, stump the experts with the question of how corned beef got its name. It's a carry-over from the time when the word "corns" was used in Old English to refer to the grains of salt that were used to cure the brisket. Today, a spicy brine rather than dry salt is used for curing beef brisket, but the name has remained.

Keep the mood light and springy by sprinkling parsley over new poatoes to serve with the corned beef platter which includes bright carrots. Combine favorite greens for a salad and toss with herb dressing. Add relishes of green onions and pickles, rye bread and rainbow sherbet and the tribute to spring is complete.

SPRIGHTLY SPRING CORN BEEF PLATTER

- 2½ to 3-pound corned beef brisket
- 2 cups water
- 1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple in syrup
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 3 tablespoons chopped green onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon soy sauce
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 6 to 8 small carrots, halved and cooked

Place corned beef in Dutch oven, add water, cover tightly and cook in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1½ hours. Turn brisket in liquid and continue cooking, covered 1 to 1½ hours or until meat is tender. To prepare topping, drain syrup from pineapple and stir into cornstarch in small saucepan to blend. Add pineapple, green onion, pimiento, vinegar, soy sauce and salt and cook, stirring until thickened. Remove brisket from liquid and place on rack in open roasting pan. Spoon part of topping over top of brisket and cook in oven, uncovered, 10 minutes. Carve brisket diagonally across the grain in thin slices. Place carrots on platter with corned beef and serve remaining topping as an accompaniment.

Corned beef left over? Lucky you! It will be great sandwiched between rye bread spread with mustard for the first picnic of the season. Of if Reubens are a favorite, treat with these sandwiches that combine corned beef with Swiss cheese and sauerkraut. The leftover meat is delicious, too, in casseroles or served creamed over biscuits or toast. Still a little left? Pair it with potatoes in a budget-stretching hash.

Traditional ham fulfills Easter expectations

In a rapidly changing world, there's a feeling of security and tranquillity that comes with observing the time-honored traditions. It's comforting to know that on special days, happy memories from years past will once again be reality.

On Easter Sunday, tradition may call for an early morning church service, an egg hunt for the children or a late morning brunch with family and friends. For many people, Easter means a happy day to gather with the family for a bountiful spring feast. While the accompanying dishes may change from year to year, the entree remains a tradition — a tender, juicy ham.

To style the ham for the Easter dinner table, top it with a colorful bouquet of flowers. The arrangement can be made with green onion stems and leaves, and maraschino cherry and lemon peel buds. The garnish, added the last 10 minutes of the baking period, is held in place with a delicious honey-lemon glaze. It's tangy sweetness offers a pleasing accent to the marvelous ham flavor.

When selecting the size of ham for the meal, you'll need to consider the number of people you'll be serving and the amount of bone in the ham. A canned or other boneless ham will provide up to five servings per pound. If it is a bone-in variety, allow about 3½ servings per pound. These are conservative estimates, so you may want to allow more ham for heartier appetites that require second servings to satisfy.

Since ham is so versatile, this is one time when leftovers are welcome, even something to plan for. Your Easter ham can be enjoyed for days to come from breakfast to dinner in everything from sandwiches and sauces to soups and salads. Refrigerate leftover ham as soon as feasible, wrapping it tightly and storing in coldest area.

SPRINGTIME BAKED HAM

- 7 to 10-pound canned ham
- 2 lemons
- 3 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/3 cup honey
- 3 maraschino cherries, halved
- Strips of green onion

Place ham on rack in an open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) until meat thermometer registers almost 140 degrees. Cut 10 to 16 slivers of peel from one lemon and reserve; grate second lemon to obtain ¾ teaspoon peel. Squeeze lemons to obtain 1/3 cup juice. Add water to juice and blend with cornstarch in a small saucepan. Add honey and grated lemon peel and cook, stirring until thickened. Brush warm glaze over top and sides of ham, reserving small amount. Arrange maraschino cherry halves on top of ham, placing a sliver of lemon peel on each side of each, to form flower buds.

Use thin strips of green onion for stems and leaves. Brush flowers and stems with remaining glaze, return ham to oven and bake 10 to 15 minutes.

Note: Allow 2 to 2½ hours for total cooking time for 7 to 10-pound canned ham.

Start the Easter meal on a light, refreshing note with cranberry cocktails made by combining equal portions of cranberry juice and gingerale. A whipped sweet potato casserole and fresh broccoli topped with hollandaise sauce will compliment the ham nicely. For a salad that's picture-pretty, arrange peach slices in a lime gelatin mold and serve with dollops of dressing.

Bring a tall and tempting angel food cake to the table for dessert. To make it an Easter exclusive, sprinkle flaked coconut over its fluffy frosting, then tint some coconut green and use it to make nests for jelly bean eggs on top of the cake.

Special treat: crusty cobbler

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Sad the individual who grows up without the mouth-watering experience of having eaten a cobbler. This deep dish fruit pie with a thick upper crust is a very special treat during a fresh fruit season, but also may be made with frozen or canned fruits. For a dessert treat try a blueberry oven cobber with a foamy sauce for topping.

BLUEBERRY COBBLER

BLUEBERRY OVEN COBBLER WITH FOAMY SAUCE

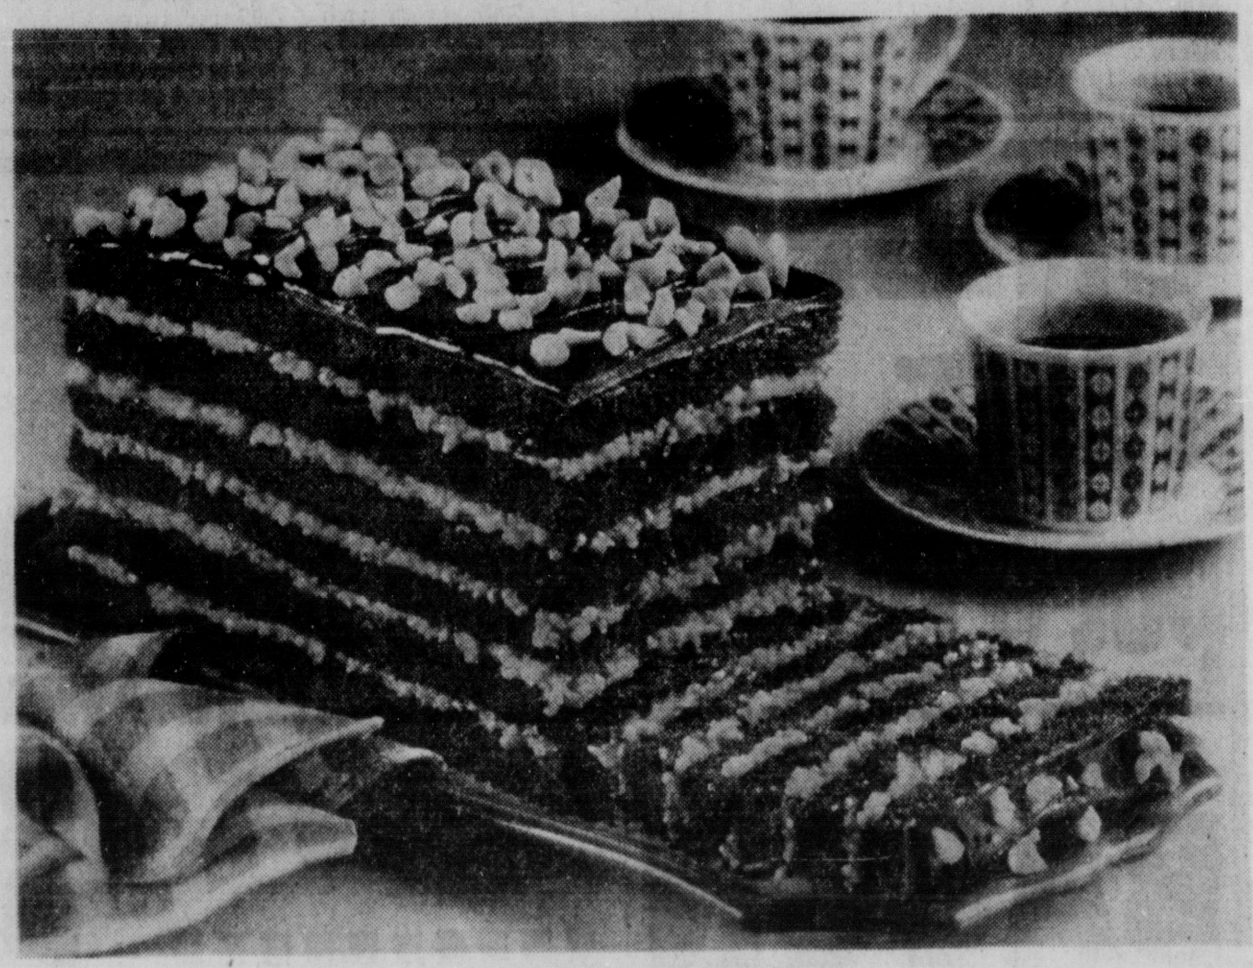
- 1 quart fresh or frozen blueberries, rinsed and drained
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup water
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg
- 1 cup butter or margarine
- 1 package refrigerator biscuits.

FOAMY SAUCE

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 egg white, unbeaten
- 2 tablespoons orange juice
- ½ cup boiling white wine or orange juice

In a 9-inch square baking pan place blueberries, sugar, flour and water. Stir to blend. Sprinkle with walnuts, spices and dot top with bits of butter. Cover and bake in a 425-degree oven for 15 minutes. Remove from oven and remove cover. Place biscuits on top of mixture. Replace in oven and bake uncovered another 15 minutes or until biscuits are puffed and brown.

While biscuits are baking make sauce. Mix butter sugar in a saucepan. Stir in egg white and orange juice. Stir in boiling wine. Place over low heat and stir rapidly until mixture foams. Stir for 2 minutes over low heat until sauce is thickened. Serve hot in bowl, floating a few blueberries on top. Spoon hot sauce over each serving of Blueberry Cobbler. Makes 8 servings.



PEANUT TORTE

Prepare 1 package (1 pound, 2.5 ounce) Devil's food cake mix according to package directions. Pour batter onto a greased and floured 15½ x 10½ x 1-inch jelly roll pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 20-25 minutes or until cake tests done. Prepare cake filling: Stir together 3 cups ground peanuts, 1 2/3 cups confectioners' sugar, ¼ cup grated orange peel, and ½ cup orange juice. To assemble cake: Cut cake crosswise into 3 equal pieces and remove from pan. Then split each piece of cake in half horizontally to make 6 layers. Stack and fill layers with peanut mixture. Prepare frosting: In a small saucepan melt 1 square (1 ounce) unsweetened chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter. Stir in ½ cup confectioners' sugar, 2-3 teaspoons water and ½ teaspoon vanilla extract. Beat until smooth. Frost top of torte and sprinkle with 1/3 cup coarsely chopped peanuts.

Spoonful of caviar a true absurdity

By Gaynor Maddox

We are deep into winter. We need a lift. Not out of the snow, but out of depressing news. Let's be facetious for a brief time; let's examine the absurd.

In New York's great restaurants, a spoonful of caviar cost about $7. That brings it to just about $100 for a 14-ounce can.

We shuddered slightly on learning of this anti-human fact, then agreed not to mention the millions of underfed children in the world.

The a caviar expert spoke. He is Joubin Shokouhian, director of catering for Iran Air, a large user of Iranian caviar.

He first warned that there is no assurance that caviar is inexhaustable. "The Russians polluted the Volga with industrial waste about 20 years ago. Now the Caspian Sea is gradually evaporating. If that finally happens, our supply of Iranian caviar will be gone, too. Sturgeon cannot survive pollution any more than humans. Not even if the price is raised sky high," he insists.

There are three types of caviar, he adds: Beluga, Osetra and Sevruga. Beluga is made from the eggs of the Beluga sturgeon, the largest of this family of primitive fish which can live a hundred years, grow to 24 feet and tip the scales at 2,200 pounds. Osetra is the medium size sturgeon and Sevruga one of the smaller species."

Shokouhian says the size and color of the eggs have nothing to do with the quality of the caviar. Color depends on the period in which the fish was caught in relation to its spawning time. Near spawning, the eggs of the Beluga sturgeon, for instance, are light grey. At the time furthest from spawning, they are black.

All caviar is salted but the more lightly salted or malossol is the most prized. The French word caviar comes from the Turkish shavyar which means salted sturgeon roe.

Purists frown on serving top quality caviar with condiments such as chopped hard-boiled egg yolk and onions. A soupcon of lemon juice is okay and spreading it on a thin slice of black bread is permissible. The preferred accompaniment is brut champagne; upper echelon gourmets claim that vodka, another popular caviar partner, dulls the taste buds.

Americans have been consuming one-quarter of Iran's caviar production at the rate of 55 tons a year.

Federal marketing orders—how they're developed

Federal Marketing orders for fruits, vegetables, and specialty crops are designed to help farmers solve their marketing problems, and produce for market rather than market whatever happens to be produced. At the same time, consumers benefit from fewer fluctuations in price, supply, and quality than would otherwise occur.

Before a federal fruit or vegetable marketing order program is issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), it goes through these steps:

Growers and handlers in a particular industry prepare and submit a marketing order proposal to USDA, specifying the regulatory activities they feel would aid in orderly marketing of their product.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service studies the proposal to see if it is feasible and conforms to the law authorizing such programs, the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act.

If the proposal appears feasible, a public hearing is held — usually in the area covered by the proposed program — to obtain evidence for or against it. Testimony may be presented by any individual or organization, including farmers, handlers, consumers, or their representatives.

At the close of the hearing, a period of time is allowed for filing written briefs or arguments.

A recommended (or tentative) decision based on the hearing evidence is issued by USDA. A period of time is permitted interested parties to study the recommended decision and submit data, views and comments.

A final decision, taking into account the comments and exceptions received, is issued by USDA.

USDA conducts a producer referendum on the proposed order. At the same time, a marketing agreement, with the same regulatory provisions, is submitted to handlers for their approval.

If two-thirds of the producers who voted — either by number or by the volume of production represented — approve the program, and if handlers of more than 50 percent of the crop volume to be regulated sign the marketing agreement, then USDA issues a marketing agreement and order program.

Once an order is in effect, the procedure for amending it, to keep in step with changing marketing conditions and needs, is similar.

Pork chops mixed with calvados

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Normandy, France, has special meaning to the many who shared World War II experiences. However, except for the monuments and memories, today, as in centuries past, the Normans are languidly settled into farming the lush, rolling coastal lands and savoring their world-famous cheeses, fine fruits, seafood, pear cider and calvados, a dry apple brandy. Pork chops made with an apple-brandy sauce may be as close as some in the United States come to knowing the joys of this bucolic region — a region many American farmers would appreciate and feel at home in.

COTELETTES CALVADOS

6 center cut pork chops, 1 inch thick
Salt and pepper
½ cup calvados (or hard cider)
1 clove garlic, chopped
12 canned, drained button champignons de Paris (mushrooms)
1 can (6-ounce) frozen concentrated orange juice, undiluted
2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
1 cup (½ pint) heavy cream
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper. Place chops in large skillet and cook over high heat until brown on both sides. Add calvados and set aflame. Add garlic, orange juice and mustard. Cover and simmer chops until tender, about 1 hour. Place chops on platter and keep warm. Mix heavy cream and cornstarch and stir into pan juices. Stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Add mushrooms and reheat. Replace chops in sauce and reheat until bubbly. Serve with sauteed apple slices and glazed carrots. Makes 6 servings.

Tips and recipes for feeding a crowd

There are many occasions when quantity recipes are needed for large crowds.

PTA members frequently serve refreshments at their meetings; discussions seem more congenial over coffee and cake.

Parents sometimes take turns holding scout meetings at home; active kids have hearty appetites.

Families annually gather all generations for a summer picnic; a big outing means big eating.

Whatever the occasion, giant groups require giant recipes.

Here are some tips to keep in mind when it's your turn to cook wholesale-style:

Select foods and flavors that most people like. For instance, beef for the entree, chocolate for the dessert and grape for the punch.

Choose easy, economical recipes.

Consider foods that can stand for awhile without deterioration. The ideal is something that is cooked in a sauce and can be kept warm in buffet warmers.

Keep the food simple and serve generous portions.

Use well-tested quantity recipes. Serving a dish for 24 does not necessarily mean multiplying by four a good old familiar recipe for six.

Read labels

Smart shoppers are label readers, especially at the meat counter. Because of the uniform meat identity program now in use throughout the country, it is easy to tell at a glance exactly what you are buying.

Listed first on the label is the kind of meat such as beef, pork, lamb or veal. Identified next is the primal or wholesale cut (chuck, rib, loin, etc.) which tells where the meat comes from on the animal. Finally, the retail cut (blade roast, loin chops, short ribs, etc.) is listed, identifying what part of the primal cut the meat is from.

Do as much advance preparation as possible.

Suggested here are two crowd-pleasing recipes for a group of 24.

BURGER 'N' FRANK CASSEROLE

5 pounds ground chuck
2½ cups fresh bread crumbs
1½ cups milk
5 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
5 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 bottles (12 ounces each) chili sauce
2 bottles (10 ounces each) concordgrape jelly
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons dry mustard
1½ pounds frankfurters, cut into chunks
16 cups hot cooked rice

In a large bowl, combine ground beef, bread crumbs, milk, egg, onion, salt and pepper. Shape into 48 patties, using a scant ¼ cup mixture for each patty. Heat oil in large skillet; brown patties on both sides. As patties are browned place in two 13x9-inch baking pans.

Pour off excess drippings from skillet. Add chili sauce, concordgrape jelly, lemon juice and mustard. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until jelly is melted and mixture is smooth. Meanwhile, sprinkle frankfurter chunks over meat patties. Pour sauce over all. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Serve mixture over hot cooked rice. Makes 24 servings. (2 patties and ¾ cup rice for each.)

GREAT COMPANY PUNCH

3 cups water
¾ cup sugar
5 cinnamon sticks
3 cups concordgrape juice, chilled
1 cup orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
3 bottles (16 ounces each) lemonlime soda, chilled
Ice cubes

In medium saucepan, combine water, sugar and cinnamon sticks. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Cover and refrigerate to allow flavor to develop.

Just before serving, remove cinnamon sticks. Combine cinnamon syrup in large punch bowl with juices and soda. Add ice cubes.

If desired, garnish punch with additional cinnamon sticks. Makes 24 servings (½ cup each).

Pasta recipes help span the budget gap

Trying to get from one week to another, stay within the budget and feed the family a hearty meal each and every night, make these the times that try a woman's soul! Pasta can help build the bridge over troubled budget waters and keep the family asking for more.

These two new recipes create meatless or little meat main dishes.

Sloppy Joe Pie looks too great to be budget, and wait till the family tastes this one-dish wonder! The "crust" is actually a combination of elbow macaroni, egg and cheese.

Canned tomatoes, frozen peas and an envelope of sloppy joe seasoning mix create the zesty filling. It's hard to believe that a main dish which looks and tastes so special is actually quick and easy to make.

Sausage Noodle Ring uses just a half pound of sausage so there'll be plenty left for Sunday's breakfast. Egg noodles and frozen spinach stretch the sausage into a family sized main dish. The creamy sauce is easily made with an envelope of cheese sauce mix.

Serve either recipe with a tossed salad garnished with hard-cooked eggs, crisp carrot sticks, peach cobbler for dessert, coffee and milk.

SLOPPY JOE PIE

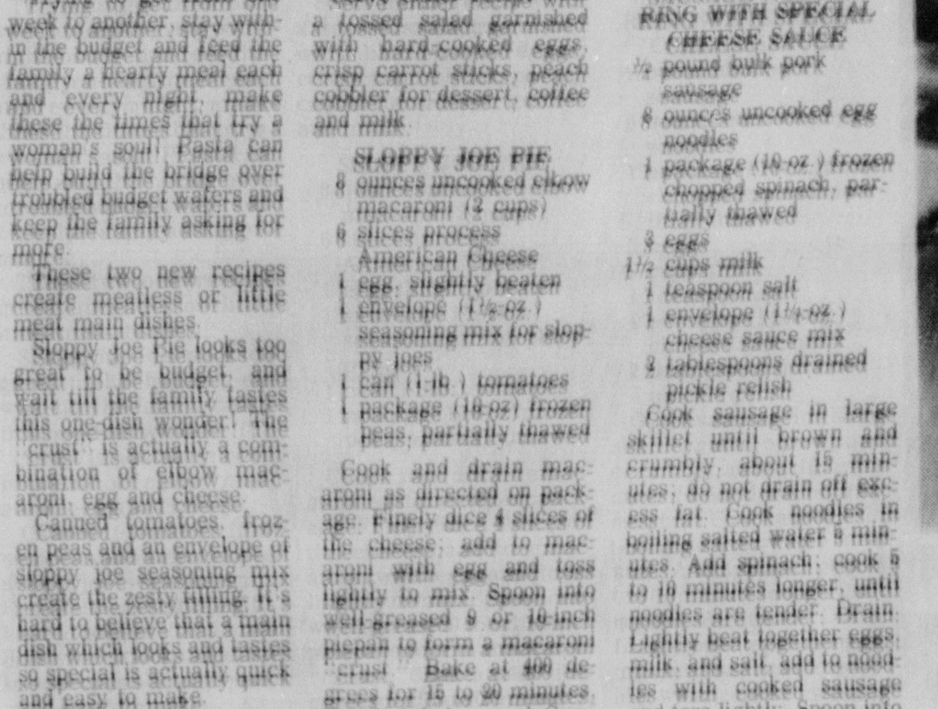
8 ounces uncooked elbow macaroni (2 cups)
6 slices process American Cheese
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 envelope (1½ oz.) seasoning mix for sloppy joes
1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes
1 package (10 oz) frozen peas, partially thawed

Cook and drain macaroni as directed on package. Finely dice 4 slices of the cheese; add to macaroni with egg and toss lightly to mix. Spoon into well-greased 9 or 10-inch pieplan to form a macaroni "crust." Bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes, until lightly browned. Combine contents of envelope of seasoning mix, tomatoes and peas in saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Spoon into baked crust. Cut remaining cheese into strips; arrange on top of pie. Bake at 400 degrees for 5 to 10 minutes. 6 servings.

SAUSAGE NOODLE RING WITH SPECIAL CHEESE SAUCE

½ pound bulk pork sausage
8 ounces uncooked egg noodles
1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, partially thawed
3 eggs
1½ cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 envelope (1¼ oz.) cheese sauce mix
2 tablespoons drained pickle relish

Cook sausage in large skillet until brown and crumbly, about 15 minutes; do not drain off excess fat. Cook noodles in boiling salted water 8 minutes. Add spinach; cook 5 to 10 minutes longer, until noodles are tender. Drain. Lightly beat together eggs, milk, and salt; add to noodles with cooked sausage and toss lightly. Spoon into well-greased 12-cup ring mold or 9-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Prepare cheese sauce mix as directed on envelope; stir in pickle relish. Serve over baked noodles. 6 servings.



MEATLESS SLOPPY JOE PIE

ELEGANT FRUIT SHELLS

Halve and section 3 grapefruit; remove sections to bowl. Squeeze ¼ cup grapefruit juice from membranes and grate bottom of 1 grapefruit shell for ½ teaspoon rind. Combine grapefruit sections with 1 can (1 pound, 13 oz.) cling peach slices (drained) and 1½ cups red grapes (halved and seeded); arrange in grapefruit shells. Combine 1 can (6 oz.) frozen limeade concentrate (thawed) and ¼ teaspoon celery seed and blend well. Spoon over fruit. Makes 6 servings. Note: For scalloped edges, press edge of 1 teaspoon measure gently into whole grapefruit, repeating all the way around. Form scallops with thing sharp knife, cutting into center of grapefruit. Twist halves to separate.

Nest eggs

Here's a new brunch idea. Combine drained cooked chopped spinach with plain mashed potato. Season with butter, salt and pepper, and a favorite spice or herb — nutmeg or basil, for instance. Add copped toasted walnuts for texture contrast. Spoon mixture into serving size "nests." Center each with a poached or fried egg. Good with sausage, ham, bacon or luncheon meat.

Elderly couple slain in home

NAPA (AP) — Police say an elderly couple were shot to death in their Napa home, with burglary the possible motive.

The victims were identified as Alvin Maddux, 72, and his wife Fay, 73. A relative notified police after she had been unable to reach them.

It was estimated that the Madduxes had been dead several days.

Instant pudding

By mixing together creamed small curd cottage cheese, applesauce, chopped toasted walnuts, and a dash cinnamon you get a really delicious "pudding" for turning into all sorts of interesting desserts. For starters, serve it "as is", in combination with a mix-and-match assortment of fresh, dried or canned fruits, topped on cakes and waffles, or rolled up in crepes.

On a budget? Get to gn-know Gnocchi!

Who isn't on a budget these days? Worse than watching food dollars is the problem of trying to get variety into the menus you serve your family. Why not get to gn-know gnocchi? Gnocchi are little dumplings frequently made out of mashed potatoes. They're an Italian favorite and served like pasta.

These two new recipes include an easy-do version of Gnocchi and a hearty sauce with which to complete the Italian main dish.

Gnocchi is pronounced N-Yaw-key and this recipe makes them easier to make than pronounce! The trick is the use of an envelope of mashed potato granules. Simply stir together the instant potatoes, some oil, an egg, and some flour. Shaping Gnocchi is not only easy but also fun to do.

Sauce Bolognese is the perfect way to dress your Gnocchi for the table. The meaty sauce needs just a half pound of ground beef and some leftover roast beef, pork or ham. The perfect Italian seasoning is easily created with an envelope of spaghetti sauce mix.

Round out your budget-Italian-style menu with bread sticks, a green salad, Spumoni or ice cream, coffee and milk.

GNOCCHI

- 1½ cups water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon oil
- 1 envelope (5 servings) mashed potato granules
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 cup flour

Combine water, salt, and oil in medium-size saucepan; heat to boiling. Remove from heat. Stir in potatoes; cool slightly. Stir in egg and flour. Shape potato dough into strips about ¾-inch in diameter; cut into 1-inch pieces. Drop about one quarter of the gnocchi at a time into boiling salted water; simmer uncovered 5 minutes. Remove from water with slotted spoon and keep warm until serving time. 4 to 5 servings.

SAUCE BOLOGNESE

- ½ pound ground beef
- ½ cup diced cooked beef, pork or ham
- ½ cup chopped green pepper
- 1 envelope (1½-oz.) spaghetti sauce mix
- 1 can (6-oz.) tomato paste
- 1½ cups water
- ½ cup half-and-half or light cream
- Cooked gnocchi or spaghetti
- Shredded Cheddar cheese

Brown ground beef with cooked meat and pepper in large skillet; pour off excess fat. Stir in contents of sauce mix envelope, tomato paste, and water; simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes, stiring occasionally. Stir in cream; heat gently. Serve over gnocchi or spaghetti and sprinkle with cheese. 4 to 5 servings.

'Sally Lunn' bread ideal at tea time

There are several accounts of the origin of the name "Sally Lunn." One of the most appealing tells about a young girl who sold buns on the streets, calling out "Solet Lune." The images evoked to describe the golden tops and white bottoms of the buns were the sun and the moon — soleil-lune, as it is in French. By the time this rich yeast bread came to America it had become Sally Lunn and it was a bread baked in a mold instead of buns.

Sally Lunn is an egg-rich sweet bread and it is traditionally served with tea. It is such a rich and flavorful bread that it needs no accompanying spread, although it can be served with jam or preserves. In any case, it is best served warm.

One of the simplest of yeast breads, this Sally Lunn is prepared by the new Rapidmix method. This method eliminates the tricky step of dissolving the yeast in warm water. Instead, the yeast is added to some of the dry ingredients. The warmed liquids and margarine are added and the mixture is beaten with an electric mixer. Because ingredients blend easier, the result is a smooth, lighter dough for high-rising, uniformly textured breads.

SALLY LUNN

- 3½ to 4 cups unsifted flour
- 1/3 rd cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 package active dry yeast
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup water
- ½ cup (1 stick) margarine
- 3 eggs (at room temperature)

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1¼ cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine milk, water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120-130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff batter. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Stir batter down and beat well, about ½ minute. Turn into a well-greased and floured 9-inch tube pan. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake at 325 degrees about 45 to 50 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack. Best when served warm. Makes 1 tube bread.

The put-ons

Spread a little variety on luch box sandwiches with these unusual bread or bun spreads. For ham or cold cut sandwiches, stir a little prepared mustard, minced onion and poppy seed into softened butter or margarine. Especially good with roast beef is a parsley spread made by mixing softened butter or margarine with snipped parsley and a dash of lemon juice.

Sweet breakfast rolls typical of Pennsylvania Dutch

In the hills of eastern Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Dutch lead a simple life much like that of their forefathers who first settled there in 1683. This simplicity of life carries over into their cooking, which is simple hearty fare.

A thrifty people who found ingenious ways to use the food that was on hand, the Pennsylvania Dutch were delighted to discover the white flour milled from American wheat, in contrast to the dark flour they had been used to in Europe. Consequently, they were baking constantly. Breads, plain and fancy, were served at every meal.

Popular dough trays were used for mixing and rising the dough, straw baskets for final rising of the shaped loaf. Outdoor ovens were built for baking. Every bride was given a starter yeast by her mother or neighbor. From this she made her own, always reserving a bit of dough to use as a starter for the next baking.

How much simpler yeast baking is today, especially with the new Rapidmix Method. This modern method eliminates the step of dissolving yeast in warm water. Instead, undissolved active dry yeast is added as a dry ingredient with some of the flour, sugar and salt, then warmed liquids and margarine are added. Initial beating is done with an electric mixer which not only facilitates blending but makes dough lighter than ever.

The yeast dough that the Pennsylvania Dutch cooks turned into fancy rolls and cakes fits into the category known today as coffeecakes. One of their favorites is Snecken Rolls. These simple cinnamon buns frosted with confectioners' sugar frosting are ideal for breakfast or brunch.

PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH SNECKEN ROLLS

- 5 to 6 cups unsifted flour
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1 cup milk
- ½ cup water
- ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
- 2 eggs (at room temperature)
- melted margarine
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- confectioners' sugar frosting

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1¾ cups flour, ¼ cup sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine milk, water and ¼ cup margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120-130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and ½ cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Divide dough into 3 equal pieces. Roll each piece into a rectangle, about 14 x 9 inches. Brush lightly with melted margarine. Sprinkle the rectangle with a mixture of ¾ cup sugar and cinnamon. Roll each up as for jelly roll to make rolls, 9 inches long. Seal edges firmly. Cut each roll into 9 equal pieces. Place, cut side up, in greased muffin cups. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Bake at 350 degrees about 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from muffin cups and place on wire racks to cool. Frost with confectioners' sugar frosting. Makes 27 rolls.

- 1½ teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 and 1/3 cups corn oil
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

HOLT AND INDIAN HILL — POMONA

Southern-style yeast rolls: Williamsburg buns

Looking back to holiday meals in colonial Virginia, we would see a lavish meal featuring not just a turkey, but balanced by a ham or other hot meat dish of comparable size. For to please the eye as well as the palate, southern hostesses always presented a balanced array of dishes. Even side dishes were served in twos so that the whole arrangement was an elaborate scheme of matched pairs, end-to-end and side-to-side.

French-style table service was in fashion then, and the hostess would carve and serve one roast while the host took charge of the one at his end. Each of the other dishes would be served by the person seated nearest it, and diners passed their plates around the table to be filled.

Hot breads and rolls were not a part of the formal dinner in colonial Virginia as they are today. Instead, they were served with preserves for late evening supper, and for breakfast in the morning. Special favorites were yeast-raised, slightly-sweet rolls shaped like muffins which were flavored delicately with lemon and mace.

Suggested here to adorn the breakfast table or tea tray, are old-fashhioned Williamsburg Buns prepared by the modern Rapidmix Method. Rapidmix eliminates the step of dissolving yeast in warm water. Instead, the yeast is added right from the package to the dry ingredients (sugar, salt and part of the flour). After brief beating, the dough is ready to knead. Rapidmix makes yeast rolls as easy to mix as muffins.

WILLIAMSBURG BUNS

- 4 to 5 cups unsifted flour
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
- ¼ teaspoon ground mace
- 1 package active dry yeast
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup water
- 1/3 cup margarine
- 2 eggs (at room temperature)

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1-¼ cups flour, sugar, salt, lemon peel, mace and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine milk, water and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 — 130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and ½ cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto a lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch down dough. Turnout onto lightly floured board. Divide in half. Form each half into a 12-inch roll. Cut into twelve 1-inch pieces. Form into smooth balls. Place in greased 2-½ x 1-¼-inch muffin cups. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes, or until done. Remove from muffin cups and cool on wire racks. Makes two dozen buns.

Sour dough bread hints 'Old West'

This bread is associated with the "Old West." Sour dough was an indispensible ingredient for the chuck wagons in cowboy days. It also became identified with prospectors who carried pots of sour dough starter so they could make bread out in the gold fields of Alaska. Actually this type of bread dates back several millenniums before the discovery of America.

Sour dough starter is a self-perpetuating yeast mixture. With modern active dry yeast so readily available, there is no longer any need to keep starter doughs. The bread has a unique flavor and texture and is very popular in San Francisco today. This modern version of the old starter dough requires long range planning on the part of the cook. The starter requires four days and must be stirred down daily. Note directions for reusing the starter at the end of the recipe.

SOUR DOUGH BREAD
Makes 2 loaves

Starter
- 1¾ cups unsifted flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 2½ cups warm water

Dough
- 5 to 6 cups unsifted flour
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1½ cups starter

To make starter, combine flour, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast in a large bowl. Gradually add warm water to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Cover; let stand at room temperature (78-80 degrees) four days. Stir down daily.

To make dough, combine 1 cup flour, sugar, salt and undissolved Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast in a large bowl.

Combine milk and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is warm. (Margarine does not need to melt). Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1½ cups starter and 1 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Let rest 15 minutes. Divide dough in half. Shape each half into loaf and place in greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

TO REUSE STARTER: Add 1½ cups lukewarm water, ¾ cup unsifted flour and 1½ teaspoons sugar to unused starter. Beat for 1 minute at medium speed of electric mixer. Cover and let stand until ready to make bread again. Stir down daily.

Make ordinary meals exciting

Here's good news for frustrated cooks trying to feed a family of traditional meat, potato and vegetable eaters with a touch of creativity. You can inject exciting variety into run-of-the-mill meals with Peanut Vegetable Medley. This deliciously different side dish adds taste, color, nutrition and, above all, interest to standard dinnertime fare.

Peanut Vegetable Medley features two tried and true favorites — broccoli and whole kernel corn — plus surprising, savory accents of minced onion, green pepper, tomato and chopped peanuts. With uncommonly good results, the peanuts provide a unique note of texture and taste that enhances the natural succulence of the vegetables. It's an unusual combination that's sure to please and excite even the most jaded appetietes.

Cooking with peanuts and peanut butter has many pluses to its credit — whether you use them to create dashing new vegetable dishes, sensational desserts, innovative meatless entrees or snacks for the family. 'Round-the-clock meals benefit from peanuts' versatility, great taste and appeal.

Peanuts and peanut butter are economical as well, especially when you consider all the protein and good eating they provide for only pennies a portion. That's good news, too, for cooks concerned about keeping their family's diet and food budget in balance.

You don't have to let your family's finicky food habits limit you to humdrum menus. With innovative dishes like Peanut Vegetable Medley, there's no limit to the excitement, economy and nutrition you can add to even the most ordinary of meals.

Artist's masterpieces usually hidden forever

HOUSTON (AP) — Cliff Raven is considered by many to be the Michelangelo of his artistic profession, but future generations will probably never see his work. Some of it is viewed only in very private showings and his projects eventually all are buried.

Raven is a tattoo artist and his canvas is human skin.

Colleagues call the 43-year-old Chicagoan "a real artist," a man far more creative than the ordinary tattoo craftsman who deals in anchors, hearts and sentiments of the lovelorn.

Raven, in town for a recent tatto arists convention, holds a degree in art from the University of Indiana and became a tatto artist through careful choice. Human skin, he said, is a medium that has its own special rewards.

"You are dealing in a medium whereby the patron is also the canvas," he said. "You're being hired by someone not to decorate canvas which they can throw away. You're not being asked to decorate their walls, but them, their bodies.

"Artistically and superficially you're changing the person forever. You have a responsibility when you're doing that you don't have in other mediums."

Raven creates complex, intricate and colorful designs that can cover whole arms, legs and backs with dragons that seem alive and treacherous, or crimson parrots that seem ready to snatch a cracker, or oriental filligree of endless detail.

Is it art? Raven and others say it can be, but to "the establishment," he says, tattoos are "trashy" and a product of the counter culture.

This very element, he says, brings him many customers.

"There are lots of closet cases in the tatto business," says Raven. "Many people want a tattoo, but they don't want it so visible that it'll ruin their chances of joining the country club or becoming an executive."

Tattoos can be an expression of surpressed rebellion against the establishment, he said, and can carry a sensual undertone that many find exciting.

"More and more women are getting tattoos," he said. "They like to have rosebuds or butterflies or toadstolls. They put them on places where they can show them if they like or cover them up, for instance on the abdomen. It can be seen if they wear a bikini, but not if they wear a full swim suit."

Raven says he warns his patrons that if they accept a tattoo, it's a commitment for life. There's no way it can be removed without a trace.

The artist's brush is an electric needle that vibrates 50 times a second, each time penetrating below the second layer of the skin and implanting small dabs of pigment. The artist draws with it as with a pen, but is actually creating millions of small permanent dots which appear to the eye as lines.

And yes, he says, there's some pain.

"It's not a great sensation to get tattooed. It hurts," says Raven, whose arms are covered with intricate designs and the outline of what he calls "a work in progress."

The increased demand for tattoo art has helped push prices higher.

Massive, complex works can require four or five sessions lasting five hours each, said Raven, and the current rate for such work is $50 an hour, with some costing more.

Tattoo artistry is a craft passed down by personal teaching.

Health can gain on whole grain

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Eating can be fun, healthful and nutritious. Our pioneer ancestors, it seems had a better diet than most were willing to accept as fact until recent studies proved it conclusively. The fresh fruits, vegetables and whole grains which they ate did contribute to their well-being. They rightfully were fond of their hearty breads. Here are two variations . . . a banana nut bread and an oatmeal-molasses loaf.

BRANANA NUT BREAD

- 1½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup soft shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
- 1½ cups mashed fully ripe bananas
- 1 cup All-Bran cereal or Bran Buds cereal
- ½ cup coarsely chopped nuts

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Set aside. Measure shortening and sugar into large mixing bowl. Beat until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla. Beat well. Mix in bananas. All-Bran cereal and nuts. Add sifted dry ingredients, mixing only until combined. Spread batter evenly in greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in 350-degree oven about 50 minutes or until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Let cool 10 minutes before removing from pan. Cool completely on wire rack before slicing. Makes on loaf.

(Note: Use bananas which have very brown flecked skins.)

OATMEAL-MOLASSES BREAD

- 2½ cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- ½ cup old-fashioned rolled oats
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 package active dry yeast
- ½ cup water
- ½ cup milk
- ¼ cup dark molasses
- 2 tablespoons shortening

In large bowl of electric mixer, combine three-quarters cup of flour, oats, salt and yeast. Heat water, milk, molasses and shortening until very warm (120- to 130-degrees). Gradually add to dry ingredients. At medium speed of electric mixer, beat 2 minutes. Add one-half cup flour and beat at high speed 2 minutes. Stir in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough.

On lightly floured board, knead dough until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place dough in greased bowl, turning dough over to grease top. Cover. Let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Punch dough down. Shape and place dough in a 9x5x4-inch greased loaf pan. Cover. Let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven for 45 minutes or until done. Remove from pan; cool on rack. Makes on loaf.

Schwenkfelder family's traditional wedding cake

An Englishman named William Penn is credited for luring peoples along the Rhine River in Europe to come to the United States of America. The date: 1681. Included in his invitation was the promise that "land was plentiful, peace abode, and each man worshiped God according to his own and not another's conscience." This seemed like a dream to the inhabitants whose homes had been laid waste and their rich fields ravaged by war. They had been subjected to relentless persecution so they didn't hesitate long in making the decision to emigrate.

By 1776 almost one-half of the residents of Pennsylvania hailed from Germany. Today in Central Pennsylvania the descendents of those sturdy pioneers are known as the Pennsylvania Dutch. Among the most learned of the sects that arrived was the Schwenkfelder family. They came from Silesia, a district in Central Europe which is now part of Poland. This recipe for a yeast raised saffron falvored cake was the traditional wedding cake of the Schwenkfelder family.

SCHWENKELDER CAKE

- 3½ to 4-½ cups unsifted flour
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 package active dry yeast
- ½ cup milk
- 1/3 cup potato water
- ⅛ teaspoon powdered saffron
- ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
- 1 egg (at room temperature)
- ¼ cup mashed potatoes (at room temperature)
- Light cream

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1-1/3 cups flour, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast.

Combine milk, potato water, powdered saffron and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120-130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add egg, potatoes, and ½ cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed for 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Roll dough into a rectangle, 10 x 13 inches. Place on a greased baking sheet. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft; until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare Crumb Topping (below).

Brush cake with light cream. Sprinkle with topping. Bake 350 degrees about 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheet and cool on wire rack. Makes 1 large cake or approximately 16 servings.

Crumb Topping: Combine ½ cup unsifted flour, ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar and ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon. Cut in 3 tablespoons margarine until mixture is crumbly.

Anadama bread IS American

Many recipes used in American homes today testify to the endurance of immigrant traditions. It requires considerable research to find bread recipes that originated in the USA. The following recipe which calls for yellow cornmeal is authentically American. Cornmeal was readily available to early colonists and as inventive pioneers will do, they made adaptations in their struggle for survival.

The name Anadama is supposed to come from a Cloucester fisherman whose lazy wife, Anna, refused to bake bread. In exasperation he mixed up a concoction of his own. As he stirred and kneaded his family heard him muttering "Anna damn her," and the bread became known as anadama. Today the bread is turned out by the millions of loaves in New England.

ANADAMA BREAD
Makes 2 loaves

- 7 to 8 cups unsifted flour
- 1¼ cups yellow cornmeal
- 2½ teaspoons salt
- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1/3 cup softened margarine
- 2¼ cups very warm tap water (120-130 degrees)
- 2/3 cup mollases (at room temperature)

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2½ cups flour, cornmeal, salt and undissolved active dry yeast. Add margarine.

Gradually add tap water and molasses to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraing bowl occasionally. Add ½ cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping blow occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down; divide in half. Roll each half to a 14 x 9-inch rectangle. Shape into loaves. Place in 2 greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Bake at 375 degrees about 45 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

Middlemen

When analyzing rising meat prices, most consumers agree that it is not the farmer or rancher who is sending their grocery bills skyward. Rather, the finger is pointed at the middleman for taking more than his share of the food dollar.

Who is this middleman? Actually, the term should be middlemen for the workers responsible for getting food from farmers and ranchers to consumers number in the thousands. Middlemen are all those who work at assembling, processing, wholesaling, transporting and retailing food. This accounts for two to three people out of five in the labor force.

A look at the figures shows that middlemen receive 62 cents of the food dollar. Thirty cents of that go to labor and the remaining 32 cents for (in descending order) transportation, utilities, taxes, depreciation, rent and advertising, repairs and interest and lastly, a profit of about 1½ cents.

Albert McNeil Jubilee Singers

PVCCA in concert

By HARVE EDWARDS

As the third event of its 1975-76 season, the Pomona Valley Community Concert Association presented and enjoyed the concert given by the Albert McNeil Jubilee Singers of Los Angeles Friday evening at Spring Auditorium, Ontario.

The purpose of the 14-member vocal group, as informally stated by its conductor, is to carry on the tradition originated by the Fisk University Jubilee Singers, who in 1863 began to introduce audiences in the United States and Europe to Negro spirituals.

The group, directed masterfully by Professor Albert Mc Neil who presently heads the department of music education for UC Davis, was superb in its interpretation of this genre of Afro-American music.

The program, although heavily weighted with Negro spirituals, including those old favorites such as "Deep River," "Rock My Soul," "Poor Man Lazarus," "Dry Bones" and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," also contained some very beautiful unfamiliar spirituals, contemporary black ballads, gospels, calypsos and jazz. During the course of the program nearly all members of the group were presented as soloists backed by the others of the company, piano, and string bass. Especially nice voices were those of Dolores Davis, soprano; Victor Graham, bass; Michael Kelly, bass; Gini White, contralto; Saundra Hall, soprano, and Yvonne Dowd, soprano.

Special arrangements by other choral conductors such as Leonard de Paur and Robert de Gormier whose vocal groups have also appeared in past years on the concert series added for this reviewer a nostalgic remembrance of things past.

George Gershwin's "Bess, You Is My Woman Now" from "Porgy and Bess' featuring Michael Kelly and Dolores Davis with Saundra Hall at the piano added a welcome touch of romance to the evening.

Three humorous selections by De Paur, Jester Hairston and Neil Sedka, respectively, added spice and philosophical advice in "Marry a Woman Uglier Than You," "Gossip, Gossip, — If you can't say something nice, don't talk at all" and "Puppet Man, Pull My String," at the conclusion of which the four soloists dropped as though the master of the marionettes had suddenly released their strings.

The program ended with an upbeat spiritual selection arranged by Lawrence Farrow entitled "O Happy Day" — and it was.

The final program of the Community Concert Season will be Hal Shane, singer, guitarist, and dancer on March 19. This concert will be offered free as a bonus to new members joining the association during the week of Feb. 23-28.

Mannix goes to sea

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Paramount Television has begun production in Hawaii of a two-hour movie, "Death Watch," aimed as a future series for Mike Connors, late of Mannix.

His Mannix producers, Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts, created the new series, about "a former Los Angeles cop who has turned to life associated with the sea to help forget the grief and bitterness in his past."

Connors will take investigative assignments, of course, "which lead him into exciting and dangerous situations."

Also appearing in the ABC pilot are Samantha Eggar, Clu Gulager, Robert Hooks and James Shigeta.

Aruba fete

Carnival, the Caribbean version of Mardi Gras, is one of the year's most festive occasions on the island of Aruba. The Grand Carnival Parade, the climax of a month of activities, is scheduled for Feb. 29 in 1976.

POMONA PERFORMANCE — The Chuck Davis Dance Co. from New York City will perform Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Pomona Education Center auditorium, 800 S. Garey Ave. Admission is free.

Dance company slated at education center

A troupe of black dancers and musicians called the Chuck Davis Dance Company will perform "Rhythms of Africa" Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Pomona Education Center auditorium, 800 S. Garey Ave.

The program is being offered free to the community by the Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) projects in the school district.

Free buses will be run to the auditorium by ESAA from five schools. Those desiring transportation should be at one of the schools at 6:45 p.m. Thursday. The schools are Allison, Harrison, Kellogg, Sacred Heart and San Jose elementaries.

Tickets are not necessay for the bus ride or for admission to the auditorium.

The Chuck Davis Dance Company is in Southern California under the auspices of the Mt. San Antonio College Community Services Office. It is sponsored in part by a grant from the National Endowment of the Arts.

The company, from New York City, has appeared on television and in theaters as well as educational and cultural institutions throughout the United States.

Under the direction of choreographer Chuck Davis, the troupe of dancers and musicians present a repertoire of ethnic and modern dance spanning the black man's heritage from Africa to America.

Traditional African music, costumes and instruments are used in the performances.

The company will perform Sunday night at Mt. San Antonio College, Walnut.

Hope stays home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Having made television shows all over the globe, Bob Hope will finally do one at home.

For his March 5 NBC special, Hope will host 40 guest stars in a murder mystery to be shot at the Hope mansion in North Hollywood. George Burns, Groucho Marx, Phyllis Diller and Dean Martin are among those appearing in "Joys" concerning a comedy-destroying human shark.

Red Oak

The red oak is New Jersey's state tree.

Fortification

Fort Donelson was a Confederate fortification on the Cumberland River at Dover, Tenn., commanding the approach to Nashville. It was captured Feb. 16, 1862, by Gen. Ulysses S. Grant.

Ganesha, Garey reach showdown

IN THE KEY

Ganesha High's Les Harris (55) looks for an opening while Damien's Todd Bell guards him Tuesday night at Ganesha. Giants beat Spartans, 74-64, to clinch playoff berth.

SAL title on line Friday

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Ganesha High retained its share of first place in the San Antonio League Tuesday night by knocking off visiting Damien, 74-64.

With co-leader Garey dumping Upland, 80-50, Tuesday, the stage is set for a championship showdown between the Giants and the Vikings Friday night at Ganesha. Both teams sport 11-2 league records, and the winner of that final game will claim the SAL title.

Ganesha and Garey have already clinched CIF playoff berths since neither can finish lower than second place.

Damien and Claremont, both 8-5 after the Wolfpack beat Montclair, 60-52, Tuesday, will battle for third place. The Spartans will host Pomona Friday while Claremont travels to Chino.

The Giants were 10 points behind the Spartans Tuesday after the first quarter, which ended 22-12.

But Ganesha guard George Terry scored 10 points in the second quarter, eight in the third and 10 in the fourth to lead the Giants to the ten-point victory.

Terry finished with 31 points, his highest output of the league season. The 5-foot-10 senior scored 35 against Upland in the Chino Christmas Tournament.

"Overall we didn't play quite as well as we have in some of our games recently, but we had some outstanding individual performances," said Ganesha coach Gary Fulkerson after the game.

"Of course Terry had a super offensive game, and Michael Williams and Floyd Eddings were extremely tough defensively."

Williams and Eddings came off the bench in the second half to grab 11 rebounds between them and hold Damien forward Mike Wetenkamp, who had 20 points in the first half, to two in the second.

"That's the story of the game," said Fulkerson, pointing to Wetenkamp's two second-half points in the scorebook.

"When Michael Williams decides he's going to guard somebody, he really does it."

Williams, who saw brief action in the first half when starter Les Harris got into early foul trouble, started the second half.

While Wetenkamp was shut out in the third period, Williams scored four points, grabbed six rebounds and stole the ball three times.

Eddings replaced Williams for part of the fourth quarter and snared five rebounds while scoring two points.

Williams finished the game with six points, 10 rebounds and four steals.

Wetenkamp, the valley's leading scorer, tossed in 10 points in the first quarter as the Spartans took the 22-12 lead, their biggest advantage of the game, and 10 more in the second but Ganesha cut Damien's margin to four points, 38-34, at halftime.

The 6-foot-3 senior made five field goals and 10 of 10 free throws in the first half.

But the Giants cut down on their fouls in the third quarter (they had 12 in the first half) and outscored Damien, 17-7, for a 51-45 lead with eight minutes to play.

Ganesha used an effective press to force seven Damien turnovers in the third quarter. In the game, the Spartans lost the ball 23 times to Ganesha's 16.

The Giants made 11 of 19 free throws in the final period to increase their lead to the final 10 points. Damien was charged with four technical fouls in the final seven seconds, including three gainst coach Bill Roberts, who was ejected from the game.

Damien's Jon Kolodge scored 11, while Todd Bell tossed in 10 and led the game in rebounds with 15.

The Giants made 29 of 76 field goal attempts, 37 per cent, while the Spartans hit on 25 of 61, 41 per cent. Ganesha held a slight edge in rebounding, 47-43.

Garey takes early command

Vikings run past Upland

By SEAN SULLIVAN
PB Correspondent

It was a case of the best against the worst Friday night at Garey High School.

Junior center James Lofton pulled down 15 rebounds and scored 15 points as the Vikings of Garey ran past the cellar-dwelling Upland Highlanders, 80-50, to begin the final week of SAL play.

The hosts' victory, coupled with Damien's defeat to Ganesha, sets the stage for the showdown for the SAL title between the Vikings and the Giants at Ganesha High Friday night at 8 p.m. Both clubs sport 11-2 league ledgers.

Lofton got all but two of his points in the first half but got in foul trouble early in the third quarter and sat out most of the second half.

Teammate Gary Carpenter, recently converted to guard, contributed 16 to the winning cause as well as grabbing 13 boards.

"We're looking a little better now," commented Viking coach Mike Wells, "we're starting to run a little more and that's the kind of game we have to play."

The Vikes came out running from the very beginning as senior guard Stan Webster bucketed six unanswered points.

When Lofton wasn't scoring he was setting up Garey's fastbreak as he dominated the boards in the first stanza. His seven rebounds enabled the hosts to get down court before the Scots could get in defending position.

"Lofton is beginning to look for the outlet pass when he rebounds," continued Wells, "that's allowed us to run more."

Although Webster led all scorers with 17 he also matched that figure in shots that failed to go through the hoop.

Neither club was very impressive offensively. The Vikings aced 37 of their 78 attempts for 47 per cent and Upland made just 32 per cent from the floor (19 of 58).

Garey managed to carry a 46-23 lead into the lockerroom at halftime even though Webster missed eight of his nine second quarter attempts and Carpenter and forward Milt Banks got in foul trouble.

But the Scots failed to capitalize on the Garey penalties sinking only seven of 18 attempts from the charity stripe, in the first half.

The visitors had trouble finding the hoop as well whenever they were able to get a shot away. Scot center Dave Holgate only creased the nets for three points in the first sixteen minutes of play, missing the bucket eight times.

The Highlanders found it tough to get through the Viking defense but when they did most of their scoring came from junior forward Rich Stout. Stout led the losers with 16.

After intermission, as Lofton got in foul trouble, Carpenter grabbed a bulk of the rebounds and tipped in eight points.

Reserves Bob Green and Ricky Scott came off the bench to contribute seven and six points respectively in the final eight minutes.

"We've got a good bunch of kids on our bench," boasted Wells, "they take up the slack when is needed."

Friday night at 8 p.m. Upland (1-12, 2-20 overall) closes out its 1976 basketball campaign hosting Montclair (2-11, 4-18).

Refering to his squad's recent sporadic performances, and the upcoming tilt with Ganesha, Wells added, "we got ourselves into this mess and we'll have to get ourselves out of it."

UCLA gets little rest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gene Bartow's UCLA Bruins disposed of their "top" challenger for the Pacific-8 basketball lead last weekend, edging Washington 78-76.

But there's no rest for the conference's No. 1 team, as the Bruins face two other "top" challengers this week in Pauley Pavilion.

Oregon State, with a 7-2 Pac-8 mark, can move into a tie for the league lead Thursday night with a victory over the 8-1 Bruins.

Then Saturday, 6-3 Oregon, riding a seven-game victory streak, challenges UCLA.

A pair of Bruin victories over the two teams from Oregon could keep things simple in the conference — UCLA would have at least a two-game lead with three games remaining — but a loss or two could throw the race into a tangle.

"We could help ourselves a great deal by winning those two games," Bartow said. "If we don't, we'll be in the thick of the race with them the rest of the way.

Bartow said he's concerned with both Oregon teams.

"Oregon State is a quick, good shooting team with exceptional balance. Your hear a lot about their fine center, Lonnie Shelton, but they've got five or six other players who are capable of scoring in double figures in any game."

Oregon, however, is the only team to own a conference victory over the Bruins this season.

The league's balance, Bartow said, astounds him.

"It's amazing, simply amazing. I've never seen a conference with so much balance and I've coached in the Missouri Valley and Big 10."

The Bruins have had a consistent edge in one area, though; they have yet to lose at home and have a 97-game winning streak going in Pauley.

Bartow said he has been pleased with his team's play recently, and praised reserve center Ralph Drollinger and sixth man Gavin Smith for their outings in the narrow victory over Washington.

Drollinger pulled down six of his seven rebounds in the last seven minutes, and Smith scored 12 points in 13 minutes of playing time.

"We've got to get Gavin some more playing time," Bartow said. "He makes things happen."

The Bruins, 19-3 overall, will be attempting to stretch a five-game winning streak when they host Oregon State. UCLA has lost just one of its last 10 contests.

Kings stop North Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Maybe now," said Los Angeles Kings coach after his team had beaten the Minnesota North Stars 2-1, "we're getting serious at playing the game right."

The Kings held the North Stars to 15 shots on goal Tuesday night, in beating them for the second time in three meetings this season.

"We kept the shots against us down," Pulford said. "Maybe that doesn't make for an exciting game, but it was a good one for us to win."

The win allowed the second-place Kings to maintain an eight-point lead over the third-place Pittsburgh Penguins in the Norse division. The loss was the eighth straight for the sagging North Stars.

The Kings drew blood at 12:32 in the first period while playing out a penalty, when Mike Murphy took a pass from Marcel Dionne on a two-on-one breakaway to beat North Star goalie Cesar Maniago.

It was Murphy's 22nd goal of the season.

The assist gave Dionne 72 points for the season, tying him with teammate Bob Nevin for the team season point record set last year.

With 16:01 left in the second period, Bob Berry batted in his 18th goal of the season to give the Kings a 2-0 lead early in the second period.

Five seconds earlier, Kings' defenseman Gary Sargent slipped a shot into the North Star goal, only to have referee Bruce Hood disallow the goal, claiming the whistle had blown.

Dean Talafous took a perfect pass from Pierre Jarry at 10.11 of the second period to score the North Stars' lone tally.

Both teams were held scoreless in the final period.

Surgery okay for Diabolo

Diabolo's future looks brighter today after the 4-year-old cold underwent surgery in Chino Tuesday.

The horse broke his leg at Santa Anita Monday. A pin was placed in his broken right rear leg during surgery.

Following the operation, a Santa Anita spokesman said, "Diabolo is in a stall recovering and the veterinary surgeon said the prognosis is excellent."

Diabolo won the 1975 California Derby and finished third in both the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Lakers' offense too hot for Jazz

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — "We shot awfully well in that third period," said Coach Bill Sharman after his Los Angeles Lakers beat the New Orleans Jazz 115-101 Tuesday night in the Louisiana Superdome.

Sharman referred to the Lakers' 38 points in the third period — nine better than any of the other three quarters.

"But even with that, our offense was just about what we had been doing this season," he said.

"This is how I have been hoping we would play this year," Sharman added. "We've been scoring and now we're playing some defense."

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Gail Goodrich scored 28 points each to pace the Lakers to the National Basketball Association victory.

Jazz Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff said there may be no way to keep Abdul-Jabbar, who also had 22 rebounds, from scoring at will.

"You have to get ahead of those guys if you're going to win because every time you get close, they just go to the big guy (Abdul-Jabbar)," he said.

Los Angeles led 48-47 at halftime. Then New Orleans went in front 51-48 at the start of the third quarter, but were frustrated as the Lakers hit 11 of their next 13 field goal attempts to take a 71-61 lead.

Pete Maravich led the Jazz with 33 points.

It was the fourth straight defeat for the Jazz, now 25-29.

Los Angeles, now 29-28, was aided by Cornell Warner's career-high 24 points.

'Victor Theory' gets test

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

The "Victor Theory" will be in for another test tonight as the Mt. San Antonio College basketball squad travels to Fullerton JC for a South Coast Conference tilt with the Hornets.

That SCC contest will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the FJC gym.

Mountie mentor Gene Victor has been saying all season how tough the opposition in the SCC is, and how on a given night any squad in the loop can knock off a frontrunner.

Well, MSAC is alone atop the SCC standings with a 7-1 record (18-5 overall), while Fullerton is struggling in the SCC cellar with a 2-7 conference mark (6-18 overall). On paper at least, tonight's matchup looks like a mis-match, but if the "Victor Theory" holds true, the Mounties will have their hands full trying to prevent an upset.

A loss is something Victor's troups can ill-afford right now, especially to a squad like Fullerton. The Mounties are clinging to a one-half game lead over hard-charging Cerritors (7-2), a team which downed MSAC 78-67 last week. The Falcons play Orange Coast this evening.

Fullerton suffered through a rough pre-league slate but the Hornets have started to jell of late. They beat OCC 78-72 last week and gave Grossmont a good game of it before bowing 84-70.

Fullerton also has the home court advantage tonight, and the Hornets have played very well on their own hardwood, including a narrow 79-76 loss to Cerritos two weeks ago.

Leading FJC of late has been sophomore forward Luther Acker. Acker is the leading Hornet scorer (13 points per game) and rebounder (nine per game). He scored 31 points in the win over OCC, pulling down 16 rebounds and passing off for nine assists in the same contest.

Center John Condie, still recovering from knee surgery, is also averaging in double figures, as is forward Randy Rozar. Guards Dave Flood (who scored 18 in the Hornets' 80-69 loss to MSAC earlier this year) and Kelly McGinnis round out the Hornet starting five.

"Fullerton is a better ball club than their record indicates," noted Victor. "They'll be up for us, that's for sure."

Victor plans to start his usual front line of forwards Angel Santiago and Tom Pokorski and center Duaine Harding. However, he did announce a switch at one of the guard positions, where Brad Wise will get the call over Dick Rockwood and Jeff Cox. Jeff Nelson will start at the other guard spot.

"Wise is a better defensive player, and has looked good of late, so I'm going to give him a shot tonight," Victor said.

Santiago (15.8) and Pokorski (13.5) continue to lead Mountie scoring, while Harding is the top board man (13 per game) in the conference.

Redlands nears title

Turnovers wreck Leos

Redlands moved a step nearer to the SCIAC title Tuesday night while Whittier kept up its dogged pursuit.

Redlands rolled to an easy 77-53 win over Pomona-Pitzer at Pomona's Memorial Gym. Meanwhile, Whittier defeated La Verne 87-81 at Whittier and Claremont-Mudd walloped Caltech 109-71.

The loss to La Verne (5-5) eliminates any chance the Leopards had of equaling their 8-4 conference mark of the last two years. It also means they must win their last two games against Occidental and Caltech in order to have a .500 season (13-13) overall.

The Leos gave the Poets (8-2) a battle at Whittier but their season long habit of turnovers did them in. They had 29 turnovers and had too few foul shots.

La Verne made 11 of 13 free throws. But Whittier made 19 of 25 and won the game at the free throw line. The Leopards had one more field goal, 35 to Whittier's 34.

But the Leos took 76 shots to the Poets' 53. Whittier had 25 turnovers and La Verne moved to within three points on several occasions.

The Leopards' final spurt cut the lead from 12 points with 2½ minutes to go to three points with 1:13 left. But Whittier had the ball and the lead. The Leos stole the ball but turned it over again.

Dwight Washington scored 28 points for La Verne and Tim Gillette tossed in 26. Jim Preston had 20 to lead Whittier. Karl Simmons scored 19, Wyatt Sweeney had 17 and John Dialy 15 off the bench.

Mike Winze had 13 points, 10 assists and five rebounds for La Verne. Gillette had 14 rebounds and Washington nine.

At Pomona-Pitzer, Redlands (9-1) outscored the Sagehens (3-7) by 12 points in each half. The Bulldogs jumped off to an 8-0 lead and never trailed.

Bob Hoehn's 12 points was high for the 'Hens. Jeff Haskett came off the bench to score 12 and lead Redlands.

The Bulldogs held Pomona-Pitzer's one-two punch of Brandon Boyd and Ed McFadden to a combined total of 17 points and six rebounds.

McFadden, the 6-9 freshman center had nine points. Boyd scored eight. They each got three rebounds.

Guard Scott Pease did not score and turned the ball over 10 times.

At Claremont-Mudd, coach Dave Wells had the luxury of seeing all five starters and one reserve score in double figures against Caltech.

Sophomore center Stu DuVall paced the Stags with 23 points and 11 rebounds. Guards Bob Smith and Mark Sunderland scored 18 and 13 points respectively and had seven and six assists respectively.

Forwards James Pitkins and Rich Roth accounted for 17 and 10 points. Dan Butterfield came off the bench to score 10 points.

Reserve Paul Solon played the entire junior varsity game and scored 35 points then came back to score four more in the varsity contest.

In the staggered conference schedule, La Verne is at Occidental and Pomona-Pitzer hosts Whittier Thursday night. Redlands visits Caltech Friday. Saturday's games have C-M hosting Oxy and Whittier at Caltech.

Basketball luncheon

Lofton, Winze honored

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

Garey High's James Lofton and La Verne College's Mike Winze were honored as the Players of the Week at Tuesday's weekly basketball luncheon.

Lofton, a 6-foot-6 junior center, scored 54 points and grabbed 30 rebounds in Garey's two games last week while Winze, a 6-0 junior guard, had a big week for the Leos with 30 points, 15 rebounds, eight assists and seven steals. He made 15 of 29 field goals and 10 of 11 free throws. Winze is a transfer from Barstow College.

For his efforts, Lofton received the weekly award from the Pomona Elks Lodge 789.

Phil LaPierre also announced a special celebrity basketball game to be sponsored by the Elks Lodge on Saturday, Feb. 28, at the Garey High gymnasium. It will start at 8 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door. Donations are $1.50 and will be used for the lodge's cerebral palsy fund.

Quoting the coaches:

ART BIAS, La Verne: "We were fortunate last week to beat our neighbors, Claremont-Mudd and Pomona-Pitzer. We had to hang on to beat both of them. We play Whittier and Occidental on the road this week. We'll go with our five best players. Winze has done an outstanding job for us in our conference games. He is an outstanding shooter, jumps very well and is very quick.

"The NAIA District Three playoffs will be played at Ambassador College again this year. Cal Baptist and Biola figure to be the favorites but I feel any of the representatives from our league will do as well. There are still 13 teams in contention for the seven berths in the playoffs. We've been up and down all season. We haven't played a good full game except for Azusa Pacific."

DON HOGAN, Cal Poly: "We're looking forward to a fantastic, exciting weekend with Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Cal State Bakersfield coming to our gym Friday and Saturday nights. We're one game in front with four to go in CCAA play. It's a comfortable feeling but we still have to pay the price with our anxieties. It's going to take our best effort to win this whole thing. We have to establish the tempo in the games. We haven't done that recently.

"Our game lately has been a two-man show with Paul (Newton) rebounding and Joe (Sills) scoring. It's a little concerning. We have to get it all together. Joe has to be one of the most outstanding players ever in this area. He can really shoot the ball. He has tremendous body control. He's averaging 24 points a game but isn't taking a great number of shots."

GENE VICTOR, MSAC: "We're one up in the South Coast Conference with four to go. We play at Fullerton Wednesday night and they're all big ones for us. We can't afford to look past anyone. It's a good feeling to know our season is still ahead of us. We executed very poorly in our loss at Cerritos. I'm amazed the score (78-67) was as close as it was. We have no excuses. We just got beat."

MIKE WELLS, Garey High: "Lofton is the most improved player on our team. This is only his second year of basketball. Last year as a sophomore, he was the Most Valuable Player on our JV team. He has a lot of ability and is still growing. We're hoping he gets to 6-8 next year and we would like to see 20 more pounds.

Chino wins, 68-65

By MARK GRIP
PB Correspondent

Chino's Cowboys took a one-point lead over Pomona High before the game got under way Tuesday night. The Devils were cited for stuffing the ball in pre-game warm ups and slapped with a technical foul.

Joe Pickens sank the charity to give the Cowboys the early advantage en route to a 68-65 squeaker over the host Devils in San Antonio League action.

Chino regained the lead midway through the first eight minutes and held the lead the rest of the evening.

Four Cowboys combined evenly (almost) for Chino's 19-14 lead after the first quarter ended. Pomona's Mike Jones scored 10 of his team's points in the quarter.

Pomona closed the margin, in the second period, to three at 34-31 as Jones scored six more giving him 16 tallies at intermission.

Chino became a little generous in that sequence with eight turnovers. Pomona returned the favors with eight giveaways in the third period.

The two teams combined for only 21 points in the third stanza, as the Cowboys built their lead to eight with 2:40 left.

Pomona followed with a bucket at 2:20 and the two went scoreless the rest of the stint with Chino atop 46-40.

The fourth and final period was a complete turn-around as the two teams went on a scoring spree for 47 points collectively.

Pomona closed to within one point with 2:22 remaining at 62-61.

Charles Cole brought it close at 66-65 with 12 seconds remaining but Barry Higgins iced the win with his field goal with eight seconds left.

Jones, used sparsely in the second half, scored only two more points giving him the game high of 18. Teammate Jim Middleton scored 12 and James Knight pulled down seven rebounds.

Mark Smith led Chino with 13 followed by Jimmy Love and Pickens with 12 and Higgins added 10 off the bench.

The two teams will end their hoop season Friday as Chino (6-7, 10-13) hosts Claremont and Pomona (5-8, 7-15) travels to Damien. Damien and Claremont are still possibilities for post-season playoffs.

Chaffey, OCHS near CIF berths

Chaffey and Ontario Christian highs increased their CIF playoff chances markedly Tuesday night by posting important league wins.

The Tigers knocked off visiting Fontana, 62-48, while the Knights nipped L.A. Lutheran, 46-45. In a game that has no bearing on the playoff picture, Webb School bumped Arrowhead League foe La Verne Lutheran, 67-47.

Chaffey's victory over the visiting Steelers gives the second-place Tigers (10-3, 14-7) a comfortable two-game lead over third-place Fontana (8-5, 13-11) with two Citrus Belt League games remaining for each team. Chaffey will host Eisenhower Thursday and leader San Gorgonio Saturday to round out league play.

Forward Mark McQuaid scored 22 points for Chaffey and the other four Tiger starters accounted for eight apiece.

Chaffey built a big 25-12 halftime lead, but the Steelers came back in the second half to tie the score at 39. But Paul Wilson, Fontana's leading scorer with 17, fouled out with 1:33 to play, and the Tigers streaked to the 14-point win

It took a basket by John VanderSchaaf, assisted by Jim Berkompas, with 15 seconds left to propel Ontario Christian past visiting L.A. Lutheran by a point.

The win ended the regular season for the Knights, who finished with a 9-3 Olympic League record and a 16-6 overall slate.

They are just a half-game behind second-place L.A. Lutheran (9-2, 14-4), which will meet league-leader Valley Christian Friday night. A loss for Lutheran would give OCHS a share of second place.

VanderSchaaf was the game's leading scorer with 20 points and had nine rebounds. Teammate Hank Bouwman grabbed 10 boards but the leader in that category was Lutheran's Kirk Berkeland with 13. OCHS's Craig Kamper had nine assists.

Jags win mat crown

As expected, Hacienda League powerhouse Ontario High dominated the league wrestling finals, held Tuesday night at Ontario's gym.

The Jaguar grapplers, who finished the dual meet season with a perfect 7-0 H.L. mark, captured five first places at Tuesday's competition.

Jesse Guillen (106 pounds), George Beckner (123 pounds), Bill Haselrig (157 pounds), Larry Cutbirth (168 pounds) and Dan Brooks (178 pounds) were the Jaguar champs.

Beckner, who registered three straight pins en route to the 123-pound title, was named as the league's Most Valuable Wrestler. Haselrig also chalked up a pin in the final match, as did Fred Mendoza of Bonita in the 141-pound championship bout and Joe Myers of Royal Oak at 194 pounds.

Two of the 1975 league champs repeated in Tuesday's competition. Walnut's Bruce Yamashita captured the 115-pound title. He had won at 106 pounds last season. Bob Pleasant of San Dimas was the 148-pound titlist, having won it all at 141 pounds in 1975.

Alta Loma, which finished second to Ontario in the final league standings, had three of its wrestlers win titles. Mark Folletta captured the 98-pound crown, Joey Aguilar the 130-pound championship and Carl Brown the 136-pound distinction.

98 pounds — Mark Folletta (Alta Loma) dec. Mark Baker (Royal Oak) 9-7 (OT); 106 pounds — Jesse Guillen (Ontario) dec. Greg Olson (Royal Oak) 12-1; 115 pounds — Bruce Yamashita (Walnut) dec. 'Pack keeps hopes alive

By TIM CLARK
PB Correspondent

Jack Smith's Claremont High varsity basketball squad kept its' flittering C.I.F. playoff hopes alive Tuesday night at the Wolfpack gym with a rather unimpressive 60-52 triumph over the lowly Montclair Cavaliers.

The 'Pack (8-5, 12-11) led by only three, 41-36, at the conclusion of three periods and saw their advantage whittled down to three several times late in the contest.

"We were definitely flat", said Skipper Smith following the game. "I kind of expected it though, following that Garey game". (Claremont knocked off the Vikings Friday past, 63-62).

"But we always have a rough time getting started against Montclair," the Claremont skipper added. "They run such a slow, deliberate offense, that it's very hard to get anything going."

Wolfpack center Rob Fossum, performing with a newfound aggressiveness, enthusiasm and leadership the past couple weeks, was at his "Awesome - Fossum" best Tuesday eve.

The 6-5 Empire-leaper rattled in a game-high 21 points, 13 in the fourth period. Fossum, who is unstoppable underneath and can shoot with the best of guards' from the outside, hit on eight of 17 floor attempts, and added five free-throws. The blond giant also racked up 17 rebounds (13 in the second half) and passed off for three assists.

Tiny (5-9) guard Ron Candelaria of Montclair, who is virtually coach Lanny Moore's whole offense while participating, managed only 11 points before fouling out early in the fourth quarter. Candelaria only got off five shots, which is a credit to defensive wizard Dave Brigante of Claremont.

Brigante, one of the top defensive performers ever to step foot onto the 'Pack court, picked off eight Cavalier passes. The end result was an eight-for-12 night from the field, 17 points and six assists.

As aforementioned, the game was not quite an artistic success, with the 'Pack (a very good shooting team) only managing 42 per cent from the field (25-59), and the visitors sinking only 18 of 55 shots (32 per cent). Claremont slaughtered the Cavaliers on the boards, 50-32 (33 caroms in the second half).

The Wolfpack will carry its' playoff hopes to Chino (5-8, 9-14) Friday night in the San Antonio league final for both squads. Montclair will visit Upland (1-12, 2-20) for the grand cellar showdown.

MSAC, Citrus post victories

Both Mt. San Antonio and Citrus posted shutout wins in junior college baseball action Tuesday afternoon but Chaffey fell to Antelope Valley.

MSAC blasted Los Angeles City College 11-0, while the Owls used a one-hitter by Gene Marzo to best visiting Rio Hondo 4-0. Chaffey dropped a 5-2 decision at Antelope Valley.

Ron Roenicke went four-for-four at the plate and stole three sacks on the basepaths to lead the Mountie offense Tuesday. Bob Veselic went the first seven innings on the hill, fanning nine LACC batters to register the win.

The win pushed the MSAC season mark to 3-1.

Hurler Marzo limited Rio Hondo to an infield single in the second inning in registering the victory. Jim McCadden and Dave Hostetler had RBI singles in the early going, and Rich Ortega belted a two-run homer in the eighth to lock up the win, the Owls third this year against one loss.

Chaffey's Mike Coppess was sailing along with a two-hitter until the sixth inning, when AVJC jumped on him for four hits and three runs. Antelope Valley hurler John Allen made those tallies stand up for the win, weathering a two-run homer by the Panthers' Rick Munoz in the eighth.

The loss dropped the Chaffey season mark to 3-2.

Citrus returned to action today in a 2:30 p.m. game at Mt. San Jacinto College. The Owls and Panthers will be in action starting Thursday at the Imperial Valley Tourney.

MSAC opens play in the Pierce Tourney Thursday.

Official rapped by coach

SEATTLE (AP)—Coach Marv Harshman of the Washington Huskies says he expects a reprimand for his criticism of weekend officiating in the Huskies' basketball contest with UCLA but he says "I think coaches have to say what they feel."

Harshman told a Puget Sound Sportswriters and Sportscasters luncheon Tuesday that his criticism of official Robert Herrold wasn't personal but he did feel Herrold subconsciously yielded to pressures favoring the home team.

"We don't have any complaints on the fouls called on us," Harshman said in postgame comments, "but they should be called the same at the other end of the court.

UCLA won the Saturday game 78-76.

Looking ahead, Harshman said the Huskies must win their five remaining Pacific-8 Conference games if they are to assure themselves of a second place finish and postseason tournament competition.

Washington, tied for third in the Pac-8 with a 6-3 league record, hosts Stanford and California this week.

Walt Alston anxious to start

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers checked the hospital list in 1974 before he made out his lineup. Now, awaiting spring training, he says all his regulars are healed.

Even so, the possibility of further trades exists and he also may work second baseman Davey Lopes at shortstop if and when the training period starts.

"I'm as anxious to get started as ever, maybe more so," declared the dean of major league baseball managers who at 64 is starting his 23rd season with the Dodgers.

"Our guys are healed up and healthy—Joe Ferguson, Mike Marshall, Bill Russell and Bill Buckner. I just want them to have the chance to prove it."

Alston, talking to newsmen before returning home to Darrtown, Ohio, said he didn't know when spring training might start and he doesn't know if 19-game winner Andy Messersmith will be back with his pitching corps.

Major league baseball and the Players Association are attempting to negotiate a new contract, putting spring training in limbo. Messersmith, who played out his option in 1975, has been declared a free agent.

As for the congract, Alston said, "I guess I'm optimistic but I think they'll get it all settled. I don't know when."

As for Messersmith, the manager admitted, "I hope we'll have him but I really don't know where he will be. Any pitching staff that loses a Messersmith will feel the loss.

"On the other side, even without Messersmith, our pitching compares favorably with most of them."

Asked if there were a possibility of a trade or trades, the veteran skipper replied, "I think so. We're still open ... still in the market for help."

Russell is the shortstop who played hurt much of 1975 and now reports himself in good physical shape. Still, Alston thinks of having second baseman Lopes work at the position in training to give more maneuverability in case the need arises to use a pinch hitter for the shortstop.

Ferguson, who alternated between catching and the outfield, broke his arm at midseason and was out for the year. He's ready for 1975 and Alston commented, "His bat will determine where he'll play and how much he'll play." "I hope he has a year like 1974 (16 home runs and .252 batting average). If he hits like he did in 1975 (.208) he won't be playing anywhere."

Alston would like to alternate Ferguson with Steve Yeager behind the plate and also use Joe in the outfield. Last year Yeager, an outstanding defensive catcher, became a virtual iron man with Ferguson out.

The optimistic Alston thinks left-handed pitcher Tommy John could make it again as a starter after being out since mid-1974 with an arm that needed extensive surgery.

"We hope John will be a starter but he still must prove himself. We'll have him taking it easy in spring training but our other players who were hurt last year should be able to go all out."

Asked how he enjoyed the winter after his Dodgers finished 20 games behind World Champion Cincinnati in the National League's Western Division, Alston answered, "Winters don't give me much problem. It's the summers when I catch hell."

Looking ahead, he envisions Cincinnati as tough as in 1975 and his own club improved. As for retirement, he asserted, "I'll quit when the agitation becomes more than the fun or when Mr. O'Malley fires me."

Walter O'Malley, chairman of the board, originally signed Alston. O'Malley's son, Peter, now is president of the Dodgers.

Titans nip Broncos

Cal Poly Pomona's baseball squad made a run at powerful Cal State Fullerton Tuesday afternoon at the Bronco diamond, but the Titans hung on to register a 10-9 decision.

CSF, the defending NCAA University Divison West Coast champs, took a big 7-1 lead over the Broncos after five innings Tuesday, but the locals kept fighting back, closing to within one at 10-9 with four runs in the ninth.

Key doubles by Ken Hellyer and Jim Pryor in that frame set up the last-gasp rally, but Titan reliever Terry Henley came on to retire Dale Biggs and Alex Torres with runners at first and second to preserve the CSF victory.

Poly, now 2-3 on the young season, outhit the Titans, 14-11. Senior centerfielder Dennis Sherow led the way with a single, double and triple, while Hellyer added a double and two singles.

Dan Boone, the Titans' ace lefty, started the game and went the first five innings to record the mound triumph. Bruce MacPherson, who surrendered the first seven CSF tallies, was the loser.

The Broncos will have a chance at revenge Friday as they travel to the Fullerton campus for a return match. Gametime for that contest is 2:30 p.m.

Sports briefs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fullerton State's Keith Anderson, Long Beach State's Anthony McGee, and San Diego State's Will Connelly were named Monday as the Pacific Coast Athletic Association's Basketball Players of the Week.

Anderson, a 6-foot-2 guard, scored 18 points in the Titans' 67-66 victory over San Jose State, missing but one of nine shots from the floor. He also hit the game-winning basket with 11 seconds remaining in that contest. In Fullerton's 54-42 triumph over Pacific, the freshman from Los Angeles hit five of seven floor shots and scored a game-high 10 points.

McGee, a 6-foot-4 junior forward from Los Angeles, scored 24 points and grabbed 17 rebounds in the 49ers' 66-56 victory over Fresno State, although playing just 33 minutes.

San Diego State lost two contests, 68-62 to Pacific and 82-74 to San Jose, but Connelly turned in a pair of fine performances. He scored 26 points against the Tigers and had 11 rebounds, then the 6-foot-8 junior center from Brooklyn, N.Y., had 24 points and 13 rebounds against the Spartans.

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A suit was filed by the National Collegiate Athletic Association here Tuesday challenging the validity of federal regulations to promote equality of opportunity for women in college athletics.

The action filed in U.S. District Court seeks a declaratory judgment and a permanent injunction against enforcement of the regulations.

The regulations were adopted last July by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare over the protests of the NCAA. They were to implement Title IX of the Education Amendments Act of 1972.

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — The final obstacle to reinstatement of American League play in Seattle was washed away Tuesday when a Superior Court judge adjourned the baseball trial.

Judge Frank Howard told the nine-woman, three-man jury that they were permanently dismissed although the $32.5 million lawsuit remains alive, on paper, until April 1977.

The suit was suspended with the understanding that it would be dismissed if the paper expansion team actually began play in April 1977.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Roy Buckley of Columbus, Ohio, remained the Professional Bowlers Association's earnings leader after finishing 42nd in the $70,000 Open in Baltimore, Md., last week.

Buckley won $402 and increased his income for the season to $18,402. He leads Jim Stefanich, Joliet, Ill., who has $17,590.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandra Haynie holds a narrow lead over JoAnne Carner and Jan Stephenson on the Ladies Professional Golf Assocciation list of season earnings released Tuesday.

After three LPGA tour events, Miss Haynie leads with $10,616. Mrs. Carner is second at $10,266 and Miss Stephenson right behind at $10,120.

Judy Rankin is fourth on the list with $9,091, followed by Jane Blalock, $6,891; Sandra Palmer, $6,187; Judy Meister, $6,005; Pat Bradley, $5,955; Kathy Whitworth, $4,620, and Jerilyn Britz, $3,999.

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynn Swann, whose four catches led the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 21-17 victory over the Dallas Cowboys last month for their second straight Super Bowl triumph, won the January poll for the 1976 Hickok Award, it was announced Tuesday.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Nets player-coach Marty Riessen has been selected as coach for the American tennis team which will meet an allstar Russian team next month.

Riessen, who last year was named World Team Tennis rookie of the year, will also play in the scheduled five matches.

Two of the matches will be played March 8-9 in Moscow. The matches in the United States will be played in Philadelphia, March 13; Cleveland, March 14, and Indianapolis, March 15.

The players will compete in singles, doubles and mixed doubles matches.

Cav swimmers claim trophy

Montclair High's varsity swim team took the third place trophy at last Saturday's Edgewood Invitational. West Covina placed first and Edgewood placed second in the meet.

Mike Harbottle brought home three medals for the Cavaliers; first place medal in the 200 Individual Medley, first in the 100 Freestyle, and first in the anchor position on the 400 Freestyle Relay. Harbottle's swimming effort in the 200 Individual Medley set a new Montclair High record.

Ron Hartman, Ken Kelch, and Sam Nisbett were the swimmers with Harbottle on the winning varsity 400 Freestyle Relay team. Matt Tedder also took a first place medal by winning the 100 Breaststroke. Placing fifth in the 100 Freestyle was Ron Hartman. Ken Kelch was consolation winner in the 100 Freestyle and Sam Nisbett placed sixth in the 500 Freestyle.

Frosh-Soph swimmers, coached by Bob Patzold, place sixth among twelve teams at the Invitational.

Varsity coach Mike Dickson takes his swimmers into their first San Antonio League competition at Upland High today at 3:15 p.m.

Ben Crenshaw returns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ben Crenshaw, the 24-year-old Texan who won back-to-back golfing victories in the Bing Crosby and Hawaiian Open, declares, "I'm going to try and forget those two and concentrate on the rest of the year."

After his triumphs, Crenshaw took two weeks off and now returns for the $185,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open starting Thursday with a $37,000 top purse.

Crenshaw tops the Professional Golfers Association money winners for 1976 with $88,680 and his off-weeks also proved lucrative as he signed a contract to represent the McGregor company, a deal that had been set even before his two victories but one which became retroactive.

After winning the San Antonio-Texas Open in his first outing as a pro, Crenshaw went two years without a victory before the Bing Crosby.

"I didn't do anything different there, but I just felt more confident about my game, a little more at ease," he said. "Nothing has been easy and when you suffer, it makes playing better more rewarding."

The blond former University of Texas star says that during his two years of victory drought he listened to a lot of advice, but now, "I listen to my Dad and to my teaching pro in Austin, Harvey Penick. Nobody else."

The Riviera Country Club, scene of the Los Angeles Open, plays to a 35-36—71 with a demanding 7,029 yards.

"I really prefer a course like this because there is more variety of terrain and that makes the game more exciting," Crenshaw said after playing 27 practice holes Tuesday.

He admitted, "I haven't been near the game of a Jack Nicklaus or a Johnny Miller yet. Their swings are more grooved than mine. But I'm younger and may down the line, I'll play as well as they do.

"They don't miss near as many shots as I do. But I'm usually a good lag putter and can two-putt from anywhere on the green."

Nicklaus, although originally entered, has withdrawn from the Los Angeles event as did U. S. Open champion Lou Graham.

But most of the other stars are here including Miller, Tom Watson — the British Open champion — and Arnold Palmer, who has won the Los Angeles Open three times. There could be an upset as in 1975 when Pat Fitzsimmons captured the top purse of $30,000. So far this year, the Salem, Ore., golfer has won $9,959.

Miller, like Crenshaw, has already won two 1976 tournaments — Tucson and the Bob Hope at Palm Springs, Calif.

The starting field of 150 will be cut to the 70 low scorers and ties for Saturday's third round and the finals on Sunday, both to be televised nationally via ABC.

Good golfing weather appears in prospect with the course expected to play somewhat long since it's still drying out from rains of a week ago.

Littler, Sanders team for crown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gene Littler and Doug Sanders teamed for a best-ball 67, 4-under-par, Tuesday to win the Tournament of the Decade, preview of the Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament which starts Thursday.

Tied for second at 68 were the teams of Tommy Bolt-Tom Weiskopf and Ken Venturi-Hale Irwin.

The preview over the Riviera County Club course brought together golfers of yesteryear and today.

Johnny Miller and Charlie Sifford carded 70. At 71 were Byron Nelson-Arnold Palmer, Sam Snead-Bobby Nichols, Julius Boros-Dave Stockton, and Dow Finsterwald-Tom Watson.

At 73 were Ralph Guldahl-Al Geiberger, Jug McSpaden-Gary Player and Jimmy Demaret-Lee Trevino. Mike Souchak and Vic Ghezzi carded 74.

The pro-amateur phase of the tournament will be played Wednesday.

Giants' sale is delayed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The complexity of an $8 million offer to purchase the San Francisco Giants forced the team's board of directors to delay a meeting with National League owners scheduled for today, says a spokesman Giants' owners.

A meeting of National League owners, who must approve any purchase of the debt-ridden baseball team, has been delayed until Friday, a spokesman for the League said Tuesday.

San Francisco financier Robert Lurie, who with Robert Short of Minneapolis, Mo. made the bid for the Giants, delivered terms of their purchase offer to Giants directors Tuesday, he said.

"I'm optimistic they'll be accepted," Lurie said.

Giants' directors considered the proposal Tuesday, but said a final decision on whether to accept the offer would probably not come for "a couple of days, maybe longer," one director said.

Of the offer presented to the Giants' directors, Lurie indicated he and his partner were not to willing to accept all of the baseball team's debts.

"There are paragraphs written into the terms for our protection that require study, naturally," he said, "and right now all we can do is wait and see what happens."

An attorney for the Giants indicated that Canadian interests, who also have bid and hope to move the team to Toronto, are apparently prepared to assume the ball club's debts.

It was disclosed Tuesday that MEI Corp. of Minneapolis, Mo. would purchase a quarter-interest in the team, which would be half of Short's interest.

"I still would control 50 per cent," said Lurie, "but later on I would hope to find some local investors to come in with me."

MSAC heads for Fullerton

MSAC will have three SCC games left after tonight, including what figure to be tough assignments vs. San Diego Mesa in San Diego and Santa Ana at home. Thus, the Mounties can't afford to stumble against the underdog Hornets.

While the Mounties are defending their first place berth in the SCC, over in the Mission Conference both Citrus and Chaffey will be in action this evening. Citrus will host league-leading Riverside looking for an upset win, while Chaffey will travel to Saddleback.

The Owls (4-6, 8-17) are well down in the M.C. standings, but a win tonight over a talented RCC squad (10-0, 19-7) would take some of the sting out of a disappointing season for the Owls.

Chaffey (1-9, 1-23) also has to hope for an upset tonight at Saddleback (8-2, 18-8). The Panthers gave Saddleback a good battle in a game earlier this year at Chaffey, but it will take a super effort for the locals to come away with a win this time around.

Louisville gets help at halftime

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The Louisville Cardinals celebrated their return to the Top 20 by pulling the same shenanigans that last month cost them a spot among the nation's college basketball elite.

The 19th-ranked Cardinals, just short of miserable in the first half, needed some halftime psychology by Coach Denny Crum, a couple of lucky bounces and an overtime to down 16-time loser Tulsa 98-90 Tuesday night.

In the end, Louisville won its 11th straight game and boosted its record to 18-4 because 6-11 center Ricky Gallon took Crum's hint to heart. Limited to two layups and no rebounds in the first half, Gallon exploded for 21 points and six rebounds in the second half.

"Coach was waiting for us (in the locker room)," said Gallon of the halftime showdown. "All he said was, 'I'm through with it,' and then walked out of the locker room and shut the door.

"That had a great affect on me," added Gallon with a sheepish grin.

With an inspired Gallon taking control underneath, Louisville moved from a 40-31 halftime deficit into a 62-62 tie with 9:09 left in regulation. The Cards led by as many as four points down the stretch, but Tulsa fought back on the scoring of Dan O'Leary, who finished with 19 points.

The Golden Hurricanes had a chance to win the game in the final seconds, but Tom Vincent had two of three free throws bounce out before canning the one that tied matters 86-86 at the end of regulation.

Elsewhere in college basketball, Berry Davis scored 27 points as Texas A&M, playing without two ineligible players, held off Houston 94-80; Mike Russell and Grant Dues sparked a second-half rally to carry Texas Tech past Baylor 87-76; Maurice Cheeks and Melvin Jones teamed for 47 points to pace West Texas over North Texas State 96-87; Fairfield beat Long Island University 111-93 behind Mark Plefka's 30 points in a game disrupted by the death of a fan and Charlie Novak's six points late in the game triggered Marshall past Roanoke 86-78.

Lauda, Brazilian winner, aims at Long Beach

Auto racing

LONG BEACH — Austria's Niki Lauda took the first step in retaining his Formula One World Championship handily winning the Brazilian Grand Prix when his nearest rivals, Jean-Pierre Jarier of France and James Hunt of England crashed in the final laps of the race.

The Brazilian Grand Prix was the first stop on the 14-race international circuit.

Lauda won the 1975 World Championship by winning four races but his first triumph last season did not come until the May race at Monte Carlo. The Monaco Grand Prix at Monte Carlo is the only other race on the Grand Prix circuit that finds the sophisticated Formula One cars racing through city streets.

Brazilian Emerson Fittipaldi's new Copersucar, in it's first outing, started on the 4th row of the grid demonstrating his amazing ability. Last year's winner, Brazilian Carlos Pace did no better than 10th in his new Alfa-powered Brabham.

Ronnie Peterson of Sweden in the new JPs Lotus-77 had a radiator line fail in the first practice session causing him to crash heavily, literally demolishing the new car. His crew rebuilt it in time to join the final 15-minutes of qualifying, but he didn't get going quick enough having to start from the rear of the grid. In his fight to the front of the field he and American Mario Andretti collided. This was the second time in less than 12 months that both members of a two car team tangled. Last time it was the Ferrari team in Spain.

The FIA championship trail will wind into the United States twice this year making the first time in history that one country has staged more than one Grand Prix per year. Long Beach will be the site of America's first 1976 United States Grand Prix West, March 28, with the "Jet set" drivers returning to the country on October 10, for the traditional United States Grand Prix East in Watkins Glen, New York.

The Long Beach event will be run through 2.1 miles of city streets following a shakedown race for Formula 5000 cars held there in September 1975, before over 85,000 spectators. The Monaco Grand Prix in Monte Carlo, is the only other event staged on city streets.

Fittipaldi, the World Champion in both 1972 and 1974, switched from a McLaren-Ford to the Copersucar and reportedly will earn over a million pounds (100,000 per month) for racing in 1976.

The competition this year will be heavy with James Hunt, England, switching to the McLaren with teammate Jochen Mass, Germany; the Tyrell duo of Jody Scheckter, South Africa and Patrick Depailler, France; Lotus hot shots Ronnie Peterson, Sweden, and America's Mario Andretti; Carlos Reutemann, Argentina, and Carlos Pace, Brazil, driving the Brabham; Lauda's Ferrari teammate Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland; Tom Pryce, Wales and Jean-Pierre Jarier in the Shadow; Ireland's John Watson driving for Roger Penske and the March 751 trio of Italians Vittorio Brambilla and Lella Lombardi and German Hans Stuck.

O.C.I.R. sets East vs. West

EAST IRVINE — Never before in the illustrious 9 year history of Orange County International Raceway has any single event offered as exciting an entertainment package as this Saturday's East Vs. West Championships.

Saturday's event, unlike any other East vs. West clashes, will provide competition in Top Fuel, AA/Funny Car, Wheelstanders and Rocket Dragsters.

The event, although exciting in title, will be more than spectacular on the track as specially selected teams will battle for East/West supremacy.

The all-star East team's efforts will be spearheaded by Top Fuel drivers Marvin Graham, Gary Beck and crowd favorite Shirley "Cha Cha" Muldowney, while the Chicago based "Chicago Patrol" driven by Dale Pulde, Pennsylvania's Jungle Jim Liberman and Ohio's Tommy Ivo will lead the AA/Funny Cars.

The Western team will counter with a powerful team of James Warren, Rick Ramsey (Kuhl & Olson) and Jeb Allen and Funny Car stars Don Prudhomme, Ed McCulloch and Tom McEwen.

On the "fun" side of the program, Jack Ehrmantraut's "Hemi Under Glass" and Eastern teammate Bob Perry's "Hell on Wheels" (Army tank replica complete with 20' Howitzer) will face off with Western foes "Wild" Bill Shrewsberry and Richard Schroeder in exciting, front wheels off the ground, 130 m.p.h. entertainment. And last, but certainly not least, 2 rocket powered 300 m.p.h. dragsters will fight it out with Vern Anderson's "American Dream" (Minn., Min.) representing the East and former local Funny Car driver, Ray Alley for the West in the "Armor-All Special."

The gates open at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, time trials from 2:00 to 6:30, racing begins at 7:00 p.m.

Stormy weather that dumped over 3 inches of rain on Southern California forced Orange County International Raceway officials to postpone the "Lil Guy Bracketnationals," Jan. 7 and 8.

This event, the richest and largest of its kind on the West Coast, is limited to sportsmen, semi-professional, hobby-type drag racers.

OCIR officials, after some quick research and schedule checking, have rescheduled the event for Saturday, March 13.

Big day planned at Indian Dunes

VALENCIA — You've heard the expression "I eat, drink and sleep it," that's what the motocross racers do when racing at Indian Dunes Park. They line up at the front gate at 6:00 A.M. every Sunday morning with one thing in mind, "to get on that bike and win their race."

California Racing Club (CRC) will host another full day of motocross action at Indian Dunes Sunday on the International Track, with the first race at 9:00 A.M.

Indian Dunes is the only racing park that makes track changes every week to give the riders a new challenge each race. They have even let some of the racers help with laying out the track. This kind of cooperation makes the races more exciting for both rider and spectator. Also Sunday at 1:00 P.M. fast action Go-Karts will race on the Clay Oval. The San Fernando Valley Kart Club (S.F.V.K.C.) is enjoying its best season ever. With many new drivers plus lots of veteran drivers with new and faster karts. These guys and gals slide around the clay oval at unbelievable speeds for "lots of thrills and spills."

Suit filed by Donohue heirs

PROVIDENCE (AP) — A $20 million suit was filed Tuesday by heirs of race driver Mark Donohue alleging defects in the tires and safety helmet he was using when killed last August.

The Providence Superior Court suit was filed against Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., manufacturer of the tires, and Bell Helmets, Inc., maker of the safety helmet.

Donohue, a graduate of Brown University here, told crew members after the crash that his left front tire blew while he was driving at about 160 miles per hour through a turn, the suit alleges.

Donohue was struck on the side of his helmet by debris when his car crashed through four rows of fences, the suit says. He died two days later from a blood clot in the brain.

The suit charges that the tires used by Donohue failed to withstand "reasonably foreseeable stress and strain conditions while racing at high speeds."

The suit also alleges that Donohue's helmet "failed to adequately and properly protect and guard" him from serious injury.

Donohue, who won the 1972 Indianapolis 500-mile race, had driven for Roger Penske, owner of Penske Corp., since 1966.

The suit alleges that Penske failed to provide proper parts for the car Donohue was driving.

The suit was filed in Rhode Island because David Lawton, executor of Donohue's estate and plaintiff in the suit, is a resident of Lincoln, R.I.

Soroptimist Club will fete young

Soroptimist International of Pomona will present awards to winners of its Youth Citizenship Awards contest at a luncheon Feb. 26 at Buffums, Pomona.

Purpose of the awards, made annually throughout the United States by Soroptimist International clubs, is to encourage youth to develop the highest concept of patriotism and an awareness of responsibilities in the home, in the community and in the world.

"They are awards of merit, not scholarships," said club President Roberta Carrington.

Harriett Genung, chairman of the contest committee, said this year's contest stimulated more contestants than ever before in the history of the project.

Students from most schools in the Pomona, Claremont, San Dimas and La Verne areas participated, she said.

The winner of the local contest will have his or her work entered in a district contest, and could go onto regional and national competition.

Local judges are Virginia Covey, Helene Goodman and Jessica Haskell.

Club members who served on the contest committee are Patricia Bollin, Lucille Bucher and Ruth Birks.

Shana Alexander speaks Saturday

Shana Alexander, magazine editor and columnist, author, television personality and founder of the National Women's Political Caucus, will speak on "Women at Work: Reflections and Observations" at 11 a.m., Saturday, in Garrison Theater, Claremont.

The lecture, open to the public without charge, is part of an all-day conference, "Achievement for Women in Careers," sponsored by the Career Planning Offices of Scripps, Pitzer and Pomona Colleges. The conference is funded by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation of New York 1975 grant to the three colleges.

Currently, the career woman is writing a book on the Patty Hearst affair and appearing regularly on "60 Minutes" on CBS-TV.

Before and after the lecture, students, faculty, alumnae and staff of Scripps, Pitzer and Pomona will attend their choice of workshops on successful career strategies for women to be held in the Humanities Center at Scripps.

The conference grand finale is scheduled at 3 p.m. in the Humanities Auditorium when Malvina Reynolds, a 76-year-old Berkeley songwriter and folksinger, takes the stage to play her guitar and sing many of her own message songs about women. The artist has a Ph. D. from the University of California at Berkeley.

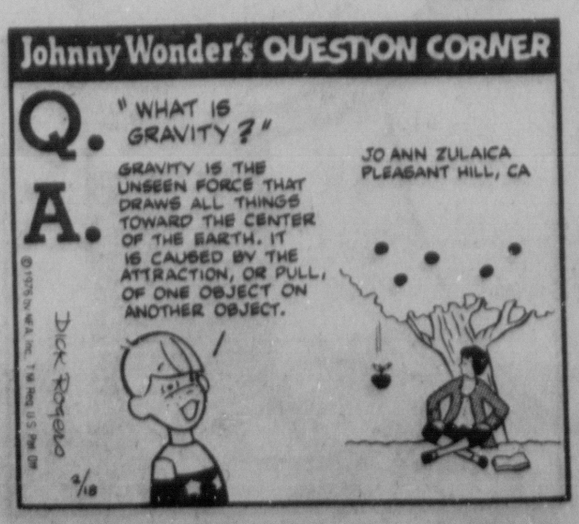
JOHNNY WONDER



One of the first things a child learns is that a toy thrown into the air always comes down. Later he learns that this unseen force that draws all things toward the earth is called "gravity."

Gravity is the attraction, or pull, of one object on another. Even a tiny grain of sand has its own gravity.

Gravity's strength depends in part on an object's mass, or amount of matter. The greater the mass, the greater the force.

The moon, for example, has a smaller mass than the earth, and therefore it creates less gravitation.

If you can jump 3 feet high on the earth, you could probably jump 18 feet on the moon.

But Jupiter is so massive and its pull of gravity is so strong that you could jump only 14 inches off the ground.

Gravity's pull is always toward the center of the earth.

A ball dropped from your hand in the United States falls to the ground in just the way it would fall on the opposite side of the earth.

A World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, Ca 95061.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ABANDONMENT

Notice is hereby given that the Interstate Commerce Commission is being requested to issue a certificate of public convenience and necessity permitting abandonment of the line of railroad of Southern Pacific Transportation Company extending through the City of Claremont from railroad milepost 514.37 in an easterly direction to railroad milepost 515.42, a distance of 1.05 miles in Los Angeles County, California. This line includes the station of Claremont.

The interest of employees will be protected by the "Burlington conditions", Chicago, B&O R. Co. Abandonment, 257 ICC 700.

Reasons for the proposed Abandonment.

Abandonment in conjunction with construction of connections to Santa Fe and acquisition of trackage rights over AT&SF right-of-way will eliminate 1.05 miles of SP branch line through the City of Claremont. By means of trackage rights over AT&SF right-of-way the continuity of the branch will be maintained. Abandonment will eliminate 10 public grade crossings of city streets and permit removal of track from a median island within First Street as desired by the City of Claremont. Only one car has moved over the line in the first 9 months of 1975, and only 22 and 21 cars moved over the line in 1973 and 1974 respectively. As the result of this abandonment, SP will avoid an expenditure of approximately $116,000 in future grade crossing warning device improvement costs and recurring maintenance of those facilities.

The name and address of the applicant's representative to whom inquiries may be made is;

CHARLES W. BURKETT
General Solicitor
Southern Pacific Transportation Company
One Market Street
San Francisco, California 94105

In the opinion of the applicant, granting the authority sought in this application will not constitute a major Federal action having a significant effect upon the quality of the human environment.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will rule on this application without hearing unless protests are received which contain information indicating a need for such hearings. In accordance with the Commission's regulations (49 CFR) 1100.250) in Ex Parte No. 55 (Sub No. 4), Implementation National Environmental Policy Act, 1969, 340 ICC 431 (1972), any protests may include a statement indicating the presence or absence of any effects of the requested Commission action on the quality of the human environment. If any such effect is alleged to be present, the statement shall include information relating to the relevant factors set forth in Ex Parte No. 55 (Sub-No. 4), supra, Part (B) (1)-(5), 340 ICC 431, 461.

Any protests referring to this Notice (No. AB-12 (Sub No. 22)) shall be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., 20423, not later than March 29, 1976.
